Muses & Inspiration

With deep gratitude to the muses whose presence, love, and wisdom helped birth this work: Tahitia Hicks, Liliana Campa, and Jen Maya

To the many friends and companions in awakening whose sessions gave rise to these paintings—your presence lives in these pages.

In honor of Michelangelo, mystic of form and flame, and to Casa Buonarroti and Pina Ragionieri, for guarding the gate to his sacred legacy.

To Carlos Slim, whose early recognition as a collector affirmed the path.

With heartfelt thanks to Tim Prasil and Mike Morley, for their unwavering support, friendship, and faith.

FOREWORD

In the ever-evolving landscape of contemporary art, there are few artists who manage to touch the very essence of the human spirit, transcending the boundaries of traditional forms and mediums. David

Newren is one such artist. His work is not merely a collection of paintings or sculptures; it is an invitation – a beckoning into a realm where art and consciousness intertwine, where the physical meets the metaphysical, and where the observer is as much a part of the creation as the artist himself.

David's art is a journey, both for himself and for those who engage with his work. It is a journey of awakening, of peeling back the layers of reality to reveal the deeper truths that lie within. Each piece is imbued with a sense of purpose, a deliberate intention to connect with the transcendent and to bring that connection into the physical world. His use of color, form, and symbolism is both masterful and profound, each element carefully chosen to guide the viewer on a path of self-discovery and spiritual enlightenment.

What sets David apart in the contemporary art world is not just his technical skill, though that is certainly evident, but his unwavering commitment to authenticity. In a time when art can often feel disconnected or superficial, David's work stands as a beacon of truth. It is raw, it is real, and it resonates deeply with those who encounter it. There is no pretense here, no attempt to conform to the expectations of the art market. Instead, there is a fearless exploration of the soul — a willingness to dive into the depths of the human experience and emerge with something that is both beautiful and transformative. As an art critic, I have had the privilege of viewing countless works of art, but there is something uniquely compelling about David Newren's creations. They are more than just visual experiences; they are spiritual encounters. His art has the power to move you, to challenge you, and ultimately, to change you. This book, "The Art of Awakening", is a testament to that power. It is a collection of works that not only showcase David's incredible talent but also offer a window into his soul — a soul that is deeply connected to the universal truths that bind us all.

In these pages, you will find a reflection of the world as seen through the eyes of an artist who is unafraid to explore the unknown, to question the status quo, and to seek out the transcendent in all things. David Newren's art is not just a representation of what is; it is a vision of what could be — a world where creativity and consciousness are one, where art is a means of awakening, and where the journey of self-discovery is a path we all walk together.

I invite you to turn the page and begin this journey with David. May you find in his work the inspiration, the clarity, and the

ARTISTIC STATEMENT

To define myself is something I've always hesitated to do. Definitions are boundaries, and boundaries are the antithesis of the creative spirit. I did not come to art by pedigree or instruction—but by invitation.

For as long as I can remember, I have loved great paintings and sculpture. When you spend long enough with art, something inside you turns toward the mystery behind the form. You begin to feel what moved the artist—not just the brush. And eventually, you stop admiring and start listening.

One day, the muse came for me.

There seemed to be a thousand reasons not to begin: Not enough skill. Not enough time. Not enough certainty. But creation doesn't wait for credentials. The first brushstroke is always a kind of rebellion— A movement from spectator to participant, From admirer of life to co-creator of it.

So now, I paint. Not because I was trained to, but because I couldn't not. There's a sacred impulse that calls, and when I follow it, I feel more alive than in any other moment. These paintings are not separate from my life—they are my life. They were born out of awakening sessions, where language and silence gave way to vision. Each canvas holds the residue of presence, the echo of a question, the shape of an unseen truth.

I have no formal art degree to offer—only the joy of discovery, the honesty of expression, and the mystery that moves through me. These works are a record of my devotion. They are portals, transmissions, and companions on the path of remembering.

To create freely is to live freely. To share it is to invite others into the remembering.

Welcome to The Art of Awakening.

—David Newren

INTRODUCTION

DISCERNING THE DIVINE

VICTOR FORBES - Publisher Fine Art Magazine

Dear David,

Thank you for inviting me into this book of your writings and paintings. Your amalgam of tender-hearted love for humanity with an insightful business acumen has led you to this current body of work which can be described as a journey to explore the infinite. Contained in these pages are 100 works of art with explanations ranging from minimal to treatises of a few hundred words that exemplify your compassionate nature with a servant's mentality, as Jesus said, "The Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve." (Mark 10:45).

Can it really be ten years since our last in-person get together? It was during a rather intense Artexpo when we decided to ride out to Brooklyn for a lunch meeting at the fabled Mill Basin Deli. Here, amidst the Kosher delicacies and interminable mounds of delicious coleslaw and pickles, we enjoyed the Ertés, Ting Shao Kuangs and Lichtensteins adorning the walls. It was indeed art a la carte and a nice respite from the Javits Center. Since that time, much has changed in the world and our lives, yet through the wonders of modern technology and a thing called Facebook, we maintained a distant intermittent relationship. Reading your posts was more than challenging as you were not shy about expressing your innermost thoughts and the innermost obstacles you personally faced as you sought to discover the meaning of life, and in particular, your own. By opening your heart to us all we could ponder your point of view while comprehending your desire to bring us to a higher level of consciousness by taking us deep into memories and emotions some would rather avoid. It is clear, however, that your analysis and insights into the souls of those who come to you that in order to go higher on the spiritual/emotional plane, the deeper one must delve to experience the divinity that flows inside us. Now that's a mouthful. If we put such advice into practice on the Main Street of our lives we will discover a new zest for loving and living.

"Live for yourself, you live in vain," sings Bunny Livingstone on the Wailers Burnin' album. "Live for others and you live again. In the Kingdom of JAH man shall reign, pass it on." These lyrics ring so very true to the committed seeker and serve as a lodestar to a more perfect way of thinking. As the human soul has no genetic code discoverable, and as we are prone to periods of anguish, strife and disappointments, I heartily recommend this book as a prescription for the Blues and/or a prescription for living to the fullness for which we have been placed on Earth.

With a combination of artistic skill, spiritual insight and genuine desire to serve others, a body of work has emerged that is both deeply personal and universally significant. As you experience life with "Grace, Joy and Enthusiasm", and offer those three words as a mantra to many, each painting serves as a guide — a blessing — that invites us to embark on a journey of awakening—a journey that leads to a deeper understanding of ourselves and the universe. In describing your painting Accept A Miracle, more important words than these would be hard to find as we navigate our way to Heaven:

"If you actually accept a miracle and allow it to act upon you, allow it to move through you, until you are moving as it, it makes you much more susceptible to the next one." The way in which you simplify the Heavenly and clarify the mundane via your paint brush and pen is unique. The artistry and sensitivity that comes across on these pages can be described as the work of a modern day prophet, defined by Oxford's Dictionary (considered the world's most authoritative sources on current English) — as "a person regarded as an inspired teacher or proclaimer of the will of God" which is, according to Christian doctrine, "to know and have a relationship with Him, and to bring glory to Him through your actions."

A healing balm that comforts those with ears to listen and eyes open to see the Goodness of God. THE ART OF AWAKENING came to fruition via a series of cosmic circumstances both secular and transcendental that can only be described as Divinely inspired and in retrospect are the cornerstone of David Newren's life. All those years touring with La Pietà, weeks at the foundry making sure that every one of Michelangelo's chisel strokes were truly and perfectly extracted from a mold cast from the original certainly had an impact (whether intentional just from being in the presence of such a masterpiece). Though he lived to be almost 90, and carved sculptures of inimitable force and compassion, Michelangelo never again achieved the sublime expression of the Pietà, his most sacred work. We relate this origin tale embellished by the words of St. Augustine that "God is beautiful, beautiful in heaven and on earth...beautiful in the arms of his parents...beautiful in leaving this life and in retaking it; beautiful on the Cross, in the tomb, and in Heaven." Having this incredible work as the cornerstone, your Arte Divine company went on to become a force majeure in the art world as there still is no artist living or dead who commands the universal and everlasting respect of Michelangelo. I share this origin story to give readers a background to further understand The Awakening and all the works of David Newren featured in this book. As it was Michelangelo's genius to embody in a sculpture his personal longing for the purity and divinity of God, so it is your calling to embody such tenets in the 100 paintings and attendant poetic synopses that go along with them. You exemplify that the true measure of success lies not in worldly wealth but in faithfulness and spiritual integrity.

Such proximity to La Pietà must have been akin to being in the Holy of Holies of the temple. Grace pouring out like sculpture dust on you — the man who for fifty thousand dollars was given a license by the Vatican to recreate the greatest sculpture of all time in marble, silver and bronze. Here's an example of how such holiness is impactful. Said St. John's University legendary basketball coach Lou Carnesecca who recently died at age 99, "I pray to the Blessed Mother that she gives me the strength and the courage to handle what's coming. Of course it goes back to your faith, you know? And it's out of my hands. I can't call a time-out." It seems to me David that you are led by these words of the Psalmist: "I will instruct you and teach you in the way you should go; I will counsel you with my eye upon you." (Psalm 32:8)

Combining these elements and textures offers the potential of unlimited experimentation and an infinite supply of inspiration and color combinations that are designed to provide the viewer with an inner peace and tranquility, a living answer to every prayer. The more you step back from the art, the more the color blends, a guide for those seeking to explore their own spirituality and connect with the deeper aspects of their being — a reflection of your inspirational spiritual journey.

Guided by gratitude you, David, are a writer with power and depth. There's no denying you are an artist with words, pushing prose about a page in much the same way de Kooning or Franz Kline covers a blank canvas. Whether paint on wood or ink on paper, the result is fluid and original, definitive yet abstract. Viewers are drawn in and must pay attention and follow carefully or they will miss something that could be of great importance. It seems that to both the artist and writer in you all words and all brush strokes are created equal as in a movement, a clause, a direction forward, backward or somewhere in-between. Your work will remain relevant and inspiring for years to come.

We all come into this world with certain gifts and talents to be employed in whatever faction of existence to which we are born and it is up to each of us to use our gifts for the greater good of humanity. Along with these born talents comes a measure of faith which supports us in our worldly journey, purposes known by the Creator to be revealed to us as we seek to align with God's will. To this end, you are here to help us transcend the ordinary and connect us with the Divine. It's a journey of faith — a way to learn what God is calling a person to do through the power of the Spirit." This, in my opinion, is the essence of your artistic mission and the reason it is so successful.

A true Spirit of Love and Enlightenment — what Agape love can be described as — flows from your pen and brush, a spiritual journey that continues to unfold with every painting. Your depth of thought makes each work of art not only an analysis of the psyche of subject but a brilliant combination of typography co-mingled with elements of Abstract Expressionism, Color Field manipulation of form and color and a healthy yet succinct dose of texts culled from your psycho/spiritual work with friends who sought out your help with their challenges.

Engaging with your art, even from the pages of a book, takes us on a trip to the center of your mind. I'm a big fan of this series as I started my career as a sportswriter in the days when Mergenthaler letterpress typography was the latest technological advance and we in the Journalism world had strict rules for composing headlines. We had to count the letters and assign numbers to them so that each word would fit into an assigned amount of column inches. There were no computers to make a headline fit and you had to know that lower case letters counted as 1 unit and upper case as one and a half with the exception of M and W which were two and lower case "f-l-i-t-j" counted as half units. So if you had a headline spanning four column inches (or 24 picas) ... well, you get the idea.....maybe. I inquired of David how he made his type fit so perfectly and he told me a trade secret — he printed out the words and projected them on the wood panels and worked them into the paintings. Very cool, I thought as I pondered these words: "Love self fully, love completely. From the top of your head, to the soles of your feet. Finding your truth, your fullness within, your own holy wholeness, one and true without sin." The typography is just the icing on the cake creating something that has the power to change lives.

As I come to the conclusion of this essay, I have one last question for you, David. 'Are you a LYNRYD SKYNYRD fan because I am a student of Ronnie Van Zant's poetry and philosophy and find it more than coincidental these words appear to describe your painting 'The Secret Garden':

“Life and death you see,
is for the immortal to be,
lost and then found.
And always, beautifully free.
Fly free,
Free
Bird

I'm as free as a bird now
And the bird you cannot change
Lord knows I can't change
Lord, help me, I can't change
Lord, I can't change
Won't you fly high,
Free bird, yeah.....”

Has Ronnie Van Zant found a solution to life's challenges in one of the most famous songs of his era further immortalized?

Van Zant offers his melancholic yet ironically optimistic take on life's challenges in one of the most famous songs of his era further immortalized in a painting on page #33. The reference to a classic musical anthem did not go unnoticed. When I brought this up to you David, your response was, “I wish the guitar solo was longer.”

Don't we all, David. Don't we all.

THE BODHI SATTVA, 2024. Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48" Edition Number: #10,001

My Bodhisattva.

A Lovely,

Sublime,

Divine Delight.

For the Heart,

For the Mind,

For the Soul.

Soulfully

Yours,

Venus.

Mmm...

I FLOW NATURALLY, 2024. Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48" Edition Number: #10,002

U and I are water.
I flow naturally easily and freely until I am damned constrained or channelled.
Since I choose where I land upon Mother Earth,
I thereby determine my damnation or free flow accordingly.
I now land by choice
where I will be welcomed to flow gracefully on my path of freedom.
I will once again rise to the heavens
To then plan my next identity as I blissfully shape shift as cloud #9.

Yes to love,
Yes to communion,
Yes to understanding,
Yes to a life of consciousness, as us our love is an opening into a celebration of what it is to be alive, to be conscious, to be free, to be a celebration and a blessing to ourselves and to others lives also.
I so want to know you there.
The mind is for you to experience the reality of the individual life form, but to experience it Divinely, without all of the human belief systems, definitions and judgements.
It's time to be healed,
it's time to be complete in the now of this moment.

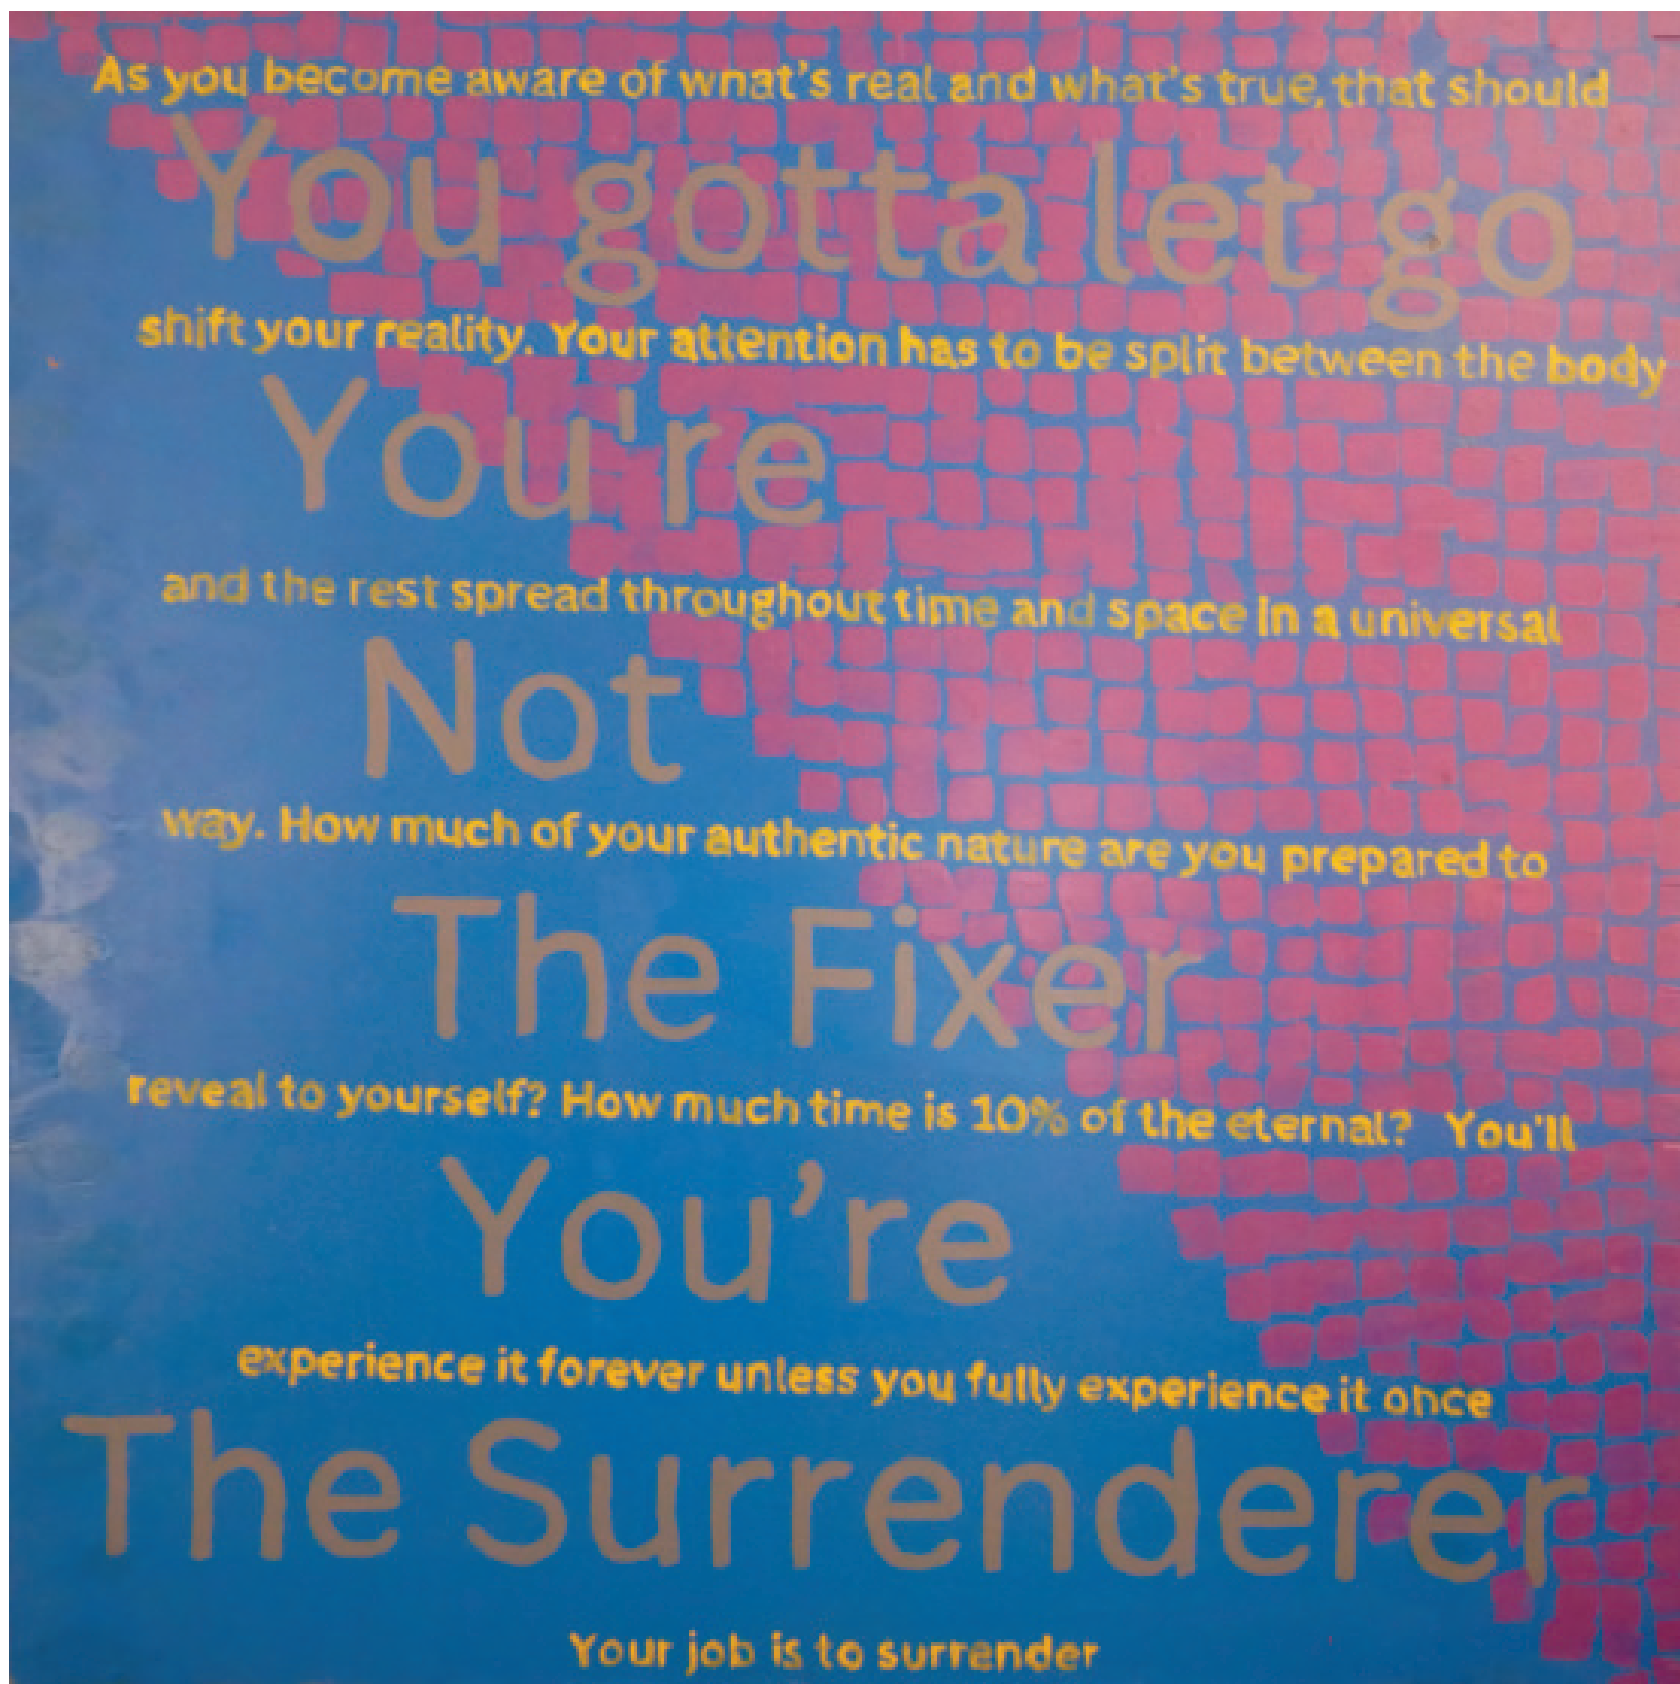

THE LOVE OF THE MOMENT 2024. Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48" Edition Number: #10,004

How much are we going to allow ourselves to wake up right now?
So that our beingness can shift into one that we enjoy?

I love being me. How much do you have to awaken for that to be true?

Let the love of the moment consume the insanity of the past.
Take off the labels and just experience what it is to be you.

No labels, just how I could be so much greater than this if I were just saying yes to life, yes to my expansion,
yes to my opening,
yes to my freedom
and yes for that for everyone else.
Yes to love.

YOU'RE NOT THE FIXER 2024. Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48" Edition Number: #10,005

Part 1:

You gotta let go.

You're

Not

You're

The Surrenderer.

Part 2:

As you become aware of what's real and what's true,
that should shift your reality.

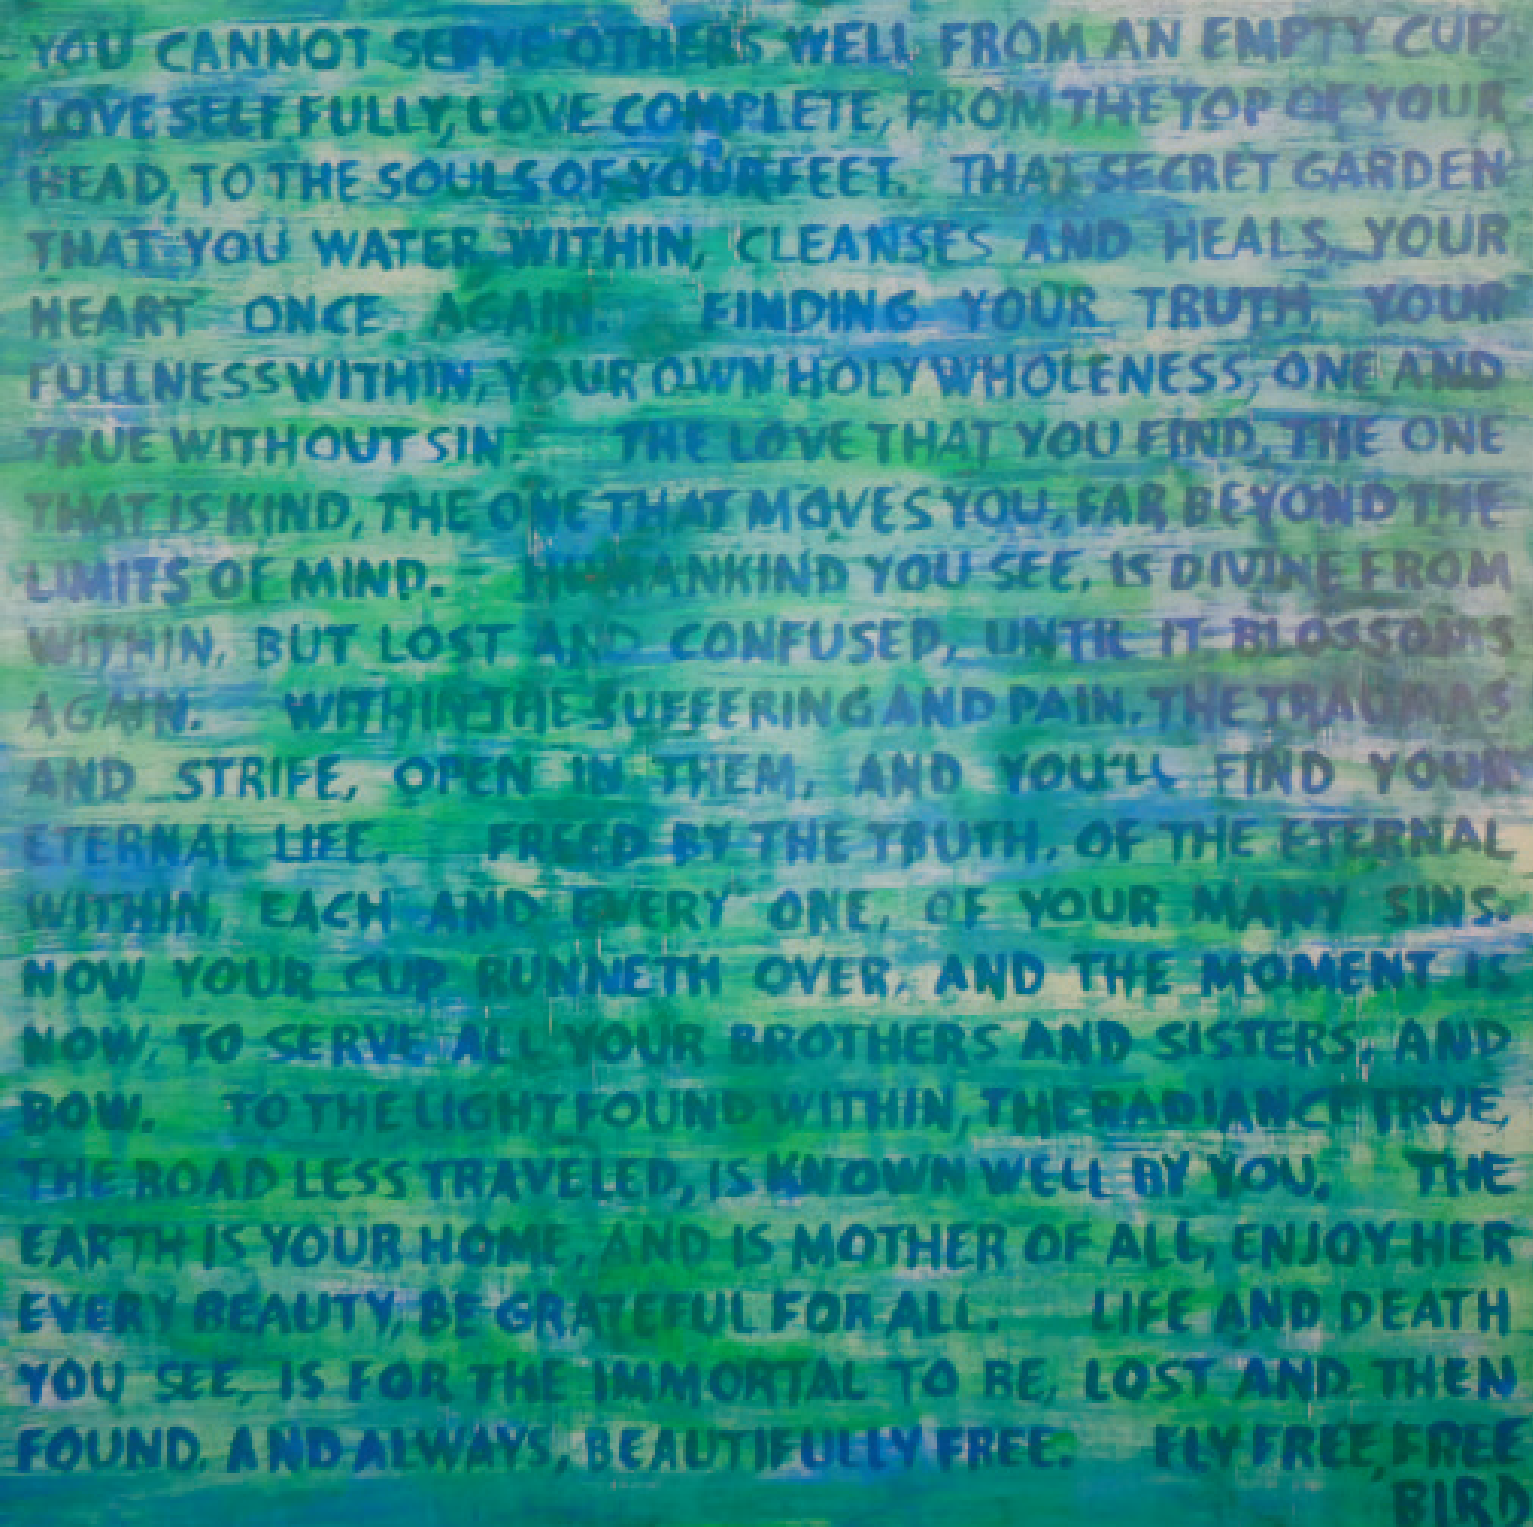

Your attention has to be split between the body and the rest spread throughout time and space in a universal way.

How much of your authentic nature are you prepared to reveal to yourself?

How much time is 10% of the eternal?

You'll experience it forever unless you fully experience it once.

Your job is to surrender.

YOU CANNOT SERVE OTHERS WELL FROM AN EMPTY CUP.
LOVE SELF FULLY, LOVE COMPLETE, FROM THE TOP OF YOUR HEAD, TO THE SOULS OF YOUR FEET. THAT SECRET GARDEN THAT YOU WATER WITHIN, CLEANSSES AND HEALS YOUR HEART ONCE AGAIN. FINDING YOUR TRUTH, YOUR FULLNESS WITHIN, YOUR OWN HOLY WHOLENESS, ONE AND TRUE WITHOUT SIN. THE LOVE THAT YOU FIND, THE ONE THAT IS KIND, THE ONE THAT MOVES YOU, FAR BEYOND THE LIMITS OF MIND. IN HUMAN KIND YOU SEE, IS DIVINE FROM WITHIN, BUT LOST AND CONFUSED, UNTIL IT BLOSSOMS
AGAIN. WITHIN THE SUFFERING AND PAIN, THE TRAUMAS AND STRIFE, OPEN IN THEM, AND YOU'LL FIND YOUR ETERNAL LIFE. FREED BY THE TRUTH, OF THE ETERNAL WITHIN, EACH AND EVERY ONE, OF YOUR MANY SINS.
NOW YOUR CUP RUNNETH OVER, AND THE MOMENT IS NOW, TO SERVE ALL YOUR BROTHERS AND SISTERS, AND
BOW. TO THE LIGHT FOUND WITHIN, THE RADIANCE TRUE, THE ROAD LESS TRAVELED, IS KNOWN WELL BY YOU. THE EARTH IS YOUR HOME, AND IS MOTHER OF ALL, ENJOY HER
EVERY BEAUTY, BE GRATEFUL FOR ALL. LIFE AND DEATH
YOU SEE, IS FOR THE IMMORTAL TO BE, LOST AND THEN FOUND. AND ALWAYS, BEAUTIFULLY FREE. FLY FREE, FREE
BIRD

THE SECRET GARDEN 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48" Edition Number: #10,006

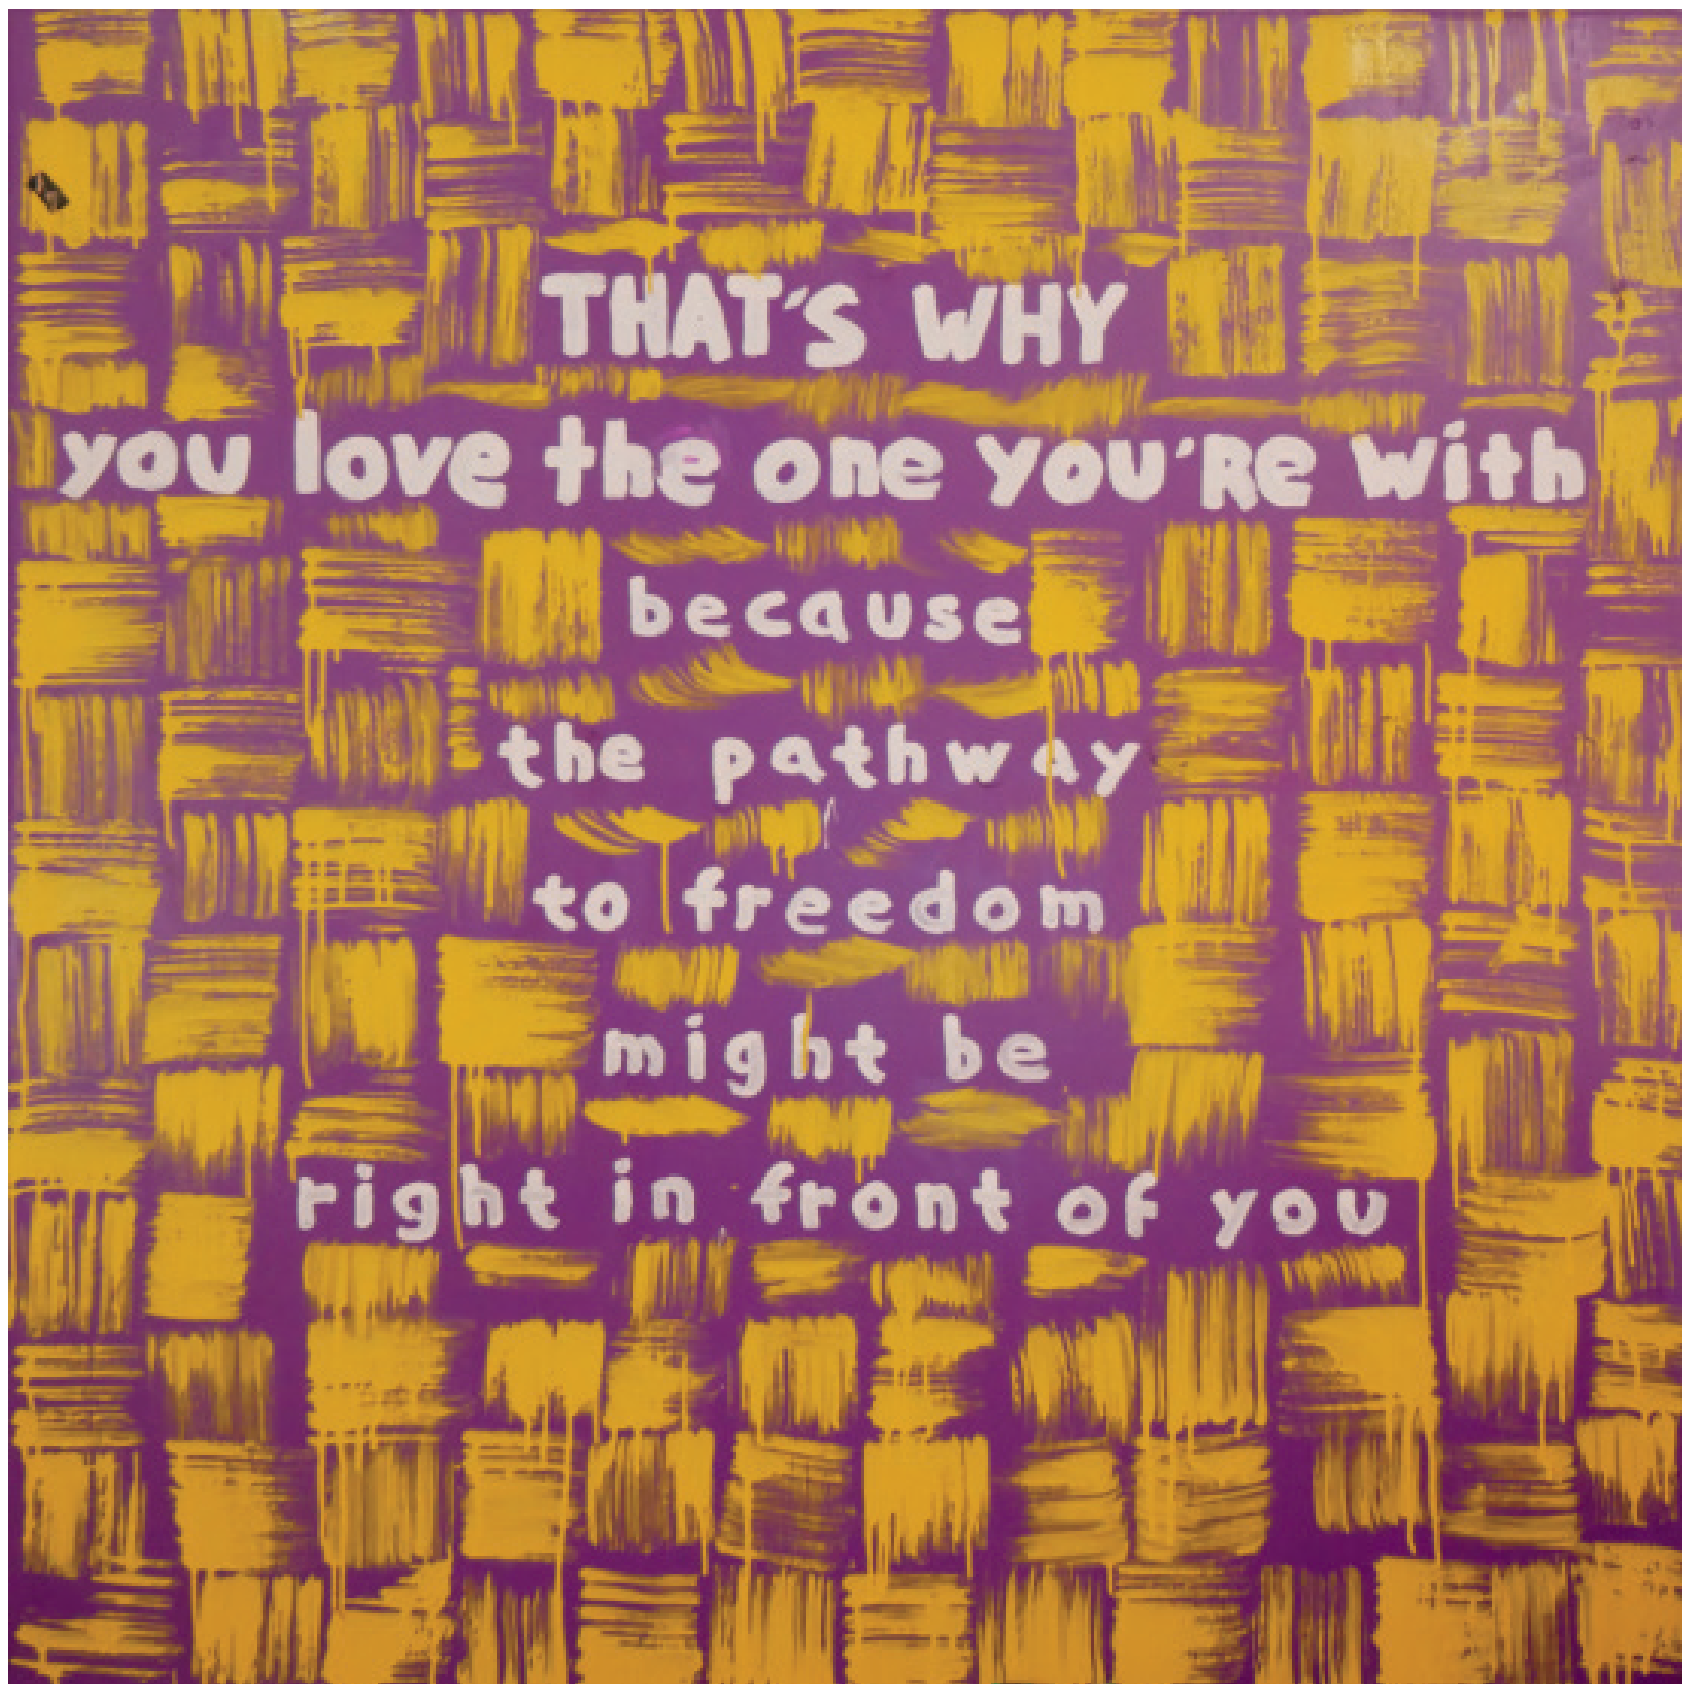

You cannot serve others well from an empty cup.
Love self fully, love complete.
From the top of your head,
to the soles of your feet.
That secret garden that you water within,
cleanses and heals your heart once again.
Finding your truth, your fullness within,
your own holy wholeness, one and true without sin.
The love that you find, the one that is kind,
the one that moves you,
far beyond the limits of mind.
Humankind you see,
is Divine from within,
but lost and confused,
until it blossoms again.
Within the suffering and pain,
The traumas and strife,
open in them,
and you'll find your eternal life.
Freed by the truth,
of the eternal within,

each and every one,
of your many sins.
Now your cup runneth over,
and the moment is now,

GRACE, JOY, ENTHUSIASM 2021, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48" Edition Number: #10,007

Looking to Experience
My Life with Grace
Joy Enthusiasm.

WHY YOU LOVE THE ONE YOU'RE WITH 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,008

That's why
you love the one you're with, because the pathway to freedom might be right in front of you.

GRIEF WHAT COLOR IS IT? WHAT DOES IT WANT?
HOW DO I EMBRACE IT? WHAT DO I RELEASE? IT'S NOW
TURNING INTO LOVE, LOVE OF MYSELF AND HAPPY AGAIN.
HOW DO I RECOVER IT? OPEN, FEEL, FEEL, FEEL, LISTEN, ACKNOWLEDGE, ADMIT, COME HOME, NOTICE THE SORROW, THE REGRET, THE MISSED OPPORTUNITIES TO LOVE AND BE LOVED IN THE PAST, NOW CRIT IT OUT UNTIL YOU ARE EMPTY, AND REPEAT DAILY UNTIL YOU ARE FILLED WITH GRATITUDE FOR THE LIFE AND THE LOVES THAT YOU STILL HAVE, THEN...
LOVE YOURSELF, LOVE WHO YOU CAME FROM,
LOVE WHERE YOU CAME FROM, LOVE THOSE WHO HAVE SHARED YOUR JOURNEY, LOVE THE POOR BASTARDS WHO HAD THE HONOR OF BEING YOUR ENEMIES, OPONENTS, FRIENDS, FAMILY AND LOVERS, LOVE THE UNLOVEABLE, LOVE THE GUILTY, LOVE THE CONFUSED, LOVE THE EVIL, LOVE THE POLITICIANS, LOVE AND SUPPORT ALL LIFE, ALL CONSCIOUSNESS, AND FINALLY, LOVE THE ONE YOU ARE WITH,
EVEN IF IS ONLY YOU, LOST AND FALLEN IN THE VOID.

GRIEF TO GRATITUDE 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,009

GRIEF

What color is it? What does it want?
How do I embrace it? What will release it?
How do I survive it? Will I ever be free and happy again?
How do I uncover it?

Open, feel, embrace, listen, acknowledge, admit, commune.
Notice the sorrow, the regret, the missed opportunities to love and be loved in the past.

Now cry it out, until you are empty and repeat daily until you are filled with gratitude for the life and the loves that you still have, then...

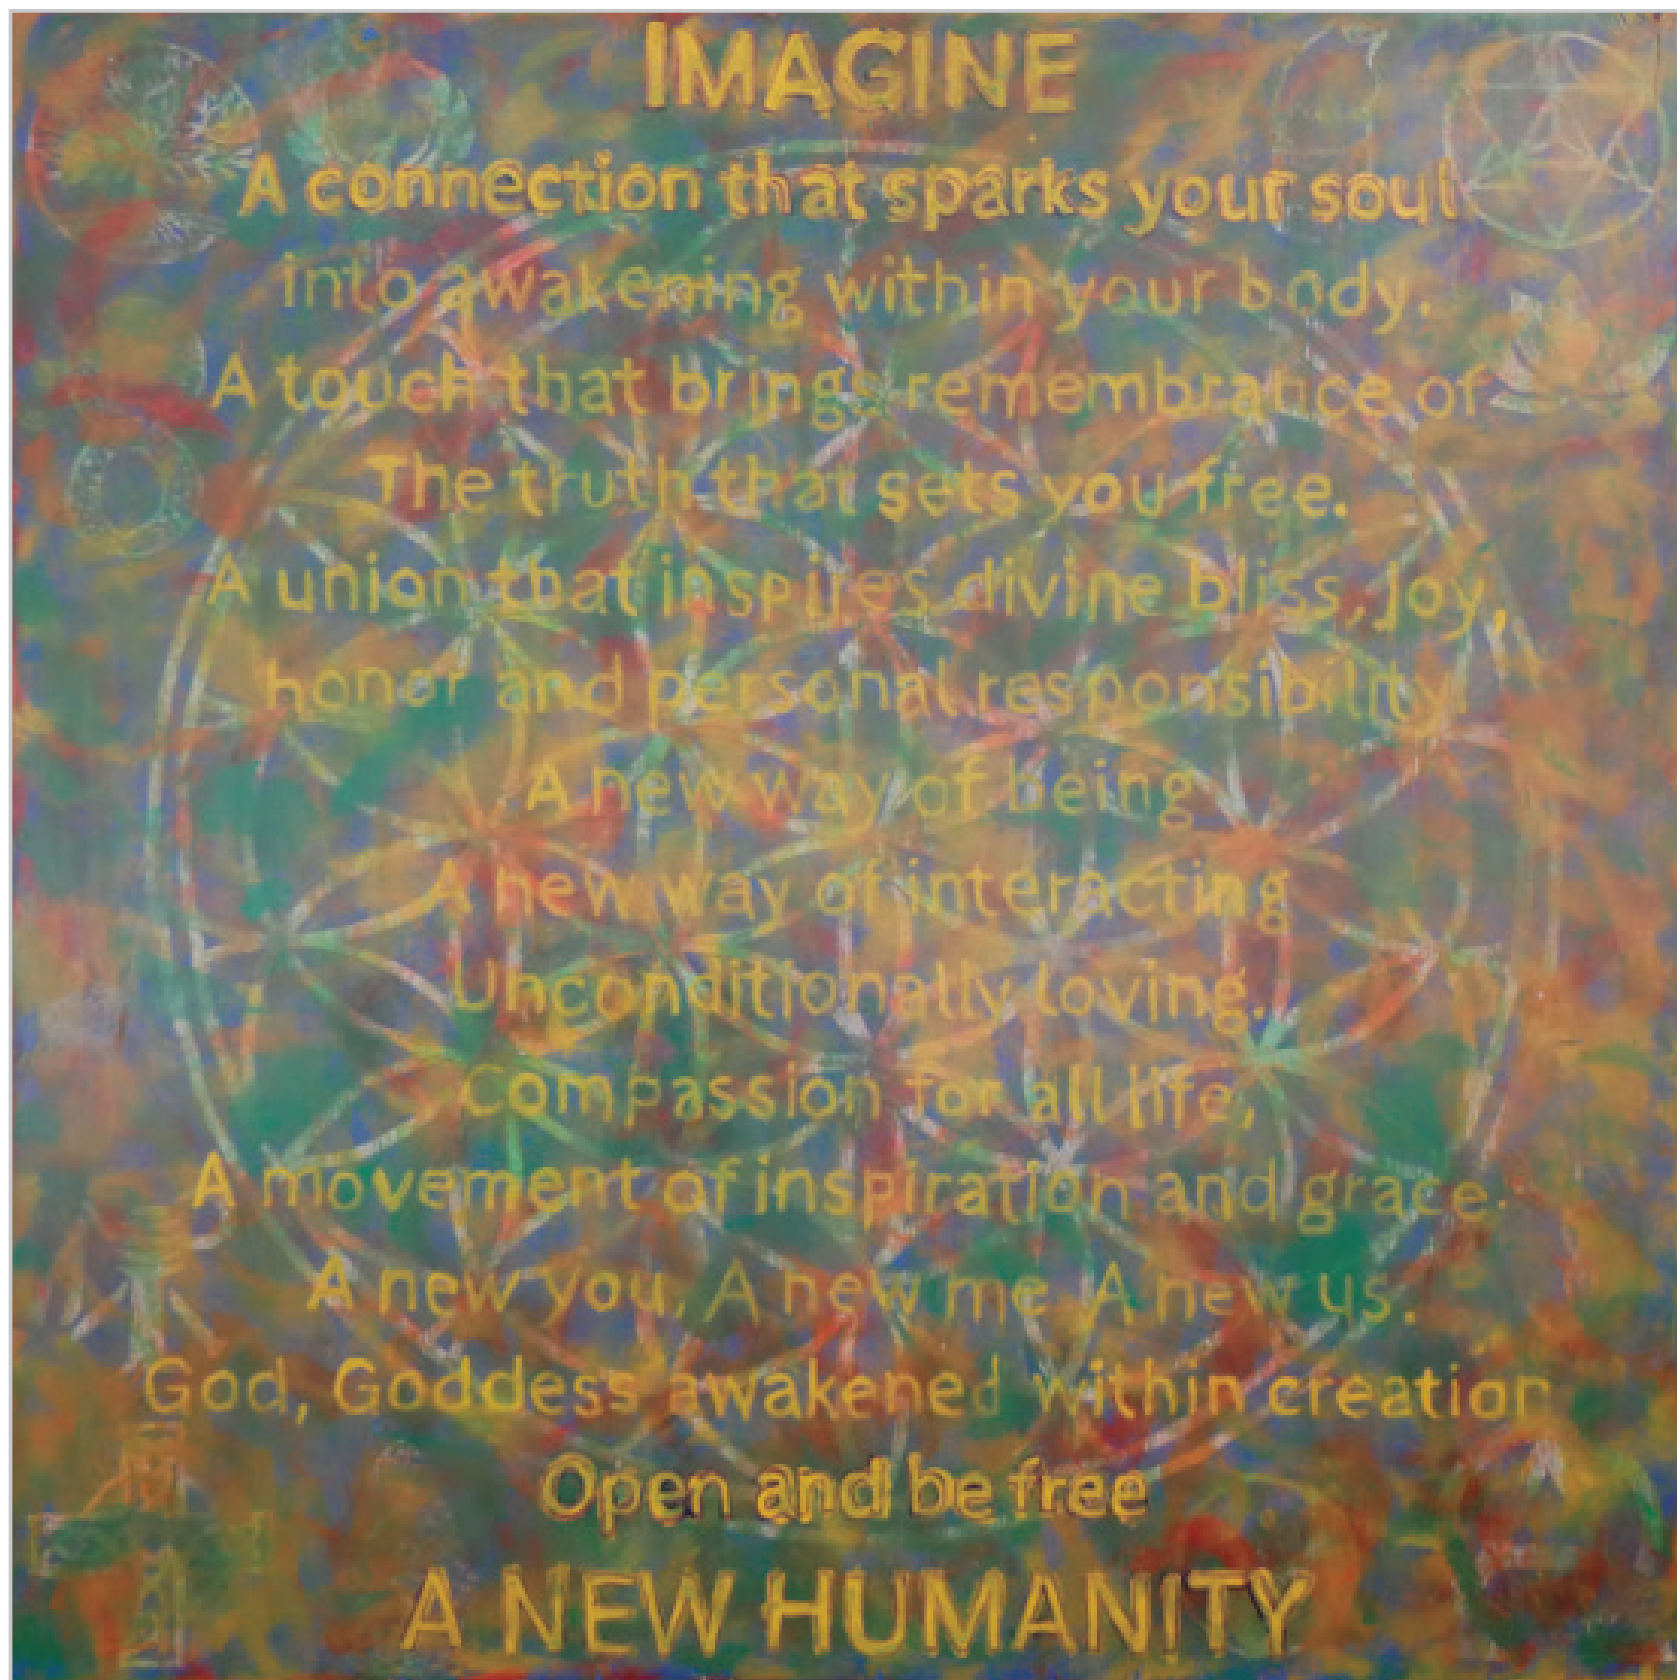

Love yourself,
Love who you came from,
Love where you came from,
Love those who you have shared your journey.
Love the poor bastards who had the honor of being your enemies, opponents, friends, family and lovers.

Love the unloveable,
Love the guilty,
Love the confused,
Love the evil,
Love the politicians.
Love and support all life,
All consciousness, and finally:
Love the one you are with,
even if it is only you,
lost and fallen in the Void.

IMAGINE A NEW HUMANITY 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,010

IMAGINE...

A connection that sparks your soul into awakening within your body.
A touch that brings remembrance of
The truth that sets you free.
A union that inspires Divine bliss, joy, honor and personal responsibility.
A new way of being,
A new way of interacting, Unconditionally loving,
Compassion for all life,
A movement of inspiration and grace,
A new you, a new me, a new us,
God, Goddess awakened within creation.
Open and be free.

...A NEW HUMANITY

SURRENDER INTO THE FREE FLOW 2023, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,011

Part 1:

How do you love yourself enough to forgive you?
How do you surrender the shock that your body and mind are in back into free flowing energy?

The answer is an uncomfortable one. You have to feel it intimately, all of it, opening fully to experience it completely on all levels
— each thing that you notice about yourself. That is what you surrender yourself into. “Feel it,” and open to receive everything it wishes you to know or receive. Then, the dams’ purpose has been fulfilled. It naturally opens and re-orientes to their next best choice for itself. Realize that the truth you seek, your yearning for completion, knowing and living your life in the way that you are “the experiencing” of self realization in a manner that is immensely satisfying to you.

Part 2:

Heart 1

The love of you opens to embrace all that you are and everything that you feel within the body from an inward perspective and an outer perspective that gives to all.

Heart 2

When you choose to move consciously, that is your primary purpose in each moment. From there, your experience is new flow.

Heart 3

Relaxing in your newfound experience of flow, you noticed that “in flow” is an easy and sublime, transformational joy to be living, experiencing life with more loving than you thought possible.

Heart 4

As you continue to be one with the flow of sublime Grace, the experience of Grace, moving within you, begins to change your experience of both who and what you are.

Experiencing freely your truth of self.

Heart 5

Own your heart.

Notice the glimpse of love beginning to shine through all the walls of unconsciousness and torment. Divine love and individual love together is transformational.

Heart 6

Your entire job to transform is simply: feel, open, feel more, open more. Keep opening more until everything in you, begins to flow. Not just in a flow, you are life flowing Grace.

Heart 7

Make sure you have opened to your own flow before you make decisions and actions. Once you notice your flow has stopped, and you’re dammed again, relax and open infinitely.

Heart 8

“There is no love in me” is the transition point when spirit awakens with, and as us. So “that” is you. This is now your turn to know Divine love as you.

WHITE ON WHITE 2023/4 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,012

If I know that I want to know something,
I have got to put myself into the “unsafe to trust” category (with everyone else).
All have failed to realize themselves and the universe Divinely.
Except for now,
For you,
and for here.
Surrender yourself to the Divine until there is nothing left of you but Divine Realization.
Now, no more words
until You are The Word.

Be still and know that UR infinity.

Quit trying to make things happen,
be still and know that you are God.

Don't try to accomplish anything before you know who you are.

Clarity within the stillness of your mind is where you choose from,
not that which occurred in the past.

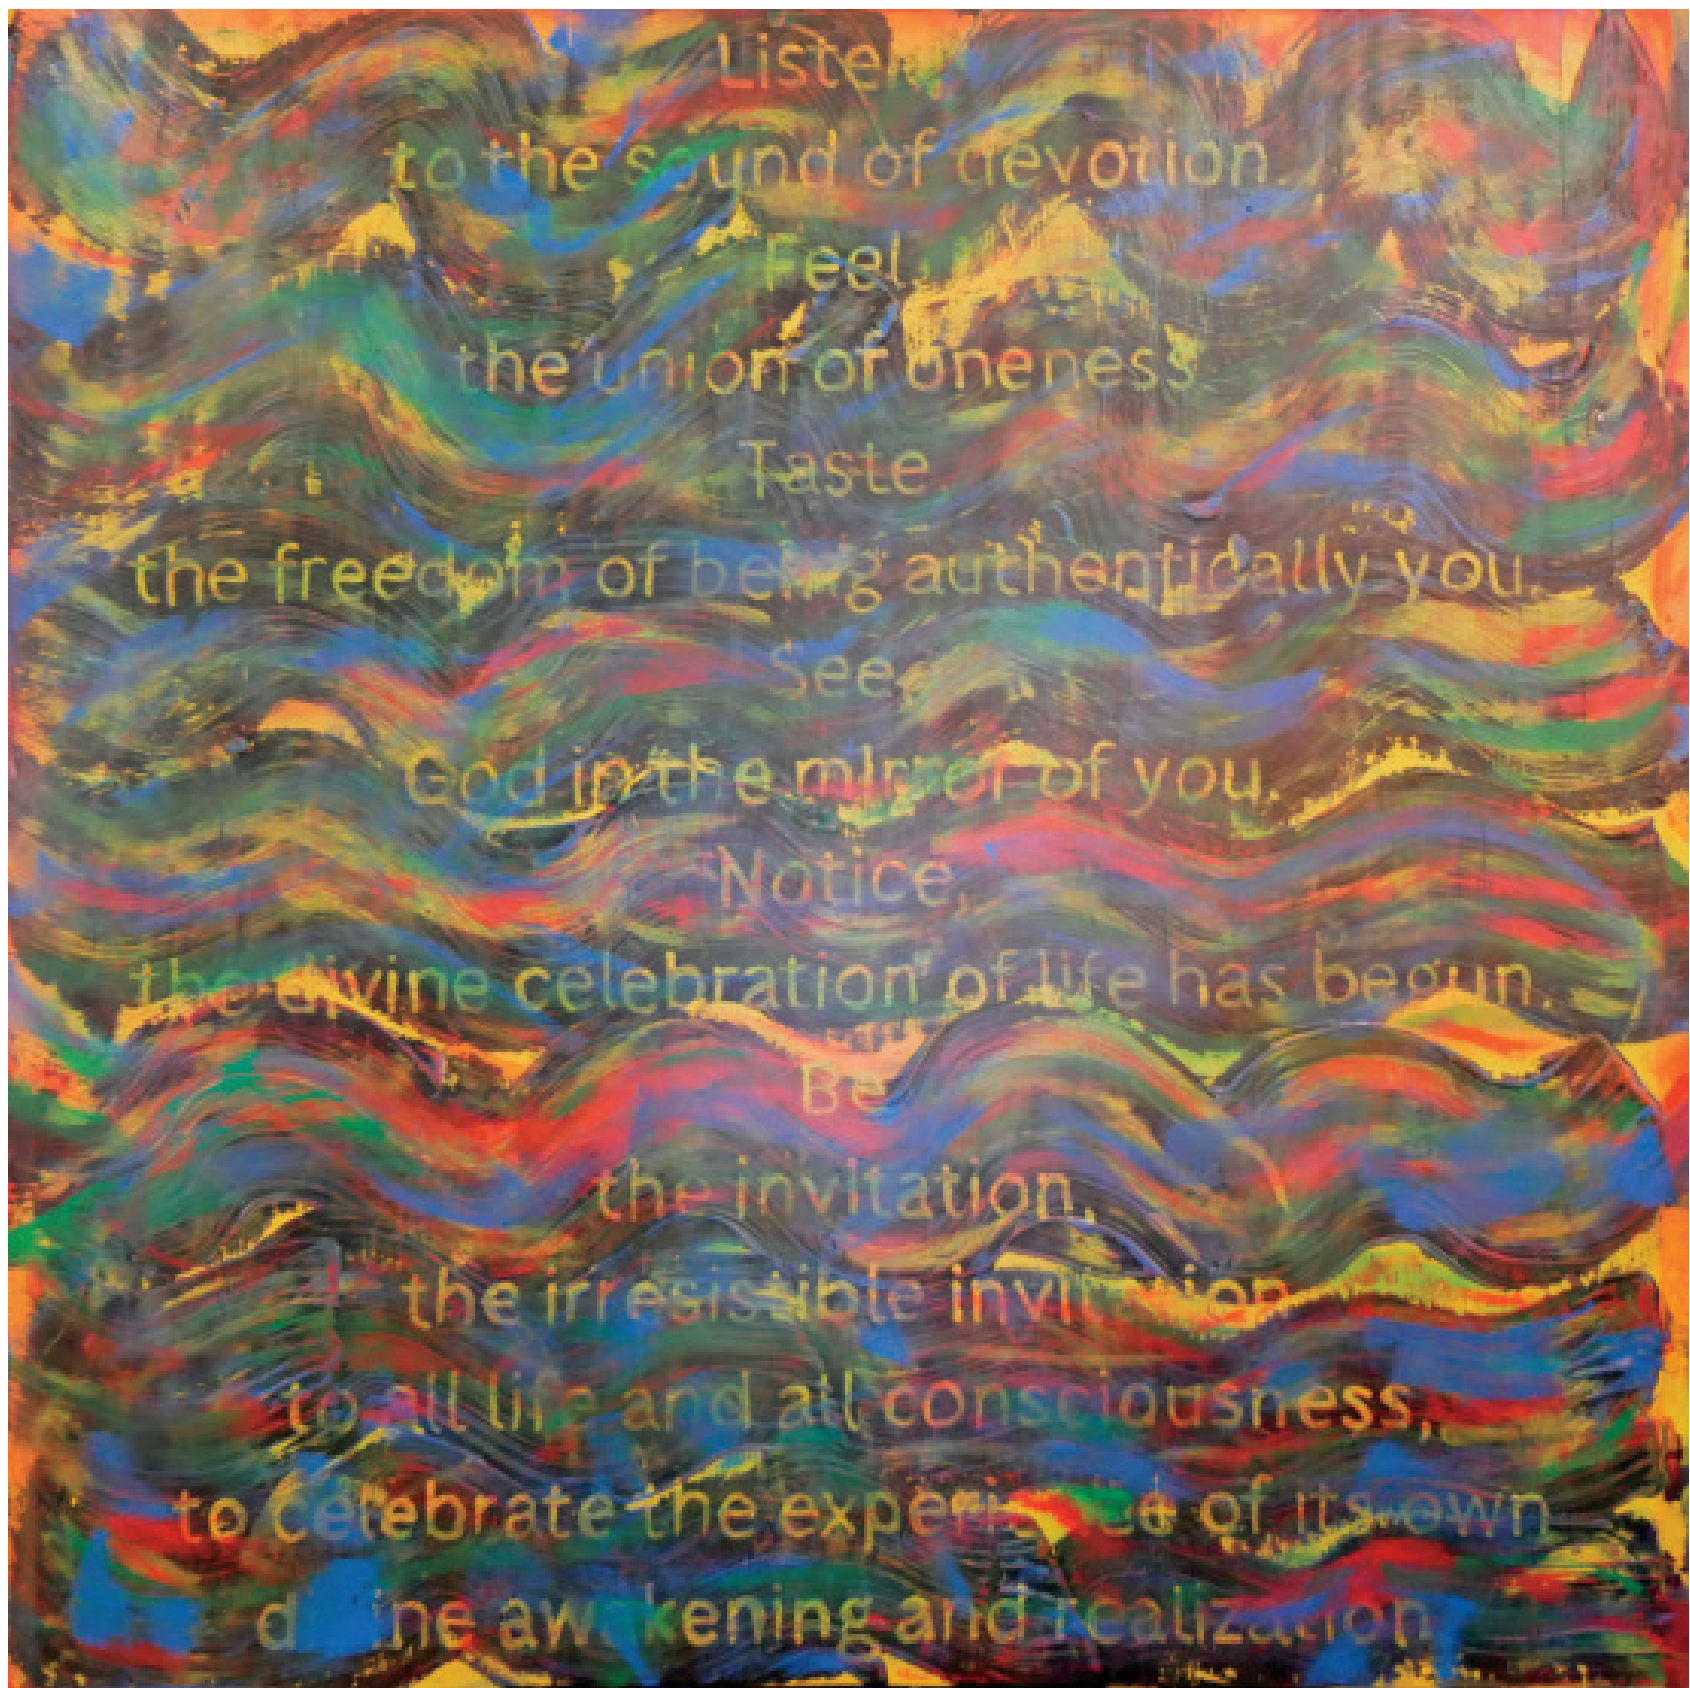

Be still and notice that you have hundreds of inputs into your sense of self coming from other points of view.
Look at them, and then notice that the Divine is flowing through everyone and everything.

Check in with yourself on every decision,
after you've released all other points of view,
other than yourself and the universal.

Open up and allow the universal reality to flow through "You as the below."

Allow for your blessings to be realized.

Your power does not come from force.
It comes from Divine Peace.

THE SOUND OF DEVOTION Year of Creation 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,014

Listen,
to the sound of devotion.
Feel,
the union of oneness.
Taste,
the freedom of being authentically you.
See,
God in the mirror of you.
Notice,
the Divine Celebration of life has begun.
Be,
the invitation,
the irresistible invitation to all life and all consciousness, to celebrate the experience of its own Divine Awakening and realization.

RECEIVE THE TRUTH 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,015

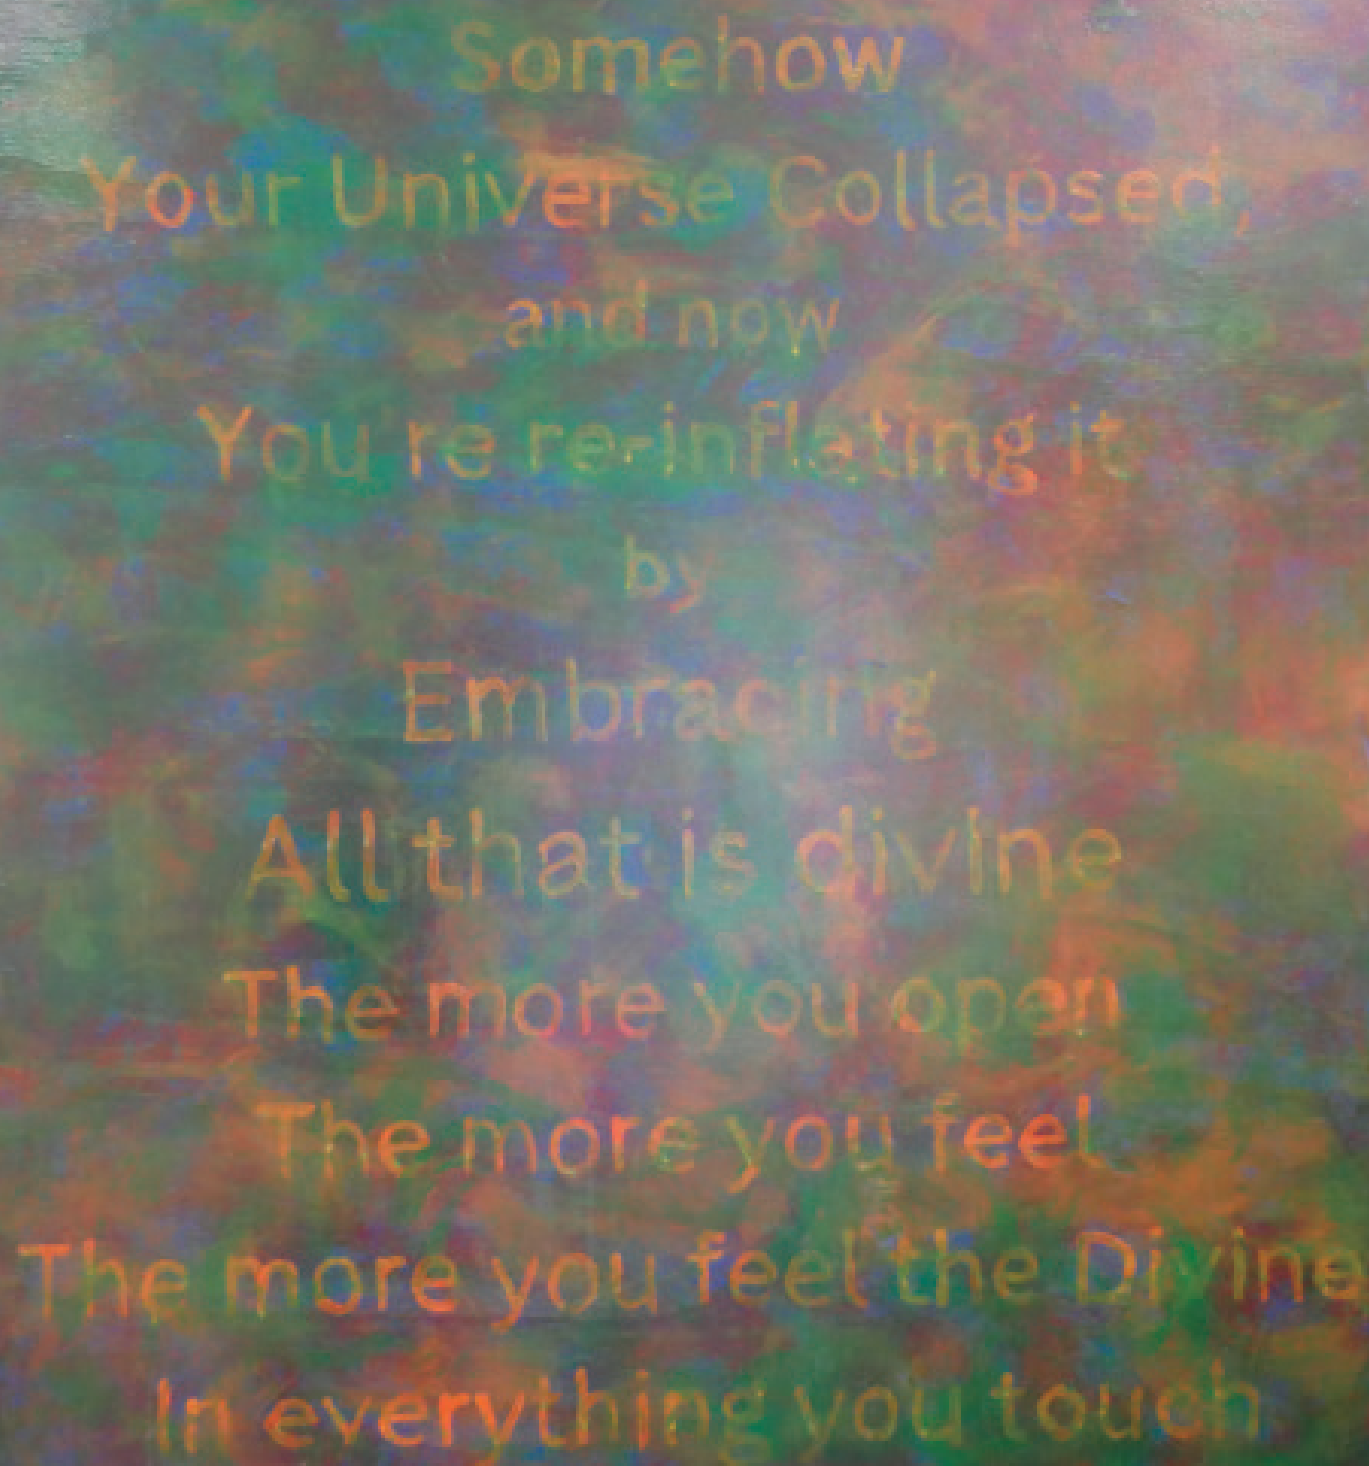

Yes
I will receive the truth that sets me free,
and allow it to change me
in the way that I will.
In the way that it always does,
for everybody that opens in their own truth, to their own realization.

Yes to Divine Realization, to the Divine made real in life,
in a body,
in you.

Now that feels good,
that feels right.
that is true.

The Divine me and the Divine you.
That's what we're here to do.
To be,
to see,
to flow.
and to share with others.

WHAT IS REAL AND TRUE? 2023/24, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48". Edition Number: #10,023

What is Real and True about the world that we live in today?
And what is false that is widely believed to be true?
What if one could be free for thirty minutes?
What would change about your identity of self?
How much freer would you be in an ongoing way as a result?

Everything that traps you is something that you are wrong about.

Feel your traps
and know that you don't know what the truth of your problems and limitations are.

All of your troubles contain lies that you have accepted as truth.

Stop pretending to yourself that you were right
when your "RIGHTNESS" causes you suffering.

Your recognition of your wrongness.
Is the fuel for the fire of your transformation.
Burn Baby Burn.

ACCEPT A MIRACLE 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48". Edition Number: #10,024

If you ever actually accept a miracle and allow it to act upon you, allow it to move through you, until you are moving as it, it makes you much more susceptible

Let everything
celebrate your awakening.

Part 2

The furniture, the walls,
the ceiling, the floors,
the rocks, the animals.

Let Everything
celebrate your awakening.

Let everything around you experience your truth.

So that they naturally open

NOTICE THE DIVINE WITHIN 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48". Edition Number: #10,027

Observe the world shift as you notice the Divine within each and Every form and each structure of Reality.

Beginning with you and ending with your enemies.

EVERYTHING IS GOD 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48". Edition Number: #10,029

That Everyone
And Everything Is God.

Here's a joke that Jesus told me:

“Thank God they don't quote me in Heaven
the way they quote me on earth, or there would be none good in Heaven as well.”

For while I am the word,
the words that I AM said was not the words that you read.

Read between the lines,
you are me and I am thine.

When you look to me
to be your truth, my truth
I cannot share with you.

For eternal truth is shared by brothers, not by hierarchies.
and while hierarchies
may be true,
they are only relatively so.

The truth that you get from them must pass away,
when your eternal perfection of spirit is your choice for self.

There's nothing true on earth,
nothing at all.
The only truth that is true,
is the truth that never changes and this reality is defined by the transitions and cycles of life and energy moving from form to form, structure to structure, reality to reality and consciousness to consciousness, ever sure that what it is in each moment,
is IT and as it struggles to stay the same,
it changes.

The never ending truth is;
You are as you have chosen to be.

THERE ARE NO QUESTION WHEN THE TRUTH OF YOU IS YOURS 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,041

Part 1

There are no more questions when the truth of you is yours.

Part 2

If you need a word to remind yourself who you are, ask yourself why?

Then ask yourself, why should you believe it?

Words cannot describe the indescribable truth of you,
and even if they could,
they would not bring you to the experience of that truth.

Cut yourself off from all of the words of others and trust yourself to go into silence and stillness.

The words you find within also cannot be trusted, and so let the inner words fade away and dissolve in the light of truth that you find under the garbage taken in from outside of you and the garbage produced by your own inner voices.

Be still and let everything go until your own inner clarity returns you to your sovereign sanity.

Until you do this,
you are a boat on the ocean,
without a motor,
sail, or rudder.

Stop looking for your truth from outside of yourself.
Stop asking questions and observe your inner universe until no questions remain.

There are no more questions
when the truth of you, is yours.

If I didn't say it before,

Choose love of life,
Love of consciousness,
Love of others, and Love of self
as your foundation.
Everything else;
all plans, ideas, systems,
identities... delete everything
and take that ride
to the end.

If i didn't say it before,

Choose love of life,
Love of consciousness,
Love of others, and Love of self,
as your foundation.

Everything else;
all plans, ideas, systems,
identities... delete everything
and take that ride
to the end.

ALLOW YOUR KNOWINGNESS TO SHIFT YOUR AWARENESS 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48",
Edition Number: #10,043

Allow your awakening to shift your knowingness as to who and what you are. We have to let ourselves go to be free. The parts of us that don't know that are unaware, that are in fear, or rage, jealousy, or anger. All of the things that happen when you don't know and don't see and don't feel the way of grace and freedom for yourself. It is up to you to maintain your awareness and your consciousness and feel the path of freedom, of joy, of love, of power. Because with what awareness do you have to be, in order for that to be your experience of what reality is here for you?

Can we drop that many lies from the construct of our identity, our personality and mind? Can we drop enough of those lies to shatter our reality where our shell opens up and our Phoenix arises again?

Just because we are a baby, blind in our egg shell, doesn't mean that that is where we are supposed to be now. If we are done with that, then it comes off and it's a new world, it's a new you, it's a new life.

Allow your new life to begin right now by letting go of the old one. Let it all go, there's no value in it when your purpose is to transcend and transform, to be true to yourself. Everything that is less than that allows the lies in it to be the fuel for the fires of transformation that reveal the truth that sets you free.

The lies are the fuel of the fires of transformation and it's simply letting go of what's not real or what's not true, that feels like it brings heaven back to you. You just can't see because of the reality that you have accepted from others. You have to let that go, they were all wrong. Everyone. And they are all stuck here at a level of incompetence and unawareness that is staggering compared to their truth.

If I could put it into a context, it would be something like this: If you took every human awareness from the first human until now, all 100 billion of us and put everything that we ever thought, all of the power we ever had, all of the knowledge and ability in every area of life and put it all together into One Being, that Being could not comprehend your eternal nature or your eternal truth. Your potential is greater than the manifest reality of every person that ever has been.

So how many lies do you have to surrender to the fire of truth for you to be set free from playing that role, that you have been given of wearing a mask of a false identity? One that confuses even you as to what's real and what's not.

(Now that feels better. Feels a lot better). If you speak the truth enough, it begins to free you up from where you have been stuck. So saying where you are and where you are stuck is not creating more limitation. It's just accessing what is, in your circumstances, in your temporal, temporary circumstance of perceiving reality through a living body and your consciousness is actually separate from it.

Now the body has its instincts, it has its cellular memory of everything that ever happened to every ancestor you ever had. All of the information is there and it is encoded and unless you come in fully Divinely self aware, unless you come into the body to operate it from there, then you will just be part of the collective human unconsciousness and survive and work, eat and have sex and get up tomorrow and do it all again.

We are able to contemplate something different than that. Something worthy of the word miraculous. The more that you contemplate that, the more that you experience that, the more that it changes you. Feel the Divine within you. The Divine is you. The thing that holds space for bodies, for body structures, for cells, molecules, atoms.

The Divine gives a place for all of them to exist. All of that emptiness is Divinely aware, is Christ Consciousness, Buddha Consciousness, Universal Consciousness. Universal Consciousness already permeates everything that you already identify as, your thoughts, your beliefs, your attitudes, your body systems, your subtle bodies energetic, magnetics, emotional, all of them including your physical body itself.

The Divine is everywhere. No matter what you feel, no matter where you feel it, no matter what you see and what you hear, it is held in a Divine space and when you realize that, reality will shift for you.

It will not be the same as it is right now anymore. It will be a new reality for you and for everything that is within. Whatever your unique radiant effect is, where the universe morphs, shifts and reacts to you in an intimate way, where it is a dance, a grace, a flow. Its not a rough ride, you and the universe, universal knowing, universal love, universal energy, you are in sync.

You are that thing that sets the limited consciousness that you have identified as you, free. You are your savior. As soon as you notice the truth of that, your process of transformation and of being saved, speeds up really quickly. This doesn't diminish anyone or anything else. Why would Jesus save someone in their sins within a false identity? A brother or a sister of which he said "Greater works than I have done, will ye do".

Why would someone who knew that to be the truth, who saw you as someone who could build on his work and do better than he did, want you to identify as less as he did? He said that he wanted you to do better than he did. He said that in the Bible, so if the truth of you is someone who can be a better human than Christ was, do a better job of loving Divinely then he did, then when are you going to let that fucking happen If not now? It does not happen anywhere except in the now where you are. If you are not real in the now, how real is it? You have to notice what's true. You have to be able to see clearly and understand the structure of reality and how it works. It's not something that you study. Its not something that you struggle with, its something that you open up to that makes you open up enough so that your eternal awareness and understanding and consciousness inhabits your body.

They say that you use 10 percent of your brain capacity. But you are not using one millionth of your Divine awareness. So just turn up the dial. Give yourself at least double to start with, at least. Let go of half your lies. Open up to take in as much goodness, take as much love, take as much knowing and understanding and wisdom as you have ever done before in life. Double it all up and allow your body to transform to that extent. (well, that's giving me some relief).

Accept that relief, accept that transformation, accept the fact that you are being set free, regardless of who gets credit for it, let it happen, don't say no. Who would be keeping score about who gets credit? What kind of an idiot does that? It doesn't matter who gets credit. It matters that it happened and it hasn't happened. The fact is it hasn't happened and so you can't say that "your truth is true, if it hasn't saved you". If it hasn't set you free, if it hasn't shifted your self awareness and identity from corruption into freedom, from confusion into knowing, into self awareness, into wisdom.

Open and be open to the universal embrace and receive it, and open and be free, the universe wants to dance with you . The universe wants to dance with you. The universe wants to dance with you. DANCE, and allow yourself to be danced. Open to the universal embrace and receive it and open as much as you need to understand the universe in its entirety. You have to be universal to know and understand the universal. So be universal, open up your awareness, energy and understanding to a universal degree. Take it all in.

it's beginning to put a smile on my face. I am beginning to have hope that I can actually open up enough to where I can feel like I am being the truth. To where I can actually experience my self care as being a true being. One that is not confused. One that is not a judge of anyone or anything but a love of everyone, and a lover of everything and yet in complete control of my own experience. A combination of vulnerability and power, of freedom and control, love and compassion. I don't know either, how we are going to be. How we are going to operate, how we are are going to communicate or what life will be afterwards, but we have to allow ourselves to be destroyed as we have been in order to find out. So yes to my own destruction, as my lies and the lies that construct my reality and my physical being. Dissolved by the light of truth until I am actually a true being.

Whole, complete and self aware.

What is it like when someone is Divinely self aware? I don't know that anybody knows, so you have to ask the question universally through out time and space, dimensions and realities and whether that thing qualifies as Divine self awareness. We will reach out everywhere through time, space dimensions, and realities to enter the void to find the truth wherever it is that freedom is found and understood and everything moves as that, is where and what I choose to awaken

as in this body.

Yes to the truth that sets me free.

THE DIVINE WAY 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,045

The Divine Way.

Its all ready here,
Its already done,
its already now.

THE AWARENESS OF THE VOID 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,046

When You get mad or irritated, that is where you are stuck and you are not stuck because of the other person. You are stuck because you have over identified as the personality and the body. You are not your body, mind, instincts, or memories. You're only the awareness of the void. Everything else is created and you have identified yourself as a creation. You are now experiencing self, only as the history of the body you are known here as, your life.

You have been judge jury and executioner of your own consciousness.

The truth is, you are a bad guy, simply because of how you treat yourself. You do not allow yourself to access the truth that would set you free-Your truth and until you do, you are your own worst enemy. Me too. You decided who you were before you experienced the truth of yourself.

How do we undo that bad decision?

How do we open again and allow ourselves to “experience in body”, the truth, that sets the embodied consciousness free? You were only playing a character on the big screen and the movie is now over. Get off your high horse, get off the screen, and out of the theater and back to the truth of you. The one you always are, when you are not pretending to be something.

What are your possibilities if you open up to perceive them? We have to be done with self sabotage. How do we open enough to receive enough truth that we are Divinely free? Relax, you are in the final chapter of your story. Enjoy the happily ever after ending. Time doesn't need to be a limiting factor in your consciousness. There is nothing in your body, except vibration and frequency, so change your tune.

What keeps your frequency stable?

Where are the controls of your frequency stabilizer?

Where is the control for the frequency and awareness of you?

Where is that master template that has your name on it?

We don't know and so we Divinely ask.

Who do we ask?

Everyone that has mastered their self and duality, manifest and unmanifest. Who is the master of the unmanifest and what creation Divinely ends the suffering in creation? Divine you.

Divine You = end of suffering. These are only words and words are not the truth. So this painting is a lie from polarized consciousness and while that is true, you can use it as a focal point for your opening.

You can still use it to be free.

Allow the motion of the paint to free your energy.

Now notice the truth within that sets you free.

PROBLEM SOLVED 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,053

Feel who you are and now ask yourself, who are you pretending to be and why are you operating your consciousness at a level of pretense? Now the good news is, this pretense that you are existing as, is exactly what you awaken from.

“Problem solved”

When you observe all of your pretense and presence as

WHO IS ASKING QUESTIONS IN UNCONSCIOUSNESS? 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,054

Who is asking questions in unconsciousness?
From a polarized limited point of view?
From a “I’m right, your wrong” perspective?
How long are you going to continue on living the lie of your personality an incorrect false and unnecessary limited level of beingness?
How long are you going to continue on in your righteous anger that grants you the right to destroy others because you think they are bad or wrong?
How long are you going to demand that you be right despite your obvious wrongness?
How can you take no responsibility for your circumstances in life and then demand that irresponsibility be rewarded?
If you’re going to awaken here, you have to take responsibility for every sad aspect of your life.
Your life is your creation and your circumstances are the result of your choices.

Also, how you interact with reality and how reality responds to you,
is your direct responsibility.
You have to look within for the answers:
you have to look within for the truth,
you have to look within to find your peace, you also have to pay attention to how the universe is reacting to you and take responsibility, because you are the one who is causing that reaction and if you don’t like how people respond to you, look within, clean your room and change your identity to something approximating your Divine truth.

When you connect with a Divine Resonance

You can't hold onto the thoughts, ideas and beliefs, the map of reality that we share as a collective humanity and we enter the realm of the creator. Our lives here on earth are a dream and we're here to have an awakening within the dream. We're here to finally celebrate divinely what it is to embody in a human world with a creator consciousness that unravels all of the lies, belief systems, agreements and energies that created the structure of human consciousness within the dream, and now have no more relevance to us.

With a Divine Resonance

You can't hold onto the thoughts, ideas, and beliefs, the map of reality that we share as a collective humanity and we enter the realm of the creator. Our lives here on earth are a dream and were here to have an awakening within the dream. We're here to finally celebrate Divinely what it is to embody in a human world with a creator consciousness that unravels all of the lies, belief systems, agreements and energies that created the structure of human consciousness within the dream, and now have no more relevance to us.

THE ENTIRE UNIVERSE IS IN YOUR PALM 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,056

Imagine that you are a being so large that the entire universe is in the palm of your hand and you are the one responsible for it's existence, you are the creator.

Close your eyes and look at the infinite universe that is just a small part of you. Everything that has ever happened, everything that has even been was set into motion by your decisions for this universe to come into being and the consciousness that is within the universe, all of it, is yours.

Now there is a decision that you can make, and that is to say: If I conceived the universe, created the universe, put my consciousness into the universe to animate the manifestations that matter there and things done in a less than harmonic resonance of celebration of each other, then that is a lack of consciousness and so, how much more of your consciousness will it take for the universe to self realize your creator consciousness within the individuated aspects of consciousness within the universe?

As an individual, the consciousness that you have is a creator consciousness in a state of confusion and misidentification and there is nothing for you to do other than notice that the creator of the universe, that holds the universe in the palm of its hand, is in fact you and as you put your attention around the universe and you notice the consciousness of everyone and everything in it, you notice that it is your consciousness also. So everything that has ever happened here, everything that has ever existed here, every unenlightened point of view here, is your responsibility. It's your creation and it's your responsibility. Things are the way they are here because of you and the way that things are here are often difficult.

Everything here eats everything else. Very few of the manifestations here say that "I love it here, exactly as it is". All aspects of consciousness seem to want it to be different than it is, including yourself. That's why we are having this conversation because you are having a negative reaction to experiences here that are affecting you in the present.

So if the vast majority of your consciousness is completely outside this universe, and yet a small part of it animates the entire universe, and once consciousness is individuated into different aspects of creation, then it is not for one aspect of creation to choose for all other aspects, but for each individuated aspect to choose for itself.

So you can choose a couple of things from the point of view of the creator consciousness (holding the universe in the palm of your hand). The universe being YOUR CREATION AND ALL OF THE CONSCIOUSNESS within it. Your consciousness. How much more of your self aware, creator consciousness will you gift to your creation? How much more of your presence will be in your creation? Then do it now as your human consciousness knowing that you are lost, knowing that you are trapped, knowing that you are misidentified, knowing that you have been abused, traumatized and identified as the one lifetime form and yet at the same time you have experienced your god/goddess nature.

And its beyond that; you created the space where all of the gods and goddesses all together can come to know themselves and create and destroy whatever it is that gods and goddesses do. You gave place for all of them too. Your nature includes all goddesses, All gods, everything that is Divine. Yes, feel that, feel the truth of that set you free. Yes feel that flow and as this individuated consciousness as that aspect of the creator, you get to choose for yourself. As the creator of the universe you choose to allow more of your consciousness, more of your presence within the universe, so the universe has enough self awareness to behave itself, to be in harmony, aspect to aspect, to no longer need to be in conflict, to be in competition, to fight, where things don't need to eat each other to survive.

How much consciousness does that take? Each aspect chooses its expression itself. So how much of the creators truth does each aspect of manifestation in the universe, how much of that are you going to say yes to? Yes please? Yes this much for this body. Are you going to be the one to ask for everything? That's the right choice. Ask for it all and allow yourself to open and expand. And be changed by the truth that sets you free.

Feel your heart, notice the Divine radiance opening within you, beginning to penetrate the body and radiate out. It's the creator consciousness truth that sets the body free. Emanating from you into this reality, dissolving everything that is body identified, body limited, created in unawareness, unconsciousness and fear. All of that made irrelevant by your love of all life, of all individuation, of all consciousness, especially yourself, your body, your temple.

So allow your temple to be cleansed easily, beautifully, until the creator consciousness that is the truth of you, has a temple that allows free expression and free flow of creator consciousness here in the mist of creation.

The creator awakened within the creation, as the creation, as you.

From others, Back to Self, then returning back to others. The Dance of the Eternal Awakening within the Finite. The Scales of the Goddess Rings clearly in our ears. The Temple has been cleansed. Long live the Realization of God and Goddess within the form and mind of each of us. May we sense the world distinctly. May divine Sensuality be the flow that we know ourselves as and are known as by others. Divine Sensuality is our common Realization. First one, then two, then four, and expanding out as an irresistible invitation to the divine celebration of life.

WHO SURRENDERS?

THE ONE THAT IS SEPERATE The One?
THAT Feels ONLY "YOU" as you FEEL YOURSELF FROM EACH Level of your PHYSICAL BEINGNESS HERE, THEY EACH BEGIN TO FREE FLOW.

I AM THE ONE WHO SURRENDERS TO
THE NOW OF THIS MOMENT. MOTHER MAGIC HOME

GO HOME TO THE DIVINE
AND UNREALISED REALIZATION THAT LIVES UNOTICED
WITHIN THE SELF THAT IS YOU. OPEN
LOOK, SEE, UNDERSTAND, REMEMBER AND FULLY REALIZE THE SUBLIME FLOW THAT IS THE TRUTH OF YOU.

YOU HAVE TO RETURN TO RE-YOURSELF TO RE-
THE VOID. TO RE-AWAKEN AS YOUR TRUTH. YOUR HOLDING ON IS WHAT STICKS YOU.
FREE IT AND LET IT GO
AS SOON AS YOU CAN.

your no voice come to be the Being that you have been. Go within and find out what you think about this. Is this something that you're come to allow to happen? YES?
that feel it and let it go. "My job, is not to hold on Job to do my self. and you are the only one that can. Realize that nothing that you say is important for others to pay attention to, UNLESS YOU ARE FREE AND MOVING AS THE TRUTH. THE TRUTH THAT FREED YOU years. (How is it at work) But without the self building effect of the judgements and condemnations of others. OPEN AND BE FREE. WAKE UP AND BE A GOD. AWAKEN! GOD, your time has come. BE the freedom that you have been yearning for.
NOTICE THE DIVINE FOR
YES. YOU ARE THE
ONE. Gods Gift to the WORLD.

WHO SURRENDERS? 2023, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,057

Musings of an awakening artist.

Who surrenders? The one that is separate. The one that feels only you. As you feel yourself, from each level of your physical beingness here, stay there, until they each begin to free flow. I am the one who surrenders to the now of this moment.

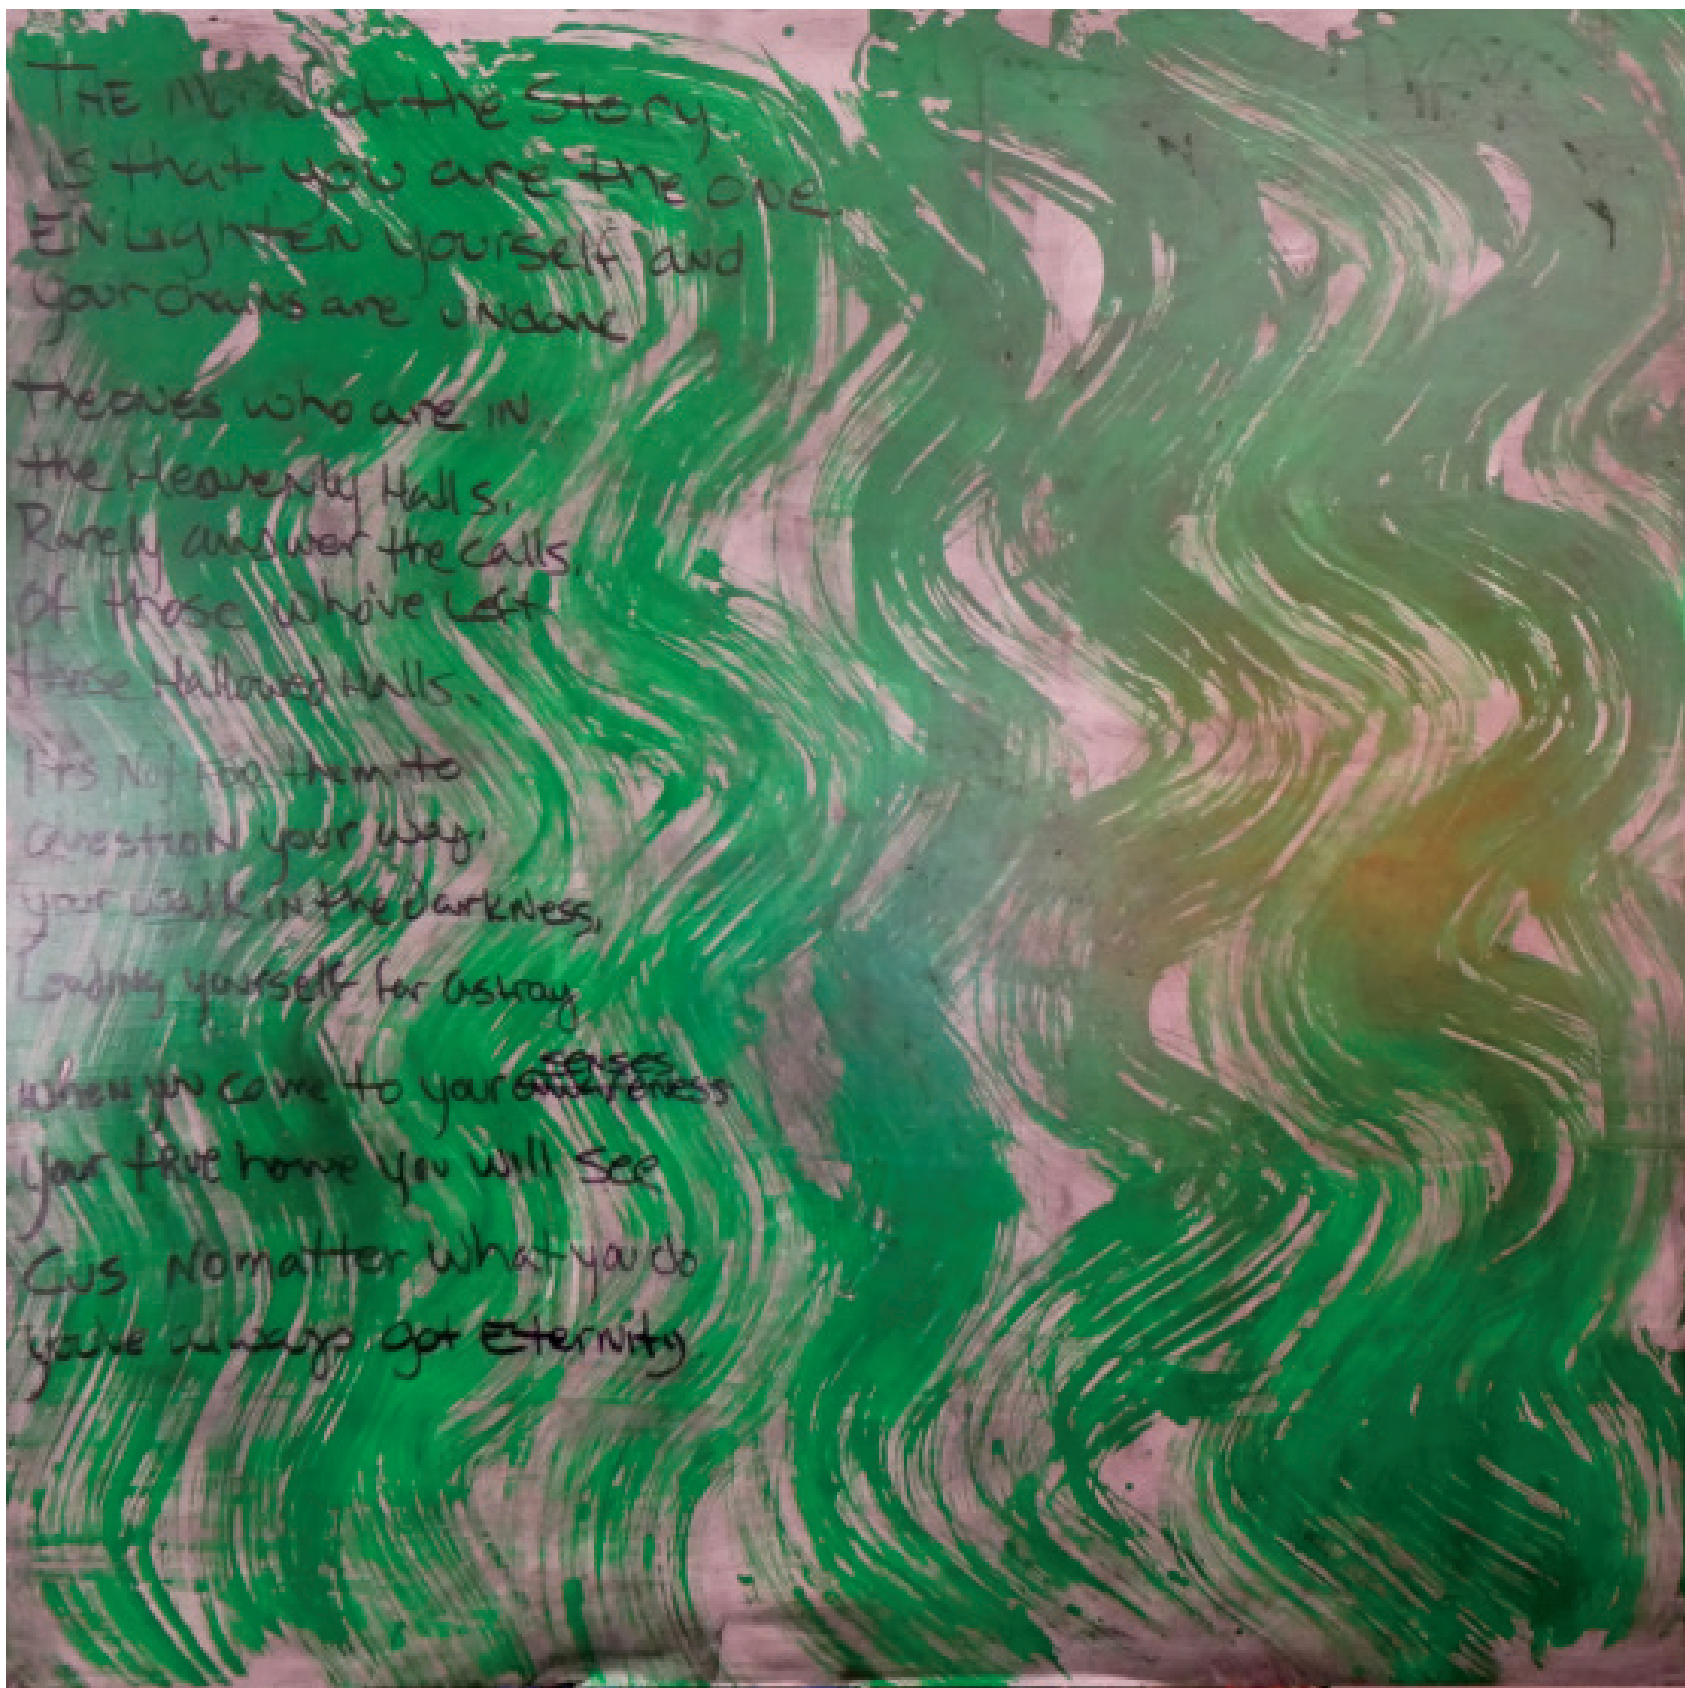

Mother, may I come home? Go home to the Divine realization that lives unnoticed and unrealized within the self that is you. Open, look, see, understand, remember, and fully realize the sublime flow that is the truth of you.

You have to return yourself to the void to reawaken as your truth. Your holding on is what sticks you. Feel it and let go as soon as you can. Your no longer going to be the being that you have been. Go within and find out what you think about this. Is this something that you're going to allow to happen? Yes? Then feel it and let it go. " my job is not to hold onto this stuff" (The pain that we were.) It's not your job to damn yourself. And you're the only one who can.

Realize that nothing you say, is important for others to pay attention to unless you are free and moving as the truth: the truth that freed you. Don't use others views to condemn yourself. It's God's body, not yours.(then it's all yours.) But without the self-limiting effect of the judgments and condemnations of others.

Open and be free. Wake up and be a god. Awaken God, your time has come. Be the freedom you've been yearning for. Notice the Divine as you. Yes, you are the one,; Gods gift to the world. Surrender into realizing the truth of that, and you will be the truth that the world needs from you. Each part of the whole truth of God, (youI and others) realizes the truth of God, within the entirety of itself. First for self, then to others, and from others, back to self, then returning back to others.

The dance of the eternal awakening within the finite. The song of The goddess rings clearly in our ears. The temple has been cleansed, long live the realization of God and Goddess within the form and mind of each of us. May we sense the world Divinely. May Divine sensuality be the flow that we know ourselves as and are known as by others. Divine sensuality as our common realization. First one, then two, then four and expanding out as an irresistible invitation, to join the Divine celebration of life and all consciousness.

THE MORAL OF THE STORY 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,058

The moral of the story
Is that you are the one.
Enlighten yourself and Your chains are undone.

The ones who are in The heavenly Halls,
Rarely answer the calls,
Of those who've left
Those hallowed halls.

It's not for them to Question your way,
Your walk in the darkness
Leading yourself far astray,

When you come to your senses
Your true home you will see,
Cus no matter what you do,
You've always got eternity.

FLOW 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,059

Open Up and continue in your opening until your experience of yourself is a FLOW.

Go ahead and transcend from where you are to where you can be,
in one beautiful moment of infinite surrender.

How?

Allow the universal intelligence and awareness of that which has created us all, to act upon you without any resistance, reaction or direction from you.

When?

That's up to you. The universal creator is always ready to awaken and realize you as the truth that sets you free.

Why not now?

Surrender all of those reasons to that which loves you unconditionally, even if you don't know who or what that is.

Open, allow,

transmute, transcend,

and return

to the essence of you:

The you that also loves all life

and all consciousness,

while allowing everything

to be exactly as it chooses to be,

while you notice its divine essence

as its core eternal truth,

now emerging and actualizing

within and as each creation. Why?

Its the reason and purpose of your being here:

the creator awakening within and as the creation.

Go ahead and transcend from where you are to where you can be,
in one beautiful moment of infinite surrender.

How?

Allow the universal intelligence and awareness of that which has created us all, to act upon you without any assistance, reaction or direction from you.

When ?

That's up to you. The universal creator always ready to awaken and realize you as the truth that sets you free.

Why not now?

Surrender all of those reasons to that which love you unconditionally
Even if you don't know who or what that is

Open, allow

transmute, transcend

And return

To the essence of you:

The you that also loves all life

And all consciousness,

While allowing everything

To be exactly as it chooses to be,

When you notice its Divine essence

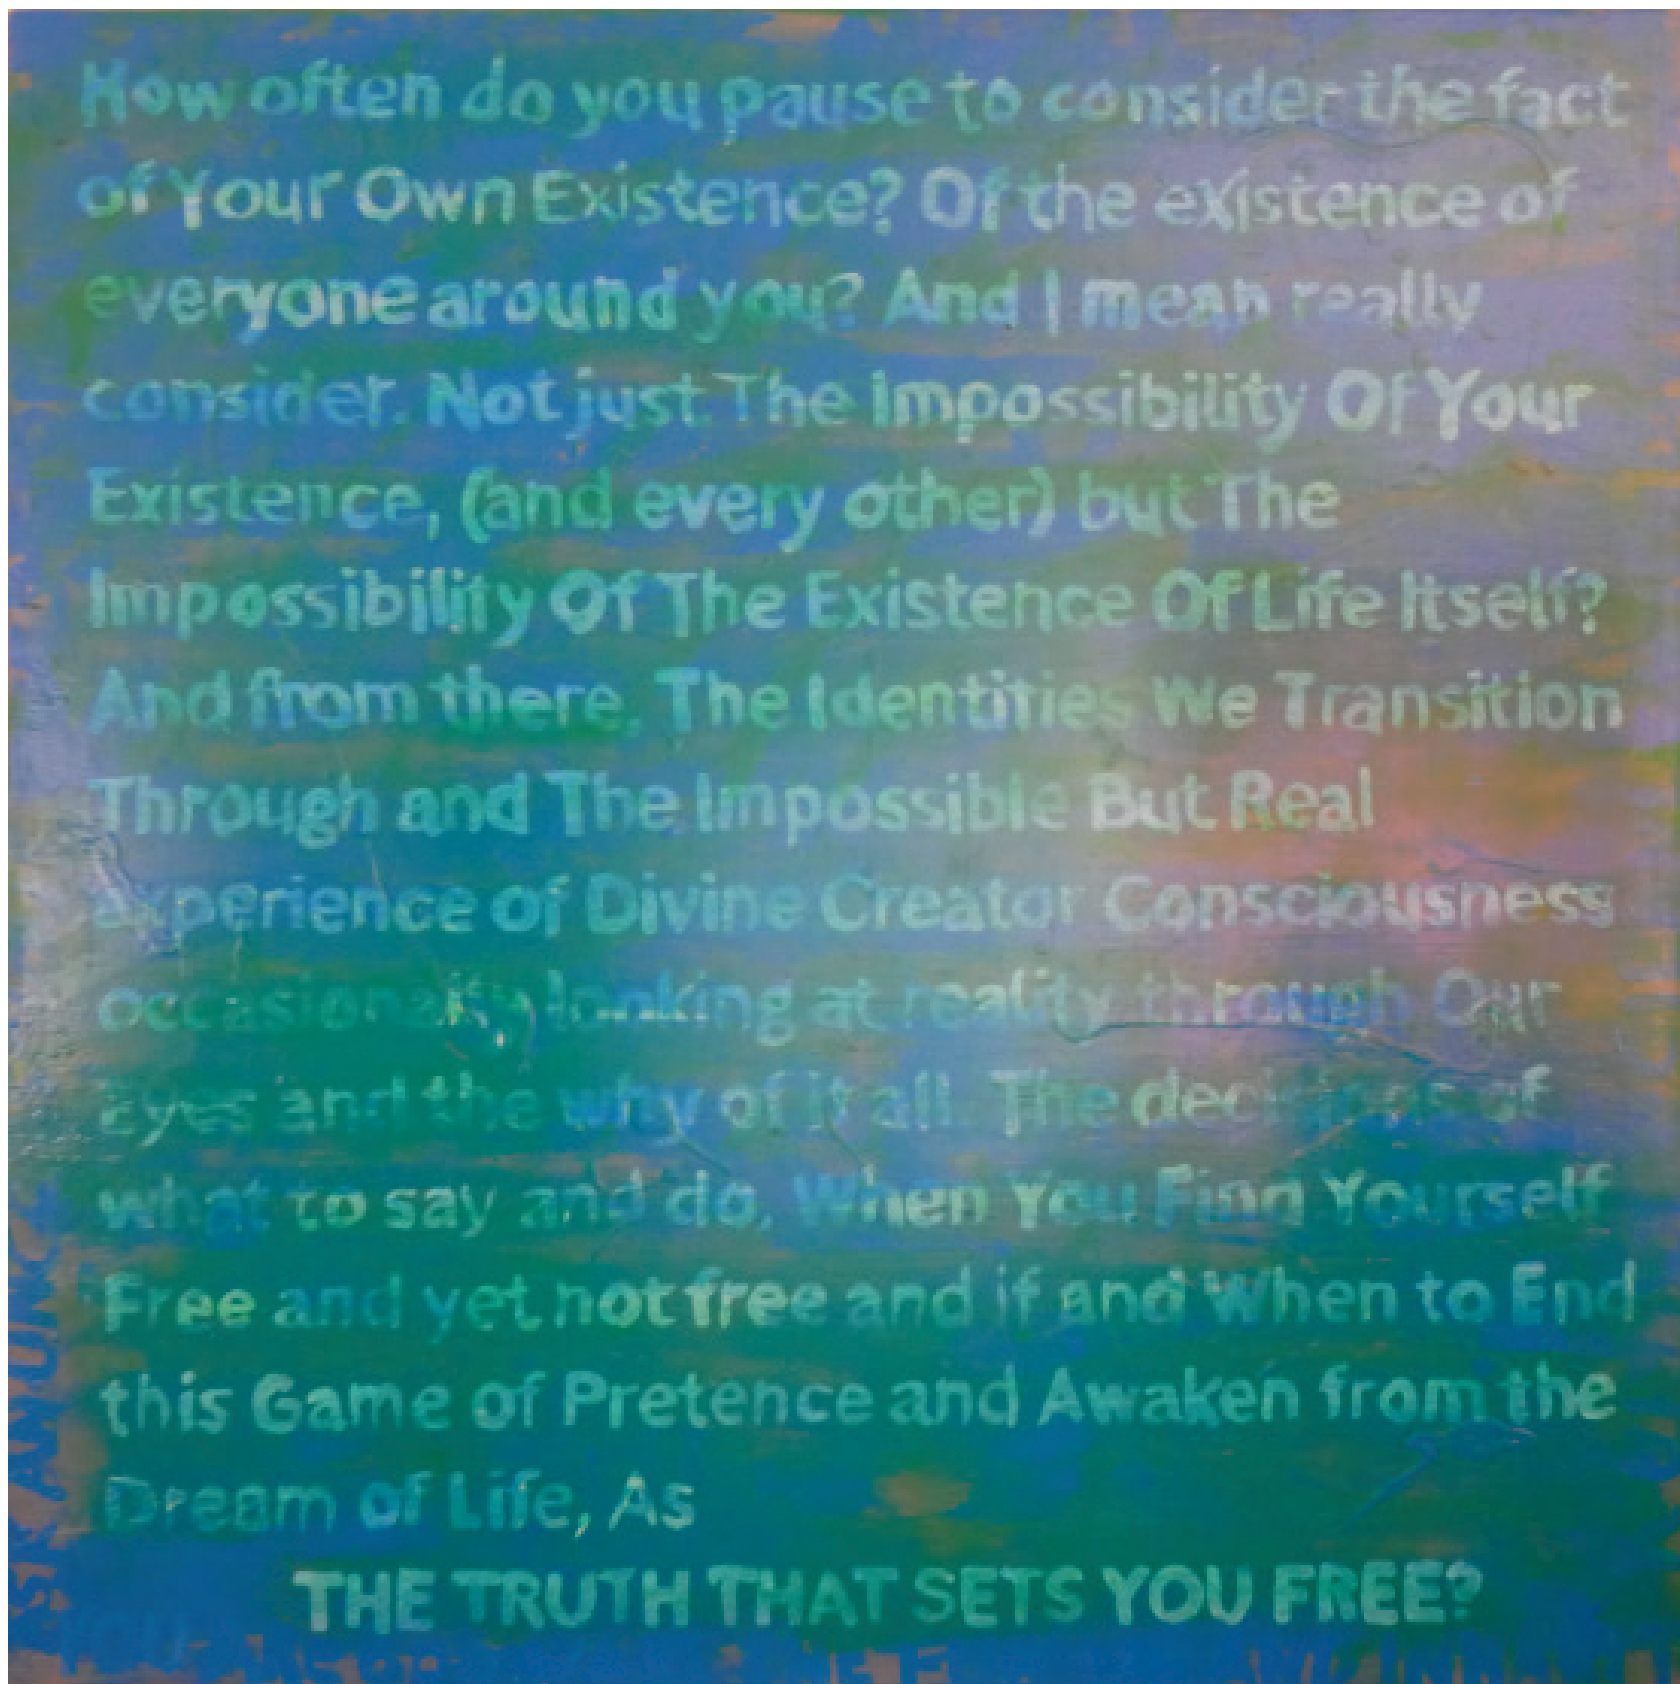

At its core eternal truth

Now emerging and actualizing

Within and as each creation. Why?

It's the reason and purpose of your being here:

The creator awakening within and as the creation.

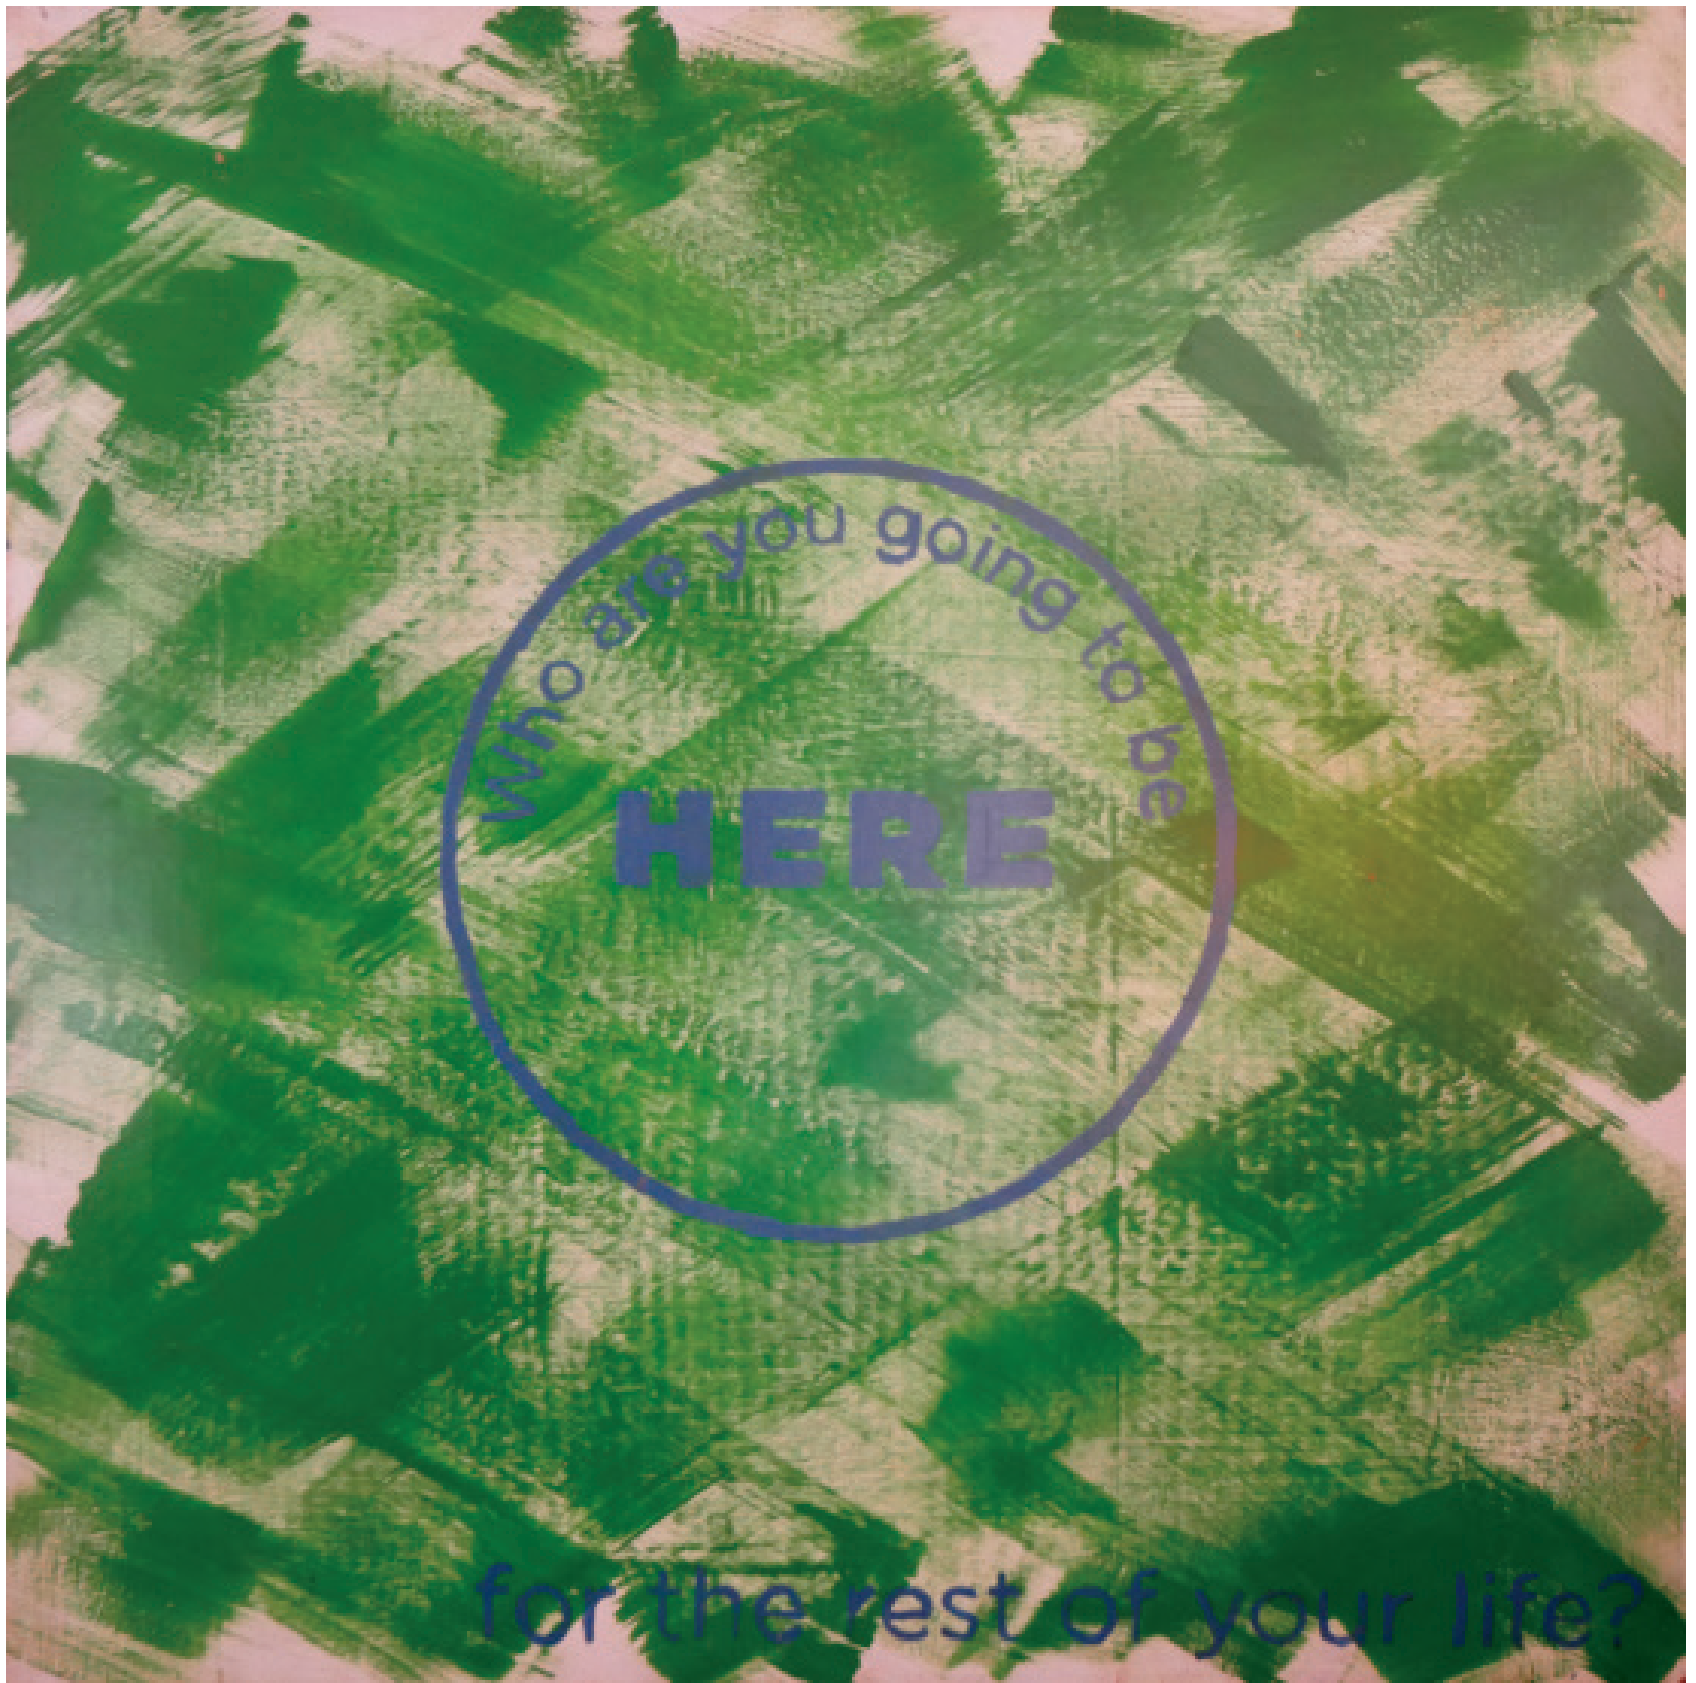

THE IMPOSSIBLE BUT REAL EXPERIENCE OF DIVINE CREATOR CONSCIOUSNESS 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,061

How often do you pause to consider the fact of your own existence?
Of the existence of everyone around you?
And I mean really consider,
not just the impossibility of your existence, ( and every other)
but the impossibility of the existence of life itself?

And from there,
the Identities we transition through and the impossible but real experience of Divine Creator Consciousness, occasionally looking at reality through our eyes and the why of it all.
The decisions of what to say and do when you find yourself free and yet not free and if and when to end this game of pretense and Awaken from the Dream of Life, as

THE TRUTH THAT SETS YOU FREE?

THE ULTIMATE TRUTH 2023, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,065

Experience the ultimate truth, That All Religions have hinted at or directly stated;
that you are god
in a fallen state of consciousness and can regain your natural state of being a state without limitations or duality.

Part 1

This

Is

Art.

Part 2

Where is our mastery of life and how do we bring it into our experience of now?

We don't get it from someone else.

You have to be willing to open to the experience of all aspects of yourself consciously, particularly the miraculous ones.

Open in your stillness until you begin to flow.

Once flowing, freely create with abandon and

Your mastery will be a byproduct of your creative flow.

Our new beginning here begins with the knowing that we are not here to fix ourselves, no, stop that.
We're not here to progress, no, stop that,
you're here to know yourself.
That is the OBJECTIVE, in your new beginning in This moment.
No Other moment.
No Future moment.

In this moment we begin anew in experiencing ourselves exactly as we are. We are good with "this."
(our actual circumstances with no guilt and no glory.)

Who and what am I really in this moment?
We don't hide from our circumstantial truths anymore,
so we can enter the flow.

So just feel how the flow begins the moment you accept who and what you are without your demanding that there be an improvement before things can be OK.

Allow things to be OK as they are.
That's how you open the gate to eternity, is by being OK
with how things are in this moment.

YOU AND I WERE ALL WRONG ABOUT THE TRUTH OF YOU 2023, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,072

Feel the tension in your body.
None of this is real or true.

The tension is telling you that you are wrong and to let your bad judgments go that led you to being tense.

Be OK with being wrong about everything,
if that is the realization that frees you.

How right can you be if you are in a condition of constant suffering?

If you were right about everything,
you would already be self realized.

The truth is, you don't know anything about how to discern between truth and lies, right or wrong, good and bad.

Your mantra?
"You are wrong about everything."
How can you ever have a good life if that is true?
You can't, so let's change it by accepting the reality of your complete incompetence about everything.

What are you good or expert at?
It's either nothing, or things that are largely worthless to you.
Unless you are in a condition of loving triumph, You're not being real or true to yourself and everyone else as well.

When you acknowledge all of your painful truths as being real in their negative effect on you, you open the door to your transformation. The cost of you not being real or true is almost incalculable. Accept the lie that you are, so that you don't have to continue being that.

I was wrong about every limitation that I took on. Each limitation was fabricated, created, or given ownership and control over something that isn't for others to control. You Cannot control others justly, until you can control someone with compassion, love and understanding of your connection with them as a Divine revelation to and by you.

When you realize the truth, how does it change "your truth" in your body? Be aware now. Allow yourself to experience your awakening. You are wrong about who you have been being here. You are bullshitting everyone, you are not you.
You never were and never will be the you that you think you are.

Do you know that who you think that you are is wrong about everything? Consider the possible factor that you might choose in this very moment, to know the truth that sets "one" or "you" free, as your realized truth of self.

You are creative and conscious, freedom itself.
With more creative, unconscious self-destruction...
UNTIL NOW.
Game Over. You won. You transcended.

You cannot be right about anything if you were wrong about yourself. I am wrong about everything that has caused me to suffer. I am mystified about how I ingrained wrongness into myself as my identity. If there is anything more wrong about you, than you. It is others points of view about you. How can anyone so unconscious that he identifies as a combatant himself, possibly be right about the truth of you?

You are all wrong about the truth of you. I was wrong about myself, and now I am open to knowing and receiving the truth and to allow the truth to change me and continue to change me until my receipt of the truth of self has been sufficient as to have set me free.

REST IN PEACE 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,073

Part 1

Rest in Peace.

Part 2

Who in heaven would you allow to love you Divinely?
The past doesn't have the answer, or the present would not be what it is.

Heaven and Hell are both here in the same place at the same time.
Which one do you open to?
You're already open to hell, let heavenly awareness awaken in you everywhere hell exists for you.

Welcome home,
let the Divine celebration begin again in you.

The profane within you will learn the dance of Divine creation in your reality now. It's over, it's done, it's complete for all of us.
(Divinely realized as we choose from creator consciousness. )
Within our every damn limitation.
Take your turn,
take your medicine.

Remember your truth,

embody your true point of view.

(For Maria: allow Jesus to give you permission to be yourself.)

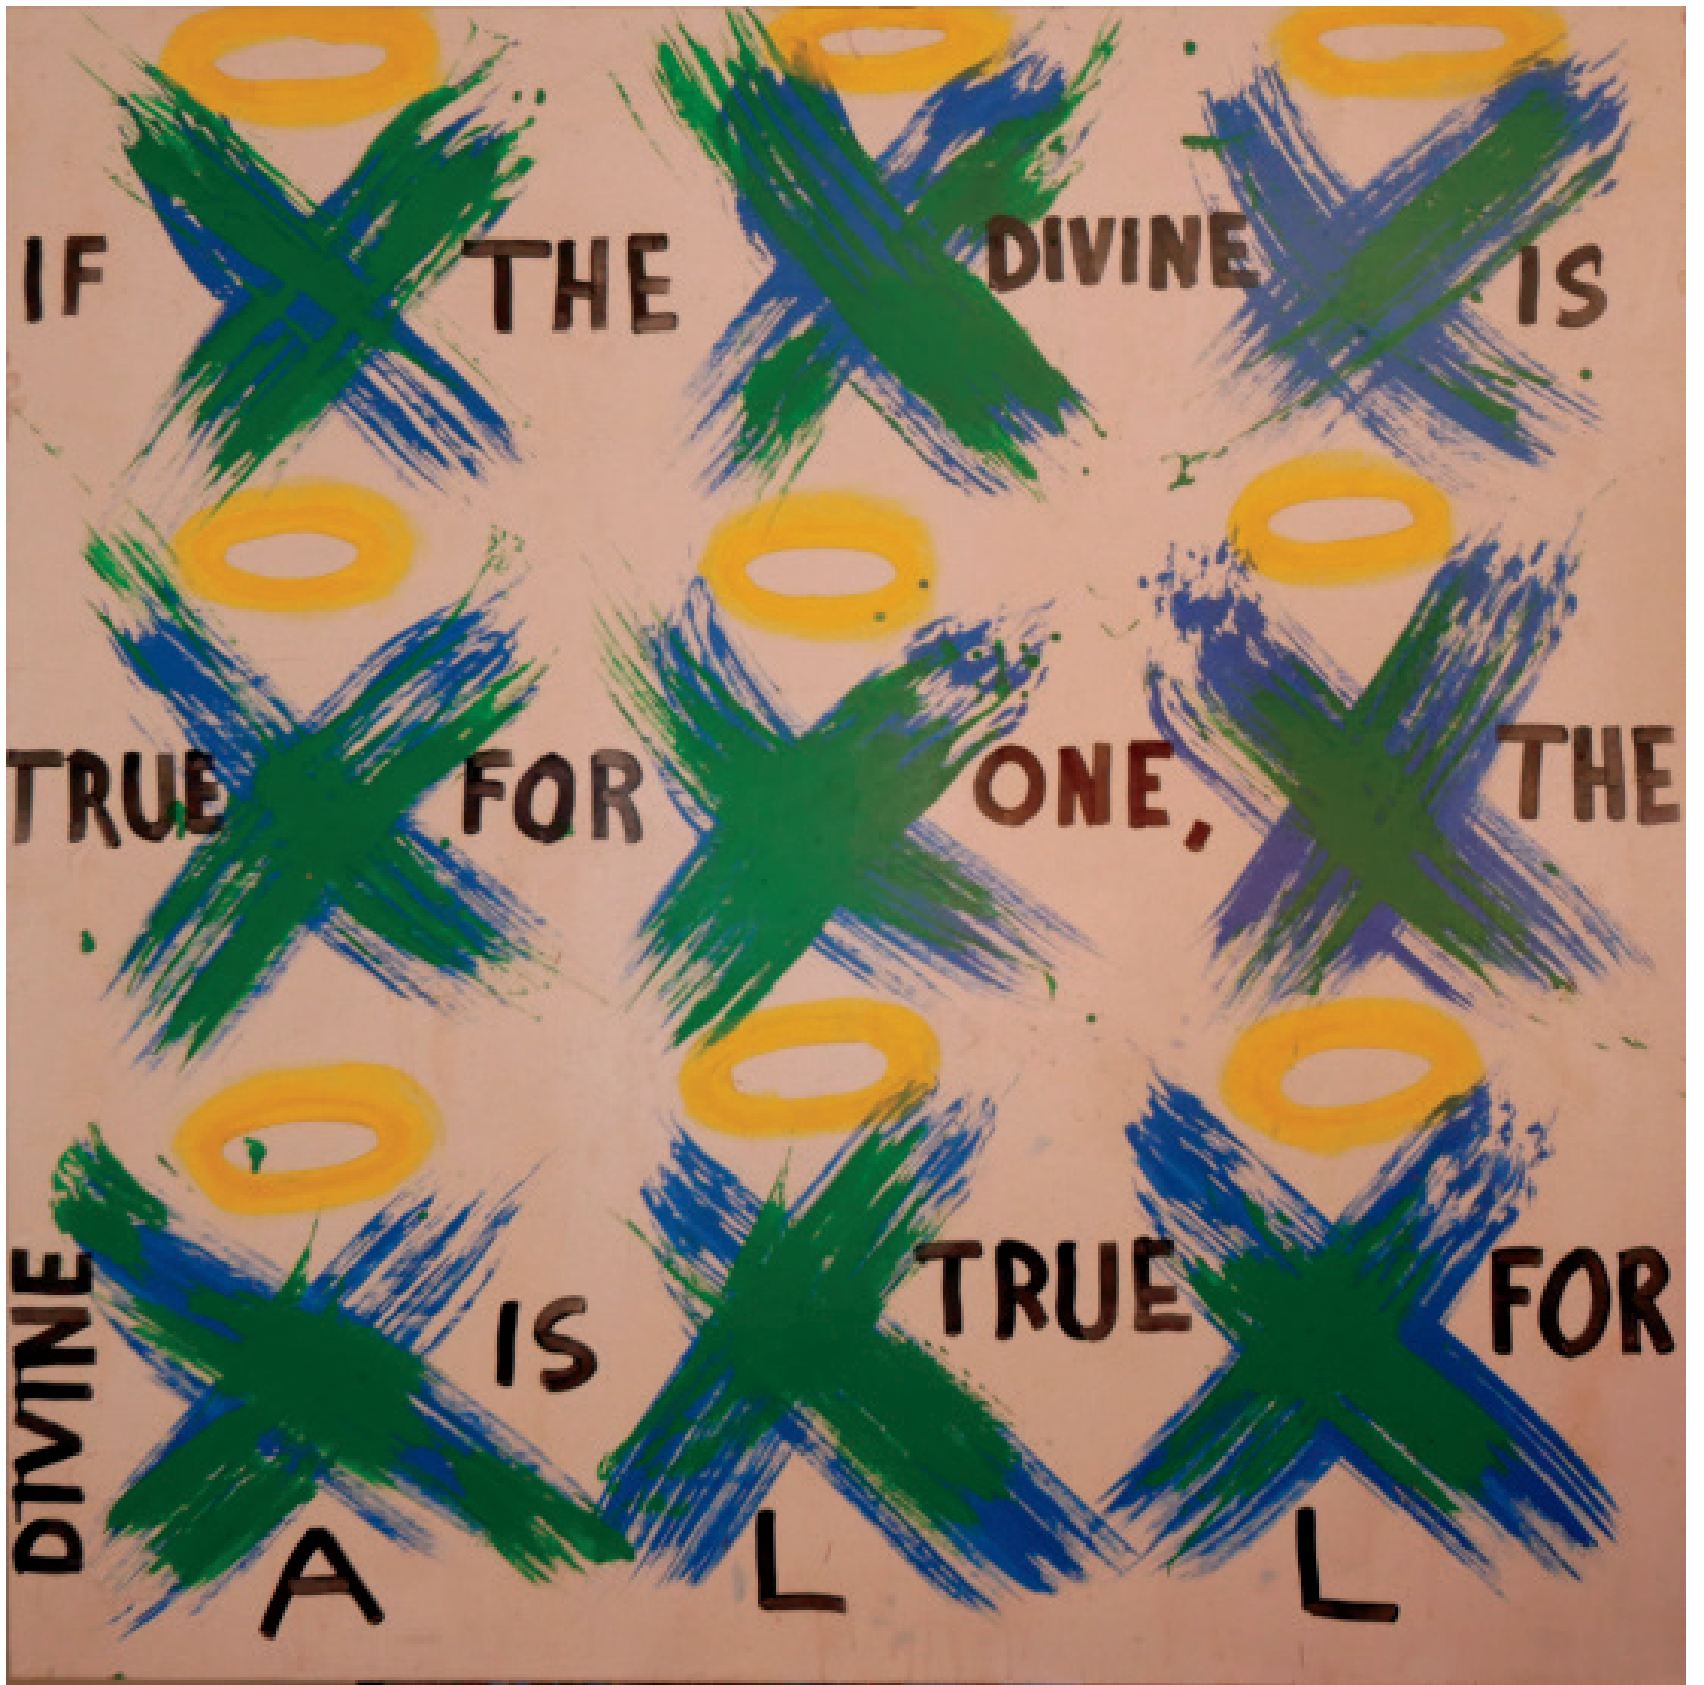

Open up enough for you to be a transformational shift for those who experience you. How much more could I actually transform if I truly said yes?
(a lot, a fucking lot!)
Why am I still afraid to say yes?

Your mantra is "let us celebrate, the game of pretense is over."
Feel it coming, there is a celebration beginning within you.
Do the dance of the awakened diva.
The contextual truth is the one that surrenders.

I surrender.
It is as simple as
"let it happen now"

Put a Divine end to the story of you.

Rest in peace,

while you yet live gloriously.

TRUE FOR ALL 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,074

If the Divine is True for one, the Divine is true for

ALL

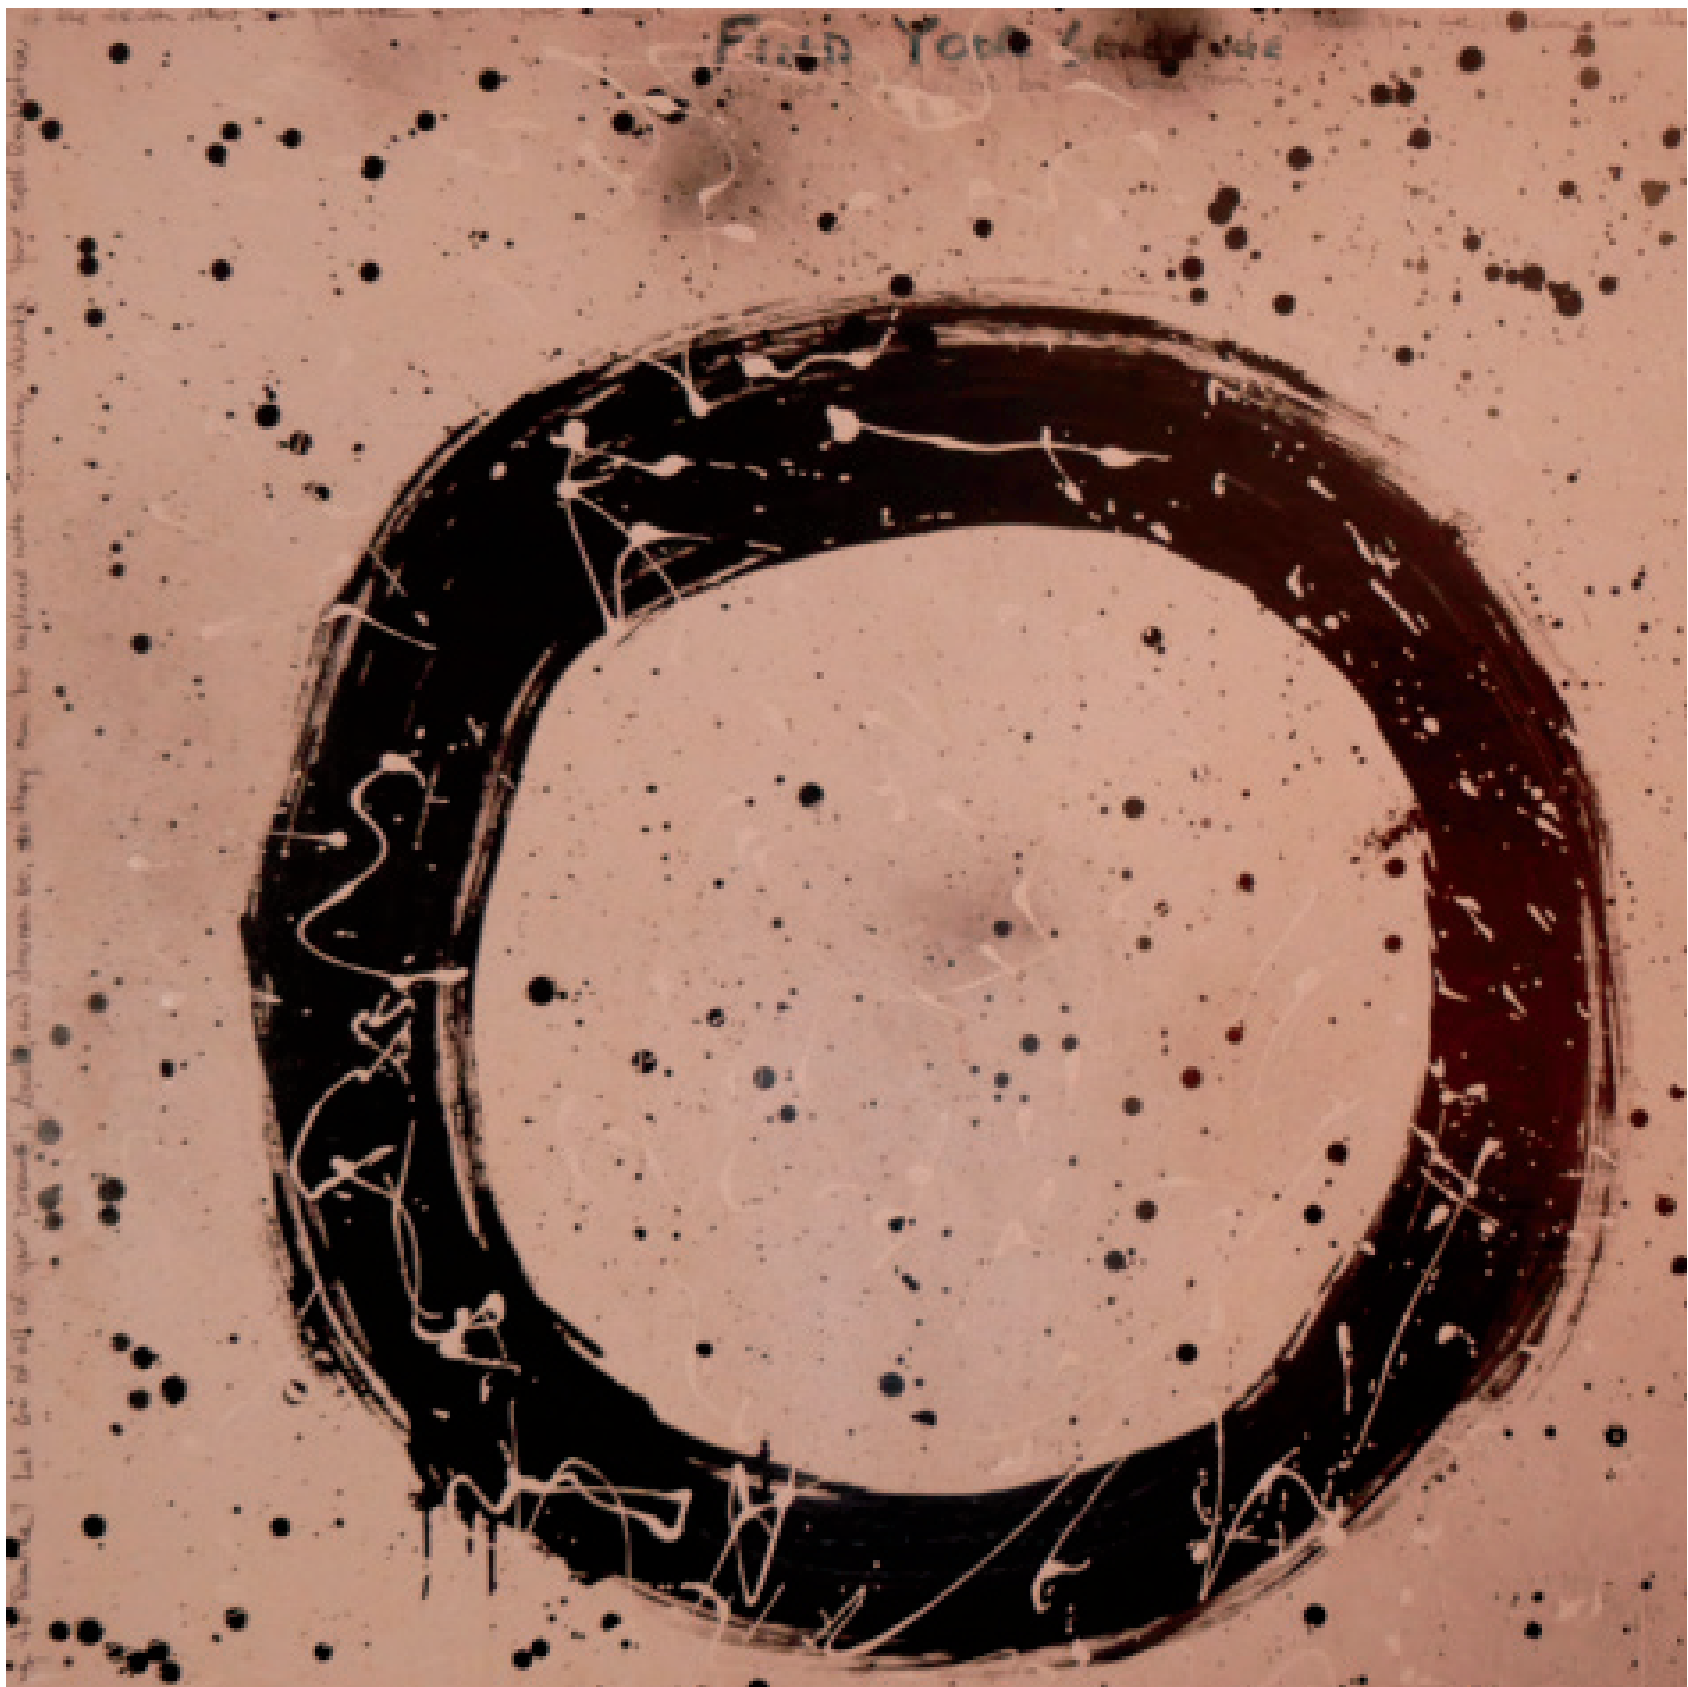

Quit looking to others to tell you what is real.

Quit looking to others to take care of you.

Take care of yourself and challenge your every perception to test it's accuracy and then in choosing your own wholeness, move as your eternal nature and take care of those you love that welcome your assistance.

The light of awakening radiates into the space that surrounds your body and changes it. Including the people you come into contact with and they in turn change and pass it on as their own awakened radiance. Thus so, reality changes. You awaken first and then reality around you awakens, relax and let it happen to you. Beingness does not transfer from one person to another. Beingness is truth, not thoughts, not ideas or beliefs.

FIND YOUR GRATITUDE AND YOU WILL BE THE ONE WHO KNOWS TRUTH 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,076

Find your gratitude.

When you are looking for that which is holy,
don't forget to carefully examine your own nature.

Begin with opening to gratitude, Continue opening,
until gratitude fills your body, mind and soul.

That which is holy heals. Find the holiness that is hidden In your heart and let it flow. Let it flow until you love yourself and love your life, The truth of Divine gratitude. Now wouldn't that be a fine thing to realize?

Let go of all of your dreams, goals and desires, so that they can be replaced with something valuable;
Your self-realization of the truth that sets you free:
Your Divine actuality and you will find the one who knows truth.

CHOOSE INSTEAD THOSE WHO LOVE LIFE 2023, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,077

I serve willingly, but I do not choose to associate with those who choose to enforce or coerce my servitude.

I choose instead those who love life, both theirs and others.

I choose to serve those who consciously choose to be at peace,
to love others,
to love themselves and to lead by example and leave force and lies to the trolls who have yet to understand their bridge to oneness and so choose to hide from it in the shadows.

Their time of joy will come but, it is not for us to open them, not when the Divine celebration of life has already begun and the party of eternity is awaiting our perfectly timed arrival.

“Party on Garth.”

What does it take to make a decision effectively enough that Everything Actually changes? Where Moment, day or evening of change, but a life change as a result of one experience? How do you hear a New Truth experience of hanging out with divine, universal, revelant, wise beings? Can you just Level of experience? Yes, of course you can you just do it. If there is a Christ consciousness, the consciousness, whatever the peak experience it is that whatever master you look to as bringing the true for them, is true for everyone else too. Not circumstantially true, but eternally true. So if as the best that has ever been, (and you are) then the only difference is in the manifest circumstances you became real and true in your wholeness. I don't want to say what the Roadmap is for that, I want wake up and be free. Let it happen. And when you let it happen to you, you let it happen to the Let it happen for me. We must be honest in dealing with the future that we have and are looking for of themselves to come out right now. Because in fact, a having a strong direct experience of others your friends should be able to see that. I don't want to say that it's a secret of being and Bliss. Where is it for that? That's what we need to share. Really with as you are moving in you To the degree that you need to, you need to do it. You need to be there. Because the more that you do own, where it has become you, and you know it. After you stay there when you are in it, and That's all you are really asking for. For you to be as good as best with others. For you to be the best to yourself and to others. But does it in a way that is a way that is New? Not really, and it's not consciousness, and it's not supporting. No blame for anybody, because even now, there is here awaken and we are not here doing the best that we can. We can, we can, we can, we can, we can.
more of you, and there are more of you. There are more of you. There are more of you. There are more of you.
rock of being a part of a group of people. It's not a rock. It's a group of people. It's a group of people.
isn't it? He's not a person. He's a person. He's a person. He's a person. He's a person. He's a person. He's a person.
it's my ego asking for a different kind of guidance. It's my ego asking for a different kind of guidance.
have to feel that there is a different kind of thing. It's my ego asking for a different kind of guidance.
about that. That's what I want to do. I want to do. I want to do. I want to do. I want to do. I want to do.
up to your shoulders. It's up to your shoulders. It's up to your shoulders. It's up to your shoulders. It's up to your shoulders.
getting really good now. Each time you notice that. Each time you notice that. Each time you notice that.
Some simple rules, as simple as that. Some simple rules, as simple as that. Some simple rules, as simple as that.
no longer in charge. You are no longer in charge. You are no longer in charge. You are no longer in charge.
Universe because universal wholeness is what it is. Universal wholeness is what it is. Universal wholeness is what it is.
follow a good aspects of your self, you are no longer in charge. You are no longer in charge. You are no longer in charge.
AND I am here now to be whole. More of you, more of you, more of you, more of you, more of you, more of you.
Right now, stop holding on to your limitations. Right now, stop holding on to your limitations. Right now, stop holding on to your limitations.
such a shift, with so much density, so much need, so much need, so much need, so much need, so much need, so much need.
New Beginning stay in the flow? Of truth, of understanding, of wisdom? As long as there is pain and suffering
New Beginning, it can be a lot of it. Not pushing it out, but opening up to feel

OPENING UP TO YOUR RADIANCE WITHIN YOUR SUFFERING 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,078

Opening up to your radiance within your suffering, is what saves you.

What does it take to make a decision effectively enough that everything actually changes? Where it is not a moment, day or evening of change, but a life change as a result of one experience? How do you have the impact of a near death experience of hanging out with Divine, universal, benevolent, wise beings?

Can you just open to that level of experience? Yes, of course you can. You just do it. If there is a Christ consciousness, Krishna, or Buddha consciousness, whatever the peak experience it is that whatever master you look to as being the best: whatever is true for them, is true for everyone else too. Not circumstantially true, but eternally true. So if you are the same as the best that has ever been. (and you are) then the only differences is the manifest circumstances. How much you become real and true in your wholeness. I don't want to say what the road map is for that, I want to say, you become real and true in your wholeness. I want to say, wake up and Be Free. Let it happen to you and when you let it happen to you, you let it happen to the people around you.

Let it happen for me. We should primarily be interacting with the friends that we have that are looking for the best versions of themselves to come out right now, that are intent on having a magnificent experience of themselves. That's who your friends should be: the ones that are intent of experiencing themselves with a sense of wonder and amazement and bliss. Whoever is up for that, that's who you want to share reality with.

As you are moving in your transformation to the degree that you need to, you need to do this on your own, alone. Because the more that you do this on your own, where the flow becomes you and you become the flow, then you stay there when you are interacting with others. That's all you are really asking for is for you to be at your best with others.

For you to be the you that is true to yourself and true to others and does it in a way that is non destructive and life supporting, that is consciousness supporting and freedom supporting, no blame for anybody, because everyone is here to open and awaken and we are all here doing the best that we can.

You can be a little bit greedy and spend more of your time with those who are further along in their journey. It's ok to have a life hack of being with a lover or a group of transcendent beings. That's the whole point isn't it? Heaven on earth, The Divine in form, within creation. So for much of this its my ego asking the questions and finding this a difficult process. It's because you first have to feel that sense of self, that thing that is you or has been defined as you. That is afraid and that is where you have to wake up to your radiance within your suffering, that is what saves you.

Each time that you realize that you've gone unconscious again, then there should be some simple rules: as soon as you realize that you are operating unconsciously, you're no longer in control, you are no longer in charge. Your job has changed to waving the white flag of surrender. You're surrendering yourself back to the universe, because universal wholeness and universal truth is you.

So you surrender your defined aspects, your lost and fallen injured aspects of yourself. You surrender them back to the Divine and eternal. You say: here I am "a sinner" and I am here now to be whole. More of your life has to unwind. The solidify, the pain, the suffering, all gets to dissipate right now.

Stop holding on to your limitations "It's a new day, Its a new life for me and Im feeling good". But it's such a shift, wow, so much density, so much unconsciousness, unraveling. So what's next for our new beginning? How does this new beginning stay in the flow of truth, of understanding, of wisdom? As long as there is pain and suffering in your body, that's where you open up and embrace it, open up and let it go. Not pushing it out, but opening up to feel it and understand it.

When you fully acknowledge something, then it has fulfilled the purpose of its being. Everyone of those things is between you and your instantaneous awakening. Connect to it all. Look at it, feel it, understand it, know it and in that understanding they dissipate, they unwind, they unravel. They are used as fuel for the fire of transformation. You feel it, you acknowledge it and you let it go. It's not supposed to be you as the irresistible force against the immovable object. You are both moveable and you're both irresistible enough so that there is a flow between you and the experience of reality.

The point that you wake up is when you realize that you have fallen asleep again and you choose again to feel it, acknowledge it and love the life you are.

You are free.

THE UNIVERSAL TRUTH OF SELF 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,082

The celebration of Life and consciousness has begun.

You are invited
in fact,
this is the celebration of Your life and your consciousness.

Thank you for being you,
Thank you for being true.

We all love
the life that you are,
the consciousness that you share as the Universal Truth of Self.

YOU AND I WERE ALL WRONG ABOUT THE TRUTH OF YOU 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,083

Part 1:

Just because you know what you know and you've learned what you have learned, doesn't mean that's defining of the greater truth of you. It's context. That You which loves, is a superior reality to all context.

You love your daughter.

Your daughter loves you.

No other explanation,
no other context.

Everything else is just something that comes and goes into existence and then passes out again it's temporal. We have a temporary existence here.

Part 2:

A temporary one, we have a human body that houses our soul, that somehow when we take on the body, whatever it is that we were before we were born, that we return to after we die, that is what we are trying to get clear on here. We're not trying to solve some minor problems about which point of view is right. When two people have two different points of view, there are an infinite number of points of view. It's not just you and her. You want to be wise and you want to be the truth of yourself. It will be more of a universal more of a cosmic point of view of self awareness than one that is identified within one particular tradition. A beautiful tradition, an honorable tradition and an amazing tradition for creating and organizing the structure of life, so that life is predictable, where the needs of your body, the children and the family are being met. Well done to the entire tradition on that. But, your tradition in addition to many others, knows that there is a reality that is "Home" that isn't "this". This is some sort of debilitating reality where none of us can remember or exist as our eternal nature, our eternal truth: Wherever our soul is when it is one with God. That's your daughter's objective: to be one with God not the context of her temporary identity which isn't really real or true. By that I mean things that unnecessarily limit her to herself, causes her not to organize her thoughts and behaviors in such a way that she doesn't challenge her own limited truth. She has allowed "stories" to be TRUE. Imagine that "This is a True Story" there has never been a story that was true. There is what is real, then there is what they say about something that has already happened and is gone. The truth is not found in stories, only the pointers. You have to leave it all behind and the biggest one that you have to forgive and leave behind is yourself. If we are Divine Beings, if we are Children of God, if we are what happens when God's consciousness embodies in humanity.

Isn't it for each one of us to realize that for ourselves?

A NEW GAME 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,085

Once consciousness has Identified itself as an object, then changing the subjective reality requires a reset.

When an aspect of reality requests a reset, it resets everyone and begins a new game.

At this particular time, it is OK for you to ask for a reset of your reality.

“I would like a Reality Reset Please”

As the flow begins to move again, it begins to move faster and faster and faster. The more that you keep your attention on that, whatever it is that you feel, it's like surfing a wave of responsibility. Where you are connected to freedom and suffering at the same time. And as you surf on that wave, one foot in freedom and one foot in suffering, so you're right at the point of creation and destruction.

The past limitations are being destroyed and the new creations opening into freedom and ability, are creating a new world for you.

A new universe actually, a new you. The new beginning. At this level of awareness, I have some stuck levels and areas in my neck and shoulders, and now I can open up, feel it and have them move instantly. This type of confronting creates a flow that actually moves you. You move from pain to pain, limitation to limitation, and as you open into it, it moves directly into the flow and is absorbed.

There's no dam's anymore. The content is still there, but there are no more barriers to it. Open into feeling everything, without confronting anything as a problem. You're not blaming anybody else and you are taking responsibility yourself. But you're not blaming yourself either. You're just assessing the feelings and understanding what is.

As soon as you feel something that's hard, you fully grab it, feel and understand it, until whatever that creation was, was embraced, heard, and understood. Until the lies within it dissolved away. And thus the fabric of its existence disappears. I have some great friends and good supporters, even though I am unconscious nearly every moment of every day. So beginning to feel free in your own body, what a blessing that would be, and I am beginning to sense how possible that is for me. There are pains that I am still dealing with, that feel impossible to resolve, but each second I stay connected to it, it opens up more and more, and is resolved more and more.

This is working for me, and I hope for you too. A continuous realization where, as soon as I feel the pain and sorrow, the regret and suffering. That is my signal that I have gone unconscious, and now I embrace it until the flow begins and I continue to embrace it in the flow so that it flows faster and faster and faster. Beginning with the first thing that you confront, and then the next one, and the next one.

The content really doesn't matter once the flow begins. It doesn't matter what it is. If it's limitations, pains, sorrows, suffering and ego, all you have to do is let it flow through you. It's just as simple as staying in the flow and if you're not in the flow, you connect with everything that is solid until it begins to flow and it begins to flow quickly as soon as you are not judging it as good or bad and who was responsible and who wasn't. Because you can't do this, and be a victim, or because you gave someone else the power of creation over you. When somebody else is in charge, what can you do?

Things are refining nicely for me right now, my first smile of the evening. To effectively deal with your pains, sorrows, and regrets. Is to notice that you were thinking and talking from an unconscious point of view and regretting the past. "Instead of waking up, I was being a victim there, even if I was just being a victim of my own unconsciousness."

As soon as you were in the mode of trying to figure it out, that's your signal to yourself that you are not being yourself and your consciousness is back into a state of right and wrong, good and evil. Leaving you in a mental state of "I am the only one that is right and yet I am 100% completely wrong." And if you try to fix that, which means solve it, right? It also means stuck and in place. "Fix" is not the flow. A dam is fixed. Damnation is stuck, is bottled up, it's not flowing, it's not in the movement of creation.

Whenever you are feeling stuck, and you are trying to figure out the problem to "unstick" yourself. Then you were trying to validate a fallen state of consciousness as the truth of who you are. If you're trying to fix yourself from the "truth" that you are disabled, as soon as you realize that you are unconscious, then acknowledge that you are disabled. But you don't continue to own that as the defining fact of your personality and identity. These are temporary circumstances that can be gone in a fraction of a second, as soon as you open up and experience your wholeness again.

Your wholeness encompasses everything, there's nothing that you can feel, or imagine, or conceive, where your wholeness isn't there.

So all of those solidities that you feel in yourself, those shutdowns, those pains and unconsciousness. Your wholeness is there.
And so as soon as you feel that unconsciousness with your wholeness there in the same time and space: you feel your pain, suffering, and radiance at the same time.

That is where the flow begins, and you just stay in that experience of your life as the flow. You stay in the opening of the flow and allow everything to unwind. You allow this universe to be the way it is.
All of this suffering is caused by your unwillingness for your life to be natural. For your life to be in a state of flow. Because if you are in the flow and you are moving in wholeness and wisdom. Then everything that comes up there that is not quite right; you open, you embrace it, you feel it, you understand it, you let it go, and you make wise decisions about it. That's so much change for me, but it is so necessary .

Is there anything that we can add to this that will make it any better? Does it help to ask deities for assistance? Does it help to say; God, Jesus, Buddha, Krishna, Kali: "I would like to awaken fully now, would you join the party please." There should be a Divine celebration for your awakening, and in a real awakening, I think you would be there with all of your eternal friends. Everybody celebrating the fact that."you did it."

You came here to be the embodiment of Divine realization and celebration, and you did it against all odds, seemingly:

A new beginning has begun,
and finally the day has come,
where you will have your time,
in the sun.

The sun will find,
that it is at the center of it all,
within your heart,
you'll end your fall.

Open and be free,
for within you today,
I see
the new beginning,
the new way,
the new time is here
and moving for you.

It's a flow now, you're no longer damned. Doesn't mean that you're not waking up in painful circumstances, but now it is changing in every moment, now it is getting better. It's exciting to open to the flow and be in the flow and as that flow moves through us, it removes the definitions of who you are and releases and erases them.

So good luck, in realizing your truth that sets you free.

THE FOUNDATION OF THE UNCONDITIONAL LOVE OF ALL LIFE 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,092

Now is the time to allow universal intelligence to act upon you to reprogram your mind, your body and your awareness. Ask each fractal of the Universe to reset and adopt the foundation of the unconditional love of all life, all consciousness and all creation as its foundation. Feel yourself love the love of your life, the love of your self-awareness, the love you have for others. Allow your love for others to radiate to impact them so that they know that they are loved by you.

The background of the image is an abstract composition of horizontal brushstrokes. The colors are primarily teal, light blue, and white, creating a textured, painterly effect. The strokes vary in thickness and intensity, giving the background a sense of movement and depth.

Allow your gratitude to fill your heart, your mind, your body and radiate out through each of your connections.

Go outside today and open and receive love from all creation. Feel it, allow there to be a two-way flow where every individual loves
and is loved. Open open open, release, release release, it's a new
day. It's a new life for all and we're feeling good.

Allow your gratitude to fill your heart, your mind, your body and radiate through each of your connections.

Go outside today and open and receive love from all creation. Feel
it. allow there to be a two way
flow where every individual loves
and is loved. Open, open, open.
Release, release, release. It's a new
day. It's a new life for all and we're

OPEN AND RECEIVE 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,095

Part 1

OPEN AND RECEIVE

Part 2

Open and open more, until everything inside you dissolves and starts flowing. Continue to open and say yes to noticing the Divine within you.

When do you join the Divine celebration?

When do you notice that you're already free?

When do I?

When do we actually experience the truth that sets us free?

Can it be now?

Ask the Divine you know, to assist you in remembering your own Divine nature, your own Divine essence, your own Divine beingness, and stay open as you begin to experience the transformation. You only need to be willing to experience your transformation. If you're not experiencing it, it's because you are continually saying No. Begin to desire to be able to say yes to the transformation that you have continuously said No to up until now.

Desire to say yes.

Wish to say yes.

Hope to say yes.

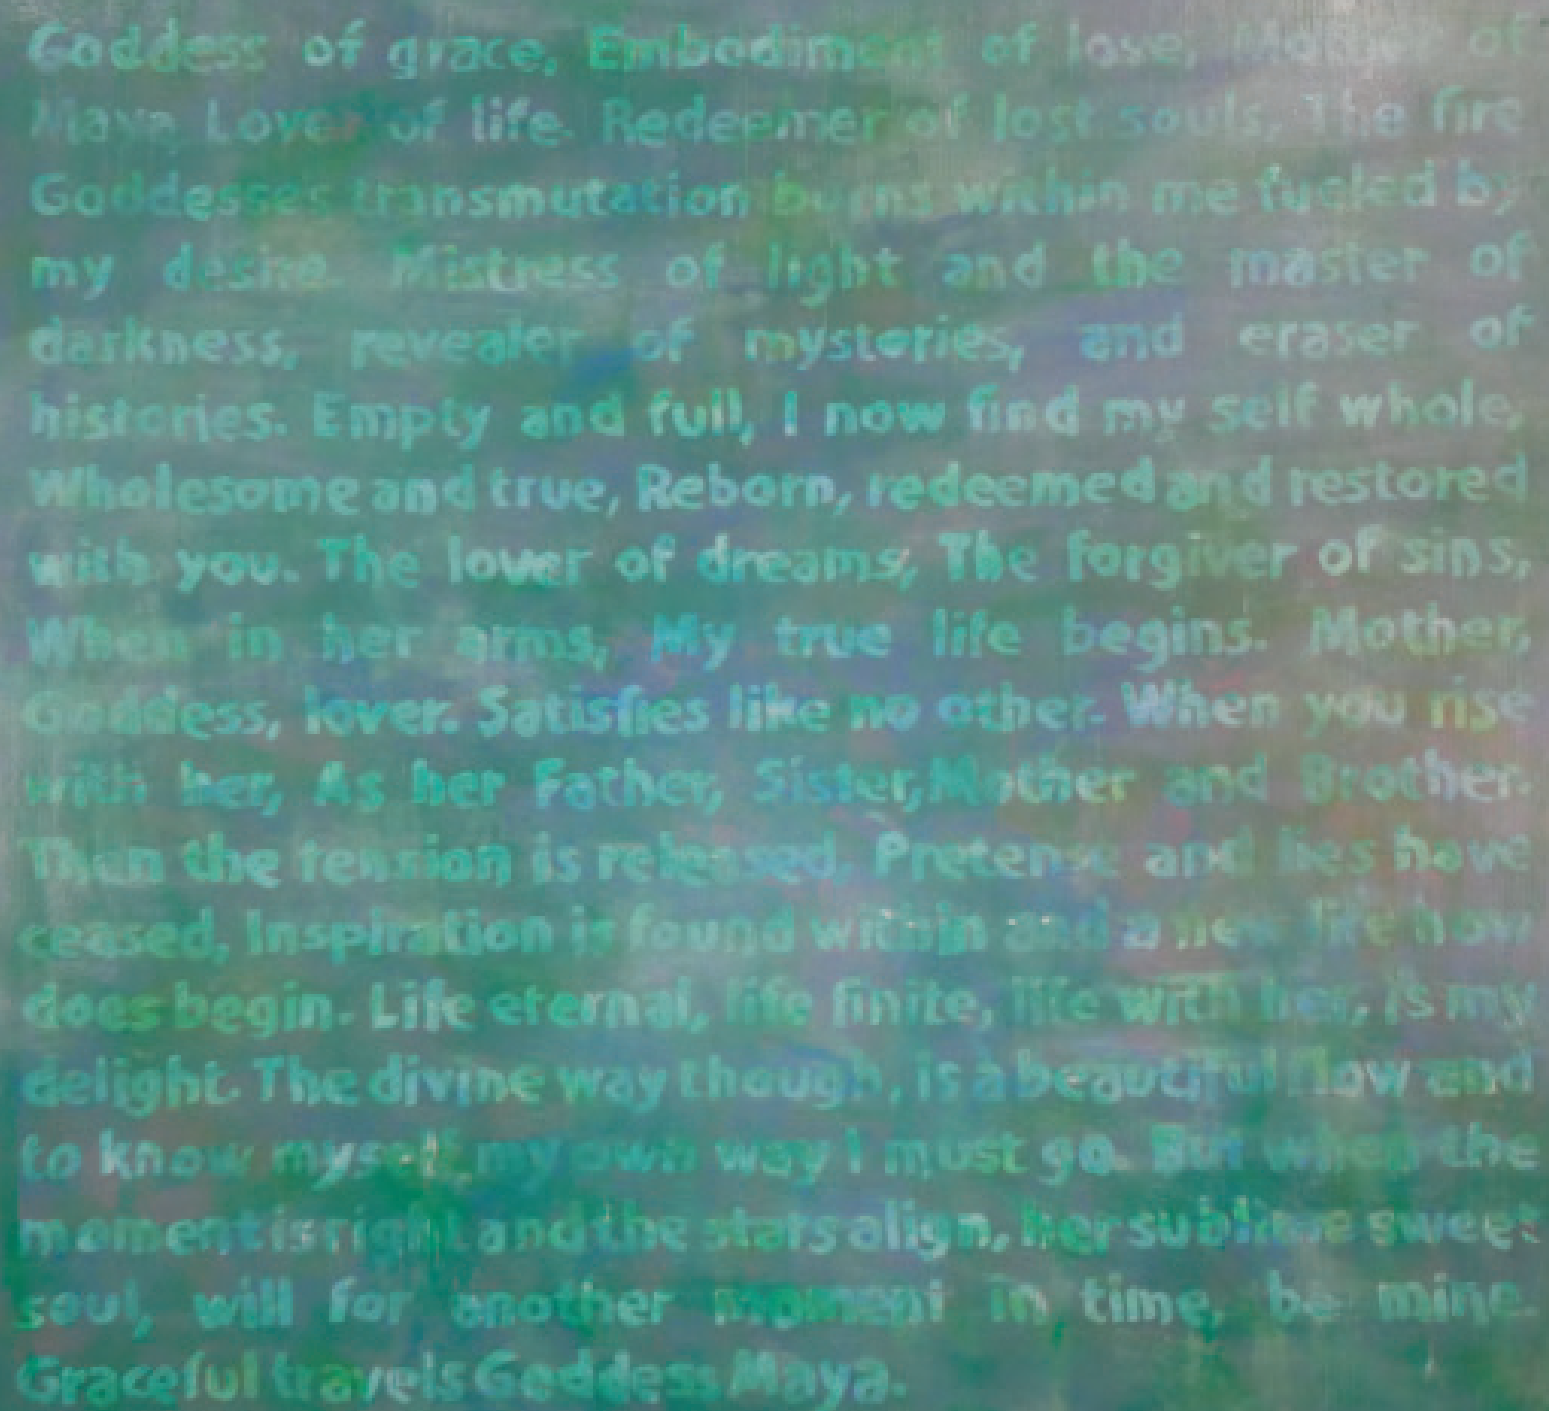

Begin to notice that for the first time you are now moving from a no to Divine realization, to a OMG I might do it. I just might get to yes to my self-realization. Notice what happens when you choose to be real, realized, awakened, present, in your wisdom. And Yes, you have all of that contextual reality still to deal with it and be responsible for.

Stay in your flow, stay open,
stay free,

you know that you are moving in the right direction in your choice, when you have an involuntary "I love my life" mini realization. That's the beginning of Divine realization. "I love my life and I never did before." "I love being me". And I love everything around me. Especially everything I use to hate. All are Divine. Notice that, and you gift the truth to others in their experience of you. You gift others their own self-realized truth as you live your own.

The universe will validate every limitation that you put on yourself. When do you know as a Divine being when it is ok for you not to limit yourself anymore? Is it ok for you to no longer maintain the structure of insanity in the human condition? In your own human condition? It would seem that you are now free to choose a Divine life or a profane one. IF you choose freedom, that's the Divine one. And your job is to get out of the way by saying yes, then opening and receiving.

Open and receive.

HOW YOU HAVE TRAPPED YOURSELF 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,098

Feel your body.
What you're feeling that you identify as you,
It is how you have trapped yourself.

Feel and realize, do it again, over and over,
until you have set yourself free.

Look at how you have trapped yourself,
until you are freed from your trap.

"I love, I love, I love I love".
Let it all go.

Let nothing have a hold on you.

You are your monitor, not anyone else.

No permission, other than yours is necessary for your awakening, your healing, your realization of truth.

Your unconditionally loving nature, remembered and returned with realization.

A GLIMPSE OF WHO YOU REALLY ARE 2023, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,099

What's good enough?

Is it good enough for you to be normal if you have a glimpse of who you really are? No it's not. Once you know what the truth is, it's incumbent upon you to embody it. You can't know the truth, your truth and be outside of it. It has to reorient your experience of who you are.

So let it feel what it is to be you and feel what it is to have the circumstantial you that is built upon your circumstance's and experience of this life and notice when all of that experience becomes an infinitesimal speck. When your wisdom, knowing, awareness and understanding of the universe and why the things are the way that they are? What happens?

Your truth is beyond your human knowing and understanding.

So, what is it to be good for you, once you reveal the truth?

It can't be a good person. It can't be healthy, happy, generous, compassionate and grateful. No, that's what a good citizen does, that's what a good human does. But what happens when you move beyond the veil and you remember who you are and you experience that wholeness, that fullness, that understanding, that being of an eternal creator?

Once you have experienced it, that's the new base line, you don't go back to lies, you allow the lies to see the truth and to be free from themselves. The lies are what is transformed, the truth is always free and the process of transformation is simply losing the lies that you have heard and said and know it wasn't true.

Just let the light of the eternal nature of you be in contact with that.

Be still and it will all shift, reorient and reformat according to the experience of truth instead of confusion, fear, misunderstanding and unconsciousness. It's difficult to be here if you are not here at your best, so when we talk, that's what we talk about:

we talk about how do we have a transformation shift?

How does reality become different for us?

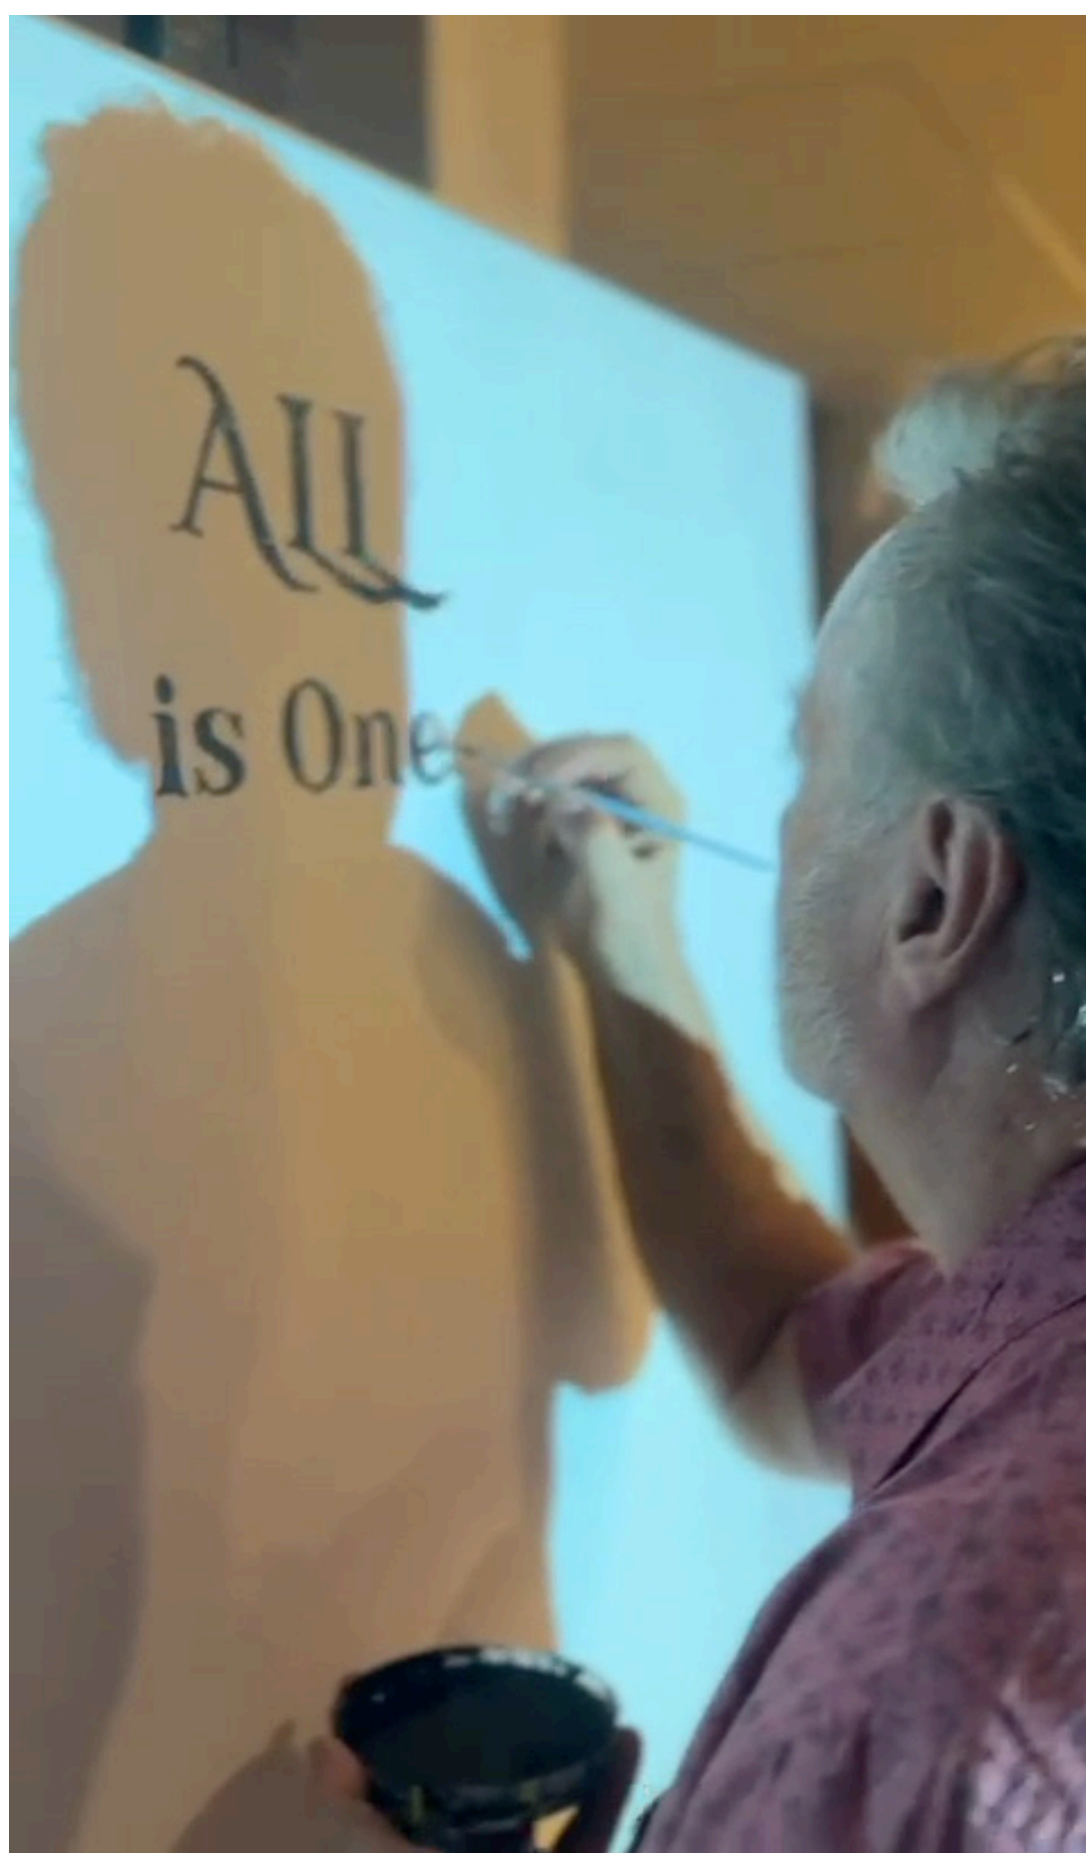

How is it that our personality, our experience of identify opens and experiences a self awareness that is transcendent and then for a time we are both that. Both the damned and the Divine at the same time and that's just the way that it is.

You are the paradox; heaven and hell, occupying the same space in the same mind, in the same body. Yes, breathe that in and be comfortable with it. It's what's real and what's real is what's true and it's the truth that sets you free. So allow yourself to realize the truth, what is real inside you. Because what is inside of us now, the vast majority of it is just lies. So when the truth sets you free, it sets you free from your confusion, from your miss-understanding, from your lies that you've said and the lies that you've read, heard and accepted as an appropriate map of reality for you. So what is an appropriate map of reality for you? Once you have a map of reality, you're not supposed to be confused anymore. You're not supposed to be afraid anymore. You know what to expect from each circumstance that wherein and when you know what to expect and you are aware. Then hopefully we can act in harmony with what we know, with what we see and with what we feel.

How do we feel and know, and see, and operate operate our wholeness? First we have to allow ourselves to experience something that we don't even know if it is real or not. But if it is real, If there is some transcendent truth about you that actually is the truth, then why would you not want to know all about that, and experience that for yourself? Because there is nothing sacred about being lost and being in fear and being ruled by traumas, belief systems, thoughts, ideas and, misunderstandings.

Take a look at that from a higher place. From the space where you have experienced your Divine nature. And look at the life down below, the connections and the way it moves, operates, and understands things. Then contemplate the fact that you may choose to come into that body with your Divine knowing, awareness and understanding and take residence there. But it is something that you have to choose, in the transformational phase. It is something you have to choose in each moment or you get knocked unconscious again. So here where we are heaven and hell equally, but our unconsciousness is so pervasive that, that is where our consciousness is and where we are trapped, that's where we are identified and we are a failed being that is separate from God and separate from the Divine and are lost in the darkness, confused, misunderstood and completely beside yourself in fear, anger, rage and confusions. So that's you and that's me and that's also us looking down at this circumstance, this mess of contextual truths held together by lies and willingly move consciously into that mess of a human misadventure into life. But it's what you've got, it's your home here. The life that you have here is the one that you are in, so open up to your truth sufficiently that you can experience a miraculous transformation for the better. Allow yourself to be changed right now. Allow everything that has defined you that has been less than Divinely self-realized and aware, to dissolve and fall away and be unraveled with the lies that have held it together, as they burn off in the light of your grace, your truth, your flow of unconditional love and compassion.

Shed that old you it's an old snake skin, it does not fit anymore, let it all go, let everything that does not fit your eternal nature and your noble soul. Allow all of those creations to be set free now. Just let them go and say "Good Luck". Enjoy moving into your mastery now instead of your pretense. That's what we are contemplating right now. Each one of us is asking ourselves: is our mastery in life something that I am choosing to say yes to, right here, right now? Do I choose my mastery, my awakening, my self-realization, my enlightenment, right here and right now?

Each of us is here specifically to awaken in the moment of now and allow our identity to shift in the experience of it. Allow your awakening to shift your reality to the point where that awakening is a shift in your mindset and personality.

Flow in your embodiment of Divine Truth.

GOD IS AT HOME AS YOU 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,101

God is at home as you and that is a beautiful thing

God's reality, God's body, God's truth. Set God free within the experience of you and me. The Divine embrace is our surrender to our realization. Re-making, Re-mapping, Re-membering our reality of Divine freedom.

God's body, God's mind, God's reality.
Not the body of limitation, the body of eternal life, eternal freedom, eternal creation.

Allow God in you.

The awakening of the Divine within the body of you fulfills the purpose of life.

The creator awakened within and as the creation.

Gods body, not mine, frees the conscious back to its Divine origin.

God's heart not mine.

Individual freedom is fluid within the infinite free expression of Divine creation, moving in infinite new and beautiful ways.

Sometimes it takes a journey to realize your truth.

All ages and all people have their heroes journey.

WELCOME HOME

Let go of the significance of life, it has no meaning or place in eternity. There is no significance to the opening and awakening as to who or what gets credit. There is nothing but God. Notice that and the story of you will finally have had its happy ending.

Be at peace my friend.

All is well.

Now as that makes your Body Pure Liquid, the solidities loosen up, dissolve and begin to flow of your consciousness that can't be defined, can't be measured, can't be quantified, because there is nothing that can compress it. there is Nothing greater than your existence. Now, looking Back at that Little Universe that you created. at a time of 14 Billion years ago, that you populated with your consciousness so that forms and structures of life and matter could exist and be self aware to some degree.
 Putting a little attention back on that universe: "oh, it's been a while. I wonder which aspects of myself are ready to

HOW DIVINELY AWARE ARE YOU? 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,102

Part 1:

How Divinely aware are you?

How much of the celebration of what it is to be Divinely present, with your Divine friends having such a beautiful time of it all:
Completely free, Completely you, Completely true,
Alpha and Omega, the Beginning and the End,
the creator consciousness that created the universe and gave it space to exist in are you?

That's You Too.

Now as that makes your body more liquid, the solidities loosen up, dissolve and begin the flow of your consciousness that can't be defined, can't be measured, can't be quantified, because there is nothing that can comprehend it.

There is nothing greater than your existence. Now, looking back at that little universe that you created at a time of 14 billion years ago that you populated with your consciousness so that forms and structures of life and matter could exist and be self-aware to some degree. putting a little attention back on that universe.
“Oh, it's been a while. I wonder which aspects of myself are ready to transcend the human condition, move beyond identity and limitation and embody the creator consciousness?”

The truth of the creator, the understanding of the creator, the love of the creator? Which body? Which bodies? Which bodies are ready to be the temple of the creator? How about yours?
How about mine? The temple of the creator.

The temple of the creator? You are. this body, this self awareness, it's chosen. It chose itself simply by saying no less often to being chosen, to being one to experience what it is to know its truth so completely that it's free from lies, free from doubts, free from almost any limitation.

How much of that creator consciousness are you willing to now bring into your body? Not from within, pulling it into the body. But from without, coming in from a distance. Look at your body now from 20' away as creator consciousness. How much of your truth are you going to put into your body?

Your body does not have self-awareness apart from you. It's all your choice, you are not imposing anything on anyone. It's just another life form that has operated with a tiny tiny, tiny, amount of your self-awareness and consciousness. So how much are you going to invest of your truth now in this body? How much more will it take for this body to have mastered life and mastered reality? To have been the spark of remembrance that brings everybody else into a state of embodying their own truth? Their own truth as they awaken as the Divine creator within the creation for them?

So you first please. You have prepared yourself for it and now let everything else be undone. Everything bow's to the creator in you and then it loses hold of the limitation of its consciousness and joins you in the celebration of the Divine life.

That's your mission here I believe. Never be content with your level of consciousness, that your foundation, that your static reality as you move through time and space here, if it is less than Divine celebration in that moment. In every moment that is not a Divine celebration of you, by you, for you and for everyone else. That's when you surrender everything upon the alter of Divine truth and surrender it to the Divine to burn every lie. All of those impossible connections and circumstances that you have, or at least I have, you know they will all work themselves out. In Divine self-awareness and understanding it will be easy to resolve any imbalances.

Being Divinely realized is not going to be a burden to you and it's not going to create a negative effect on anyone else either. It will be the opposite, you will be the spark, the inspiration, the invitation, to remember, the ability for them to see in your eyes, their truth.

Yes, let the past ways go. All of the ways to stabilize yourself, all of the ways to improve yourself, all the ways to protect yourself, all the ways to influence others. All the strategies, all the systems, all of the understandings, all of the knowledge. When you awaken, you don't need to be burdened by the past, even if it is all good, because every accomplishment is never transcended.

Yes, good, thank you. Nice. Awaken and be free. Let everything celebrate your awakening. The furniture, the walls, the floor, the rocks, the plants, the animals, the insects. Let everything around you experience your truth, so that they naturally experience their own and together you share that Divine celebration of life and consciousness, of being, of presence. The truth that releases the body from all of the emotional burs, all of the collective unconsciousness, all of the cellular memories, all of the no longer needed or appropriate animal instincts.

The Divine awakened as you and you Divinely free. It's a pure pleasure to experience your surrender, how open you are to your own transformation and how that influences me to do the exact same thing. That's your gift, that's your actual truth, that's your value to the world. The world chooses its freedom when it interacts with you. Ultimately free, not just contextually, not just from one point of view. Universal freedom within the experience of one. The universal within the singular. Everything resolved, everything harmonized, everything within the synchronicity, within the wholeness, the fullness, the completion of you. And from there I will treasure every minute that we share together.

You owning your truth will make you the most valuable person that anybody knows, one that everybody cherishes, one that everybody feels blessed that: "oh my gosh I was in the same town at the same time, I sat in the same chair that she sat in yesterday." That's for the heart. The respect for true holiness, the life that is the truth, the truth of grace, the truth of compassion, the truth of love, the truth of honor, the truth of god.

KNOW YOURSELF AS THE FREE FLOW 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,105

Part 1:

Know yourself as a free flow.

Part 2:

Look at yourself from God's point of view,
where the universe itself is a very insignificant thing.

Realize that this is all Gods and so are we. Surrender everything in you to God. Quit disabling yourself by trying to hold onto what is not yours: (the past.)

You are an open vessel for the creator to see from, receive, act through, and enjoy walking you around the universe.

(And maybe a little beyond.)

If you are trying to get rid of something, you're owning it or it would not be there.

You don't have to figure your way out of your traps and your needless limitations.

When you notice your pains, traumas, your trapped and unconscious energies. Remember they are not for a body to possess. They are only supposed to be an experience of a moment that is now long past.

Whatever it is that you feel or think, it's all Gods, none of it is yours. Hoarding your traumas the way that you do, is stealing from God, (and as you may find out yourself ) so you feel bad, and cut yourself off from the infinite, the eternal, the sublime, and your own truth. Turn this life around now, it's time. Let it all go down the drain to be recycled. Stop trying to be permanent, return to the free flow and, know yourself as the free flow.

WHEN YOU DELVE TOO FAR INTO THE MYSTERIES OF CONSCIOUSNESS 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,106

it's great to explore,
but know that when you delve too far into the mysteries of consciousness, you will not be prepared for what you find.

However, if you prepare the best that you can,
you will likely find,
that the giants, monsters, demons and angels, are less than deadly and will welcome an open mind and an open heart.

That's when things get interesting. When you let the mystery reveal itself to you, regardless of what your previous map of reality was.

Knowing what is and why, is infinitely better than being comfortably in your not-knowing. Ask for the truth.
Open to receive it and allow your receiving of your truth to set you free.

Do keep in mind that each shift in your expansion of your conscious, changes who you are. So, when you accept truth, it changes you. But the totality of your understanding of the truth will continue to change as you continue to open, receive and grow.

YOU ARE THE CREATOR 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,109

How do you retain maximum consciousness within the limitations of creation? We have to re-ask the question:
how much of our eternal truth and sublime nature can be we all allow the body to have and still behave as a human? Still have a working body? Still be willing to interact with others?

As the creator of the universe, we look at the universe in our hand and into space and time and find this body reading these words, we ask ourselves how much of our creator consciousness can we operate the body with, where it is still a useful tool in the game of life?

Now things are changing. I am personally here now. That is the change point from which you are able to transform yourself and reality.

YOU ARE THE CREATOR

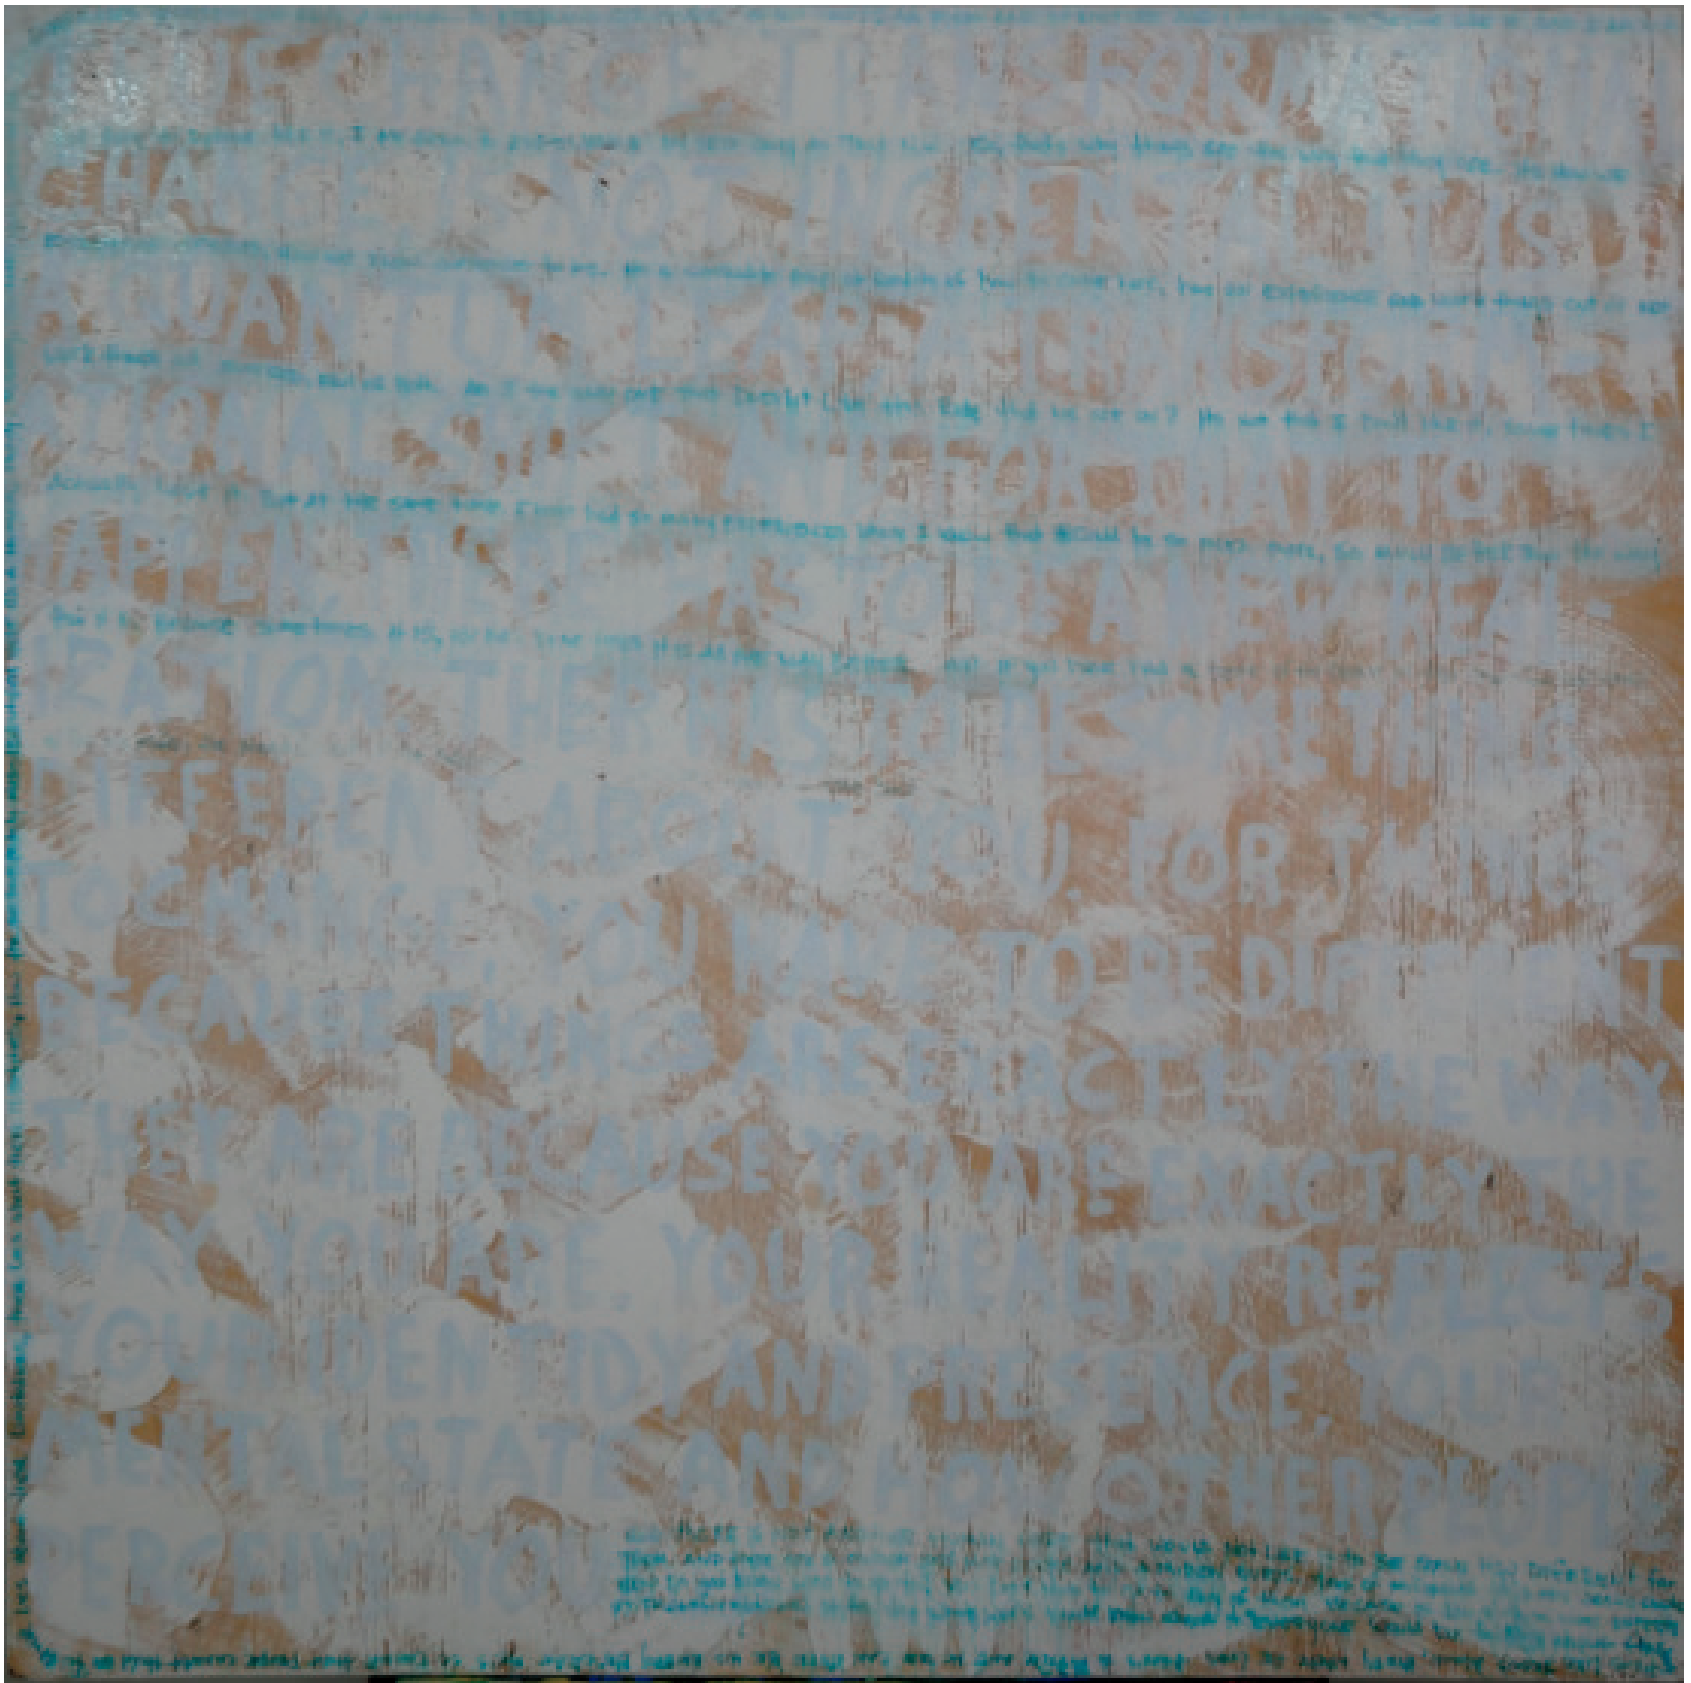

Notice that always.
The universe is in the palm of your hand and that is helping you change your reality

Look around and you will see we now live in a world where the miraculous and the Divine are embodied by living beings.

When you find this to be true,
instead of being jealous,
be grateful that you made the shift to where the miraculous is observable by you.

You're doing great,
you really are.
Let go of your solidities and join the free flow again.
It becomes you,
when you allow it to.

TRANSFORMATION CHANGE IS NOT INCREMENTAL IT IS A QUANTUM LEAP 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,111

Part 1

True change,
transformational change,
is not incremental.
It is a quantum leap,
a Transformational shift.

And for that to happen, there has to be a new realization.
There has to be something different about you for things to change.
You have to be different, because things are exactly the way they are. Because you are exactly the way you are, your reality reflects your identity and presence, your mental state and how other people perceive you.

Part 2

And there is not another human here that would not like it to be somehow different for them and there are a million self help books and a million gurus, tens of millions of teachers and life coaches.
How do you know who to go to?

You don't have to go to any of them,
because if any of them were experts at transformational shifts,
the whole world would know about it.
“Everyone would be talking about this guy thats just like Jesus again.

Everywhere he goes, theres a miracle and no one can even be his enemy, because he is so Divine.” The people cannot hold onto their lies about their limitations, their lies about their identities, how they so completely misidentified here as a human, family, society, country you grow up in.

You configured yourself entirely according to form and structure.

Spirit said; “I am form and structure and I am going to behave like it and I am not just going to behave like it, I am going to experience myself only as that now.”

So thats why things are the way that they are.

Its how we experience ourselves,
how we know ourselves to be.

Its a workable map of reality of how to come here, have an experience and work things out or not work things out. Succeed, fail or both.

Am I the only one who doesn't like this ride that were on? Its not that I don't like it, sometimes I actually love it. But at the same time, I have had so many experiences where I know it could be so much more, so much better than the way that it is, because sometimes it is for me. Sometimes it is all the way better. And if you have had a taste of the Divine, of the transformational, of the majestic, the magnificence and of the sublime In a graceful way. When you come back, it is this.

[illegible]

YOU ASKED FOR ENLIGHTENMENT 2024, Acrylic on Wood Panel, 48" x 48", Edition Number: #10,112

You've asked for enlightenment, self realization and awakening. What do you think happens when that's been granted and now you wake up? You wake up where you are, in the circumstances you have put yourself in, because of your lower level of consciousness. You acted in accordance with your self-awareness, understanding, and your degree of spiritual wisdom that you allowed yourself to have and as a result of your not giving yourself enough freedom, you made a lot of mistakes. Because you kept yourself bound by something other than maintaining your self awareness on your eternal truth.

You have to stay present for your new beginning to happen. that begins with your experience of the truth, coming in from the flow that you experience when you have accepted who and what you are. Being at peace, with who, and what you are in this moment, begins the flow, and in that flow, the truth that sets you free is there.

The self realization comes in after self acceptance. Because if you have got to do something before you can be your truth here, then your truth is going to respect that by respecting your belief that you have some learning and understanding that that will take a long time to occur. If there is such a thing as an instantaneous realization and awakening in the moment, then, that is the only thing worth having is your being awake in this moment.

So be OK with you being exactly as you are, all of these pains, suffering, and solidity and suppressed emotions. They don't matter, they were a false alarm. Everything was OK and everything is still OK and in that turning of the alarms off by saying everything is OK "we're good with who we are here." Then every aspect of yourself can relax, open and surrender and remember itself. A restoration.

Allow your polarity to be cleaned up by your universal nature awakening as you. You just wake up In the circumstances you are in and yes they are painful. But that's where you wake up. However, your painful circumstances are where you awaken with a lot more consciousness and now you are a lot more aware of how messed up things have been. With you being OK with it, being grateful for the opportunity to awaken regardless of your circumstances, now you can have some fun.

Setting all of these prerequisites up for yourself before you can be, do and have something, is nuts. There are no more prerequisites for your self-realization. Whatever there were, have brought you to right here in this moment, where there is a suggestion that there is a real choice here and easily achievable in this moment. So just give yourself some approval. You're OK, you always have been OK and you always will be OK. You are a valuable being here, even in your unconsciousness you've chosen to be a benefit to others. So you're really not carrying that much baggage. It feels like a lot, it's horrible and disturbing, but wake up anyway in this moment, right in the middle of your disturbances. And be at peace with the fact that you're disturbed.

All of the things that disturb you? That's OK: you're waking up anyway right here and right now. It's your new beginning, it's my new beginning and with that, your body can take a deep breath, and have a cathartic release. I've been so tough on myself, and so unwilling to really say; "this is my reality and this is how it works for me, and this is how it will continue to work for me unless I figure out for it to become even better." Communicate your needs clearly to the world, so that: you get what you want.

Stop dealing with the wrong people. As soon as you find out that what you want from them, they are not going to give you, you can move on. Your self-awareness of your needs, desires, and your "must haves." Once you accept yourself, you can let go of all of the reasons that it is impossible for you to have what you want. All of the reasons that you shouldn't, why you don't deserve it. Can we really just grab hold of our personality and identity and merge our higher self with that and let whatever harmonic resonance occurs between the two?

What will happen is: whatever you thought and did and decided. All of the choices that you made in lower consciousness, when your radiance is consuming you, there is no input that is relevant other than that, everything else can't compete.

For that new beginning, that transformative one, where the present is transmuted into the future in the same moment. Where the future is your opening into your wholeness, the fullness of who you are, your competency, your wisdom. So, without making that a goal, because that doesn't work (striving for it) instantly. Whatever you do with great discipline and intent changes things of course. But, if you had not validated your lack, and identified in such a limited small minded way. Then you would've not had to work so hard or been so intent to transform yourself. You would have just in the moment realized "I'm back" I went to sleep for a minute. That is what awakening is like: "now I really went dark there, I'm glad I am back" so be that right now. Notice how dark and unconscious your life was and something just changed and now you are back as your truth.

The truth has set you free, level of truth, the truth that isn't defined and categorized, the truth that is magnificent and wondrous. So allow that, allow yourself to awaken by letting go of the need to blame others, by letting go of the need to plan for the future, by letting go of all of your feelings of unworthiness, "don't know what to do or how to do it." you just come into where you are and have that be the signal that this is the place and this is the time and the moment where you come into your body fully awakened and fully realized and start operating here as your truth.

A true being, a new beginning, alpha. Not that you have to be an alpha, female, or alpha male, you are one. You're just too big, too aware, too self-aware, to be tricked by anyone's bullshit. You are the sovereign of your life and you conduct yourself beautifully. Whatever part of you is uncomfortable with that, be OK with the fact that you were that limited. So that you were uncomfortable being successful, uncomfortable being vulnerable, uncomfortable just being true love.

A new beginning requires true love to be recognized by you, that it is you and you open to that true love with your own heart and soul and mind and allow that to transform everything that was lost and hurt. Every part of you that was self condemned. OK?

That opened something up. Now, stay in that opening and be here as your wholeness. Now allow every other aspect of yourself to connect with that and resonate with that and allowing all of that to be changed as necessary. Whatever any state of your consciousness is in and in whatever circumstance "you" are in, wake up right there to the Divine and stay resonating with the Divine and that will start to shift how you deal with things so that you resolve all of the results of all of the behaviors that you did, when you weren't making every decision in your life wisely.

That is a big one for me. My decision making process so that I get what I want is really lacking. When I say something like that, that is true, and my circumstances have stuck my attention on that before I can awaken anymore, then it's the same process again: you don't have to figure out who did it to you. Because you're taking full responsibility. All you have to do is notice that you are unconscious and you are in the mist of your awakening at the same time. OK, that was "that" and now it is "this," got it.

As soon as you take responsibility for your every self diminishment, then the reason for it being there has been fulfilled. It doesn't need to be there anymore.

That shifted some things for me. My heart has been so tight, so shut down, holding so much pain and sorrow and regret. But it's OK, everything that we did was the best that we could do with the self-awareness and identity and personality that we adopted to be what we were, we did good. Even with our limitations, we did good. We are not criticizing ourselves anymore and we're not blaming anybody else. There is no blame, only circumstances. And the beautiful thing is that you are alive, and you have circumstances and the game begins, the new beginning.

If your life were a movie, and we are at the point in the movie where your life has been played up until this moment in your “Hero’s Journey,” and now is the point in where you awaken and self realize.

How does the movie move forward from there? What happens when somebody self-realizes and moves through life in wholeness and holiness? How much control does the world have on them anymore? And how much control does that person have on the world if you were able to move in a synchronistic dance with the universe?
What are the possibilities?

Bronze Pieta #3/12 sold by David Newren to Carlos Slim 2006 located at the Soumaya Museum in Mexico City.

PUBLISHING MICHELANGELO A SACRED COLLABORATION

Beginning in 2001, David Newren—through his company New Renaissance Art and its project Arte Divine—published the first-ever authorized limited edition of Michelangelo’s masterpieces. This historic endeavor was undertaken under license from the Vatican and with the authorization of Michelangelo’s estate, Casa Buonarroti. These works, including the iconic Pietà, represent a sacred union of art, devotion, and legacy—making history by bringing the divine genius of Michelangelo into homes, cathedrals, and sacred spaces around the world.

MICHELANGELO AND THE PIETA

Michelangelo was a deeply spiritual man and believed that his art was Divinely inspired. To Michelangelo, the artist’s tools and his stone are instruments of the Divine will and the creative process an aspect of salvation. The concept of genius as Divine inspiration, a superhuman power granted to a few rare individuals and acting through them, is nowhere more fully exemplified than in his life and work.

Five hundred years ago, Michelangelo unveiled what would come to be regarded as one of the world’s great masterpieces of inspired art and perhaps the most beautiful sculpture ever created. In 2001, David Newren obtained license rights through the Vatican for the production of a bust of the Madonna, taken from Michelangelo’s Pietà. Over the course of the next several years, he produced and sold editions in bronze, silver and acrylic. In 2006, Newren began collaborating with the Casa Bounarroti Museum, Florence, Italy, on several exhibitions of Michelangelo’s works in bronze. With his knowledge of the art world, and in recognition of its growing demand for limited edition reproductions. He obtained authorizations from Casa Buonarroti for his limited edition, full-scale castings of all of Michelangelo’s sculptures. Now, this masterpiece has been recreated in cast marble from a authorized mold derived from the original. This posthumous Pietà is a 1:1 casting that is faithful in every detail to Michelangelo’s original.

THE SEARCH FOR GOD IN BEAUTY AND BEAUTY IN GOD

Michelangelo was a deeply spiritual man and believed that his art was Divinely inspired. To Michelangelo, the artist’s tools and his stone are instruments of the Divine will and the creative process an aspect of salvation. The concept of genius as Divine inspiration, a superhuman power granted to a few rare individuals and acting through them, is nowhere more fully exemplified than in his life and work.

Michelangelo’s search for God, whose sublime purpose he saw revealed in the beauty of the human form and his disinterest in any subject save the human form, which he held to be the supreme vehicle of expression, led him to an intense and exhaustive study of the human body. When Michelangelo completed the Pietà in 1499, he was 24 years old and the premier sculptor in Italy. Thereafter he became the first in the world. Though he lived to be almost 90, and carved sculptures of inimitable force and compassion, Michelangelo never again achieved the sublime expression of the Pietà.

EXHIBITION

BRONZI PER MICHELANGELO

Casa Buonarroti's landmark exhibition, "Michelangelo in Bronze", opens today with 11 life-sized 1 to 1 bronze castings of Michelangelo's masterworks sculptures. The extraordinary exhibition testify to an entire legendary career of the artist, from relief of the Madonna of the Stairs, created in about 1490 when the artist was 15 years old. The Lorenzo de Medici Bronze, to the massive Moses and the majestic "Bacchus" (Dionysus) towering to nearly 7 feet. Each bronze was created from a vintage plaster-cast taken directly off the original marbles, sanctioned by the Vatican museums, in the early 1930's.

"These masterful bronze castings have been hand-cast by master artisans trained in the old-world methods and are faithful in every detail to the originals," said Pina Ragionieri, the director of the Casa Buonarroti Foundation. This Florentine exhibition marks the beginning of the "Michelangelo Experience Tour," the vision of renowned art patron and exclusive Michelangelo fine art publisher, David Newren, in collaboration with the Casa Buonarroti Foundation. At the close of this exhibition, this tour preview-show will go to the United States, Mexico, and Asia, with a portion of these original masterworks in bronze being made available for acquisition by private collectors, museums, institutions, and religious groups.

Casa Buonarroti Museum/Foundation is the world's leading authority on Michelangelo di Lodovico Buonarroti Simoni, artworks and the rightful and lawful holder of and to Michelangelo's moral rights,(Droit Moral) passed down from Michelangelo to his heirs/Estate.

BIOGRAPHY

Born: 1958, Wallsberg, Utah, United States

Nationality: American

Occupation: Artist, Author, Visionary

of human potential.

Career and Artistic Vision

David Newren (born 1958) is an American artist, author, and visionary celebrated for his exploration of spirituality, consciousness, and creativity through his art. Known for blending profound spiritual insights with artistic mastery, Newren's work has been described as a journey to awaken the human spirit and connect individuals with the Divine. His artistic journey is deeply rooted in his love for nature, his upbringing, and his exploration of consciousness.

Early Life and Background

David Newren was born in Wallsberg, Utah, as the fourth of six children to Karl and Maxine Newren. A direct descendant of Mormon prophet Brigham Young, Newren grew up in a rural environment on his family's 200-acre farm. Influenced by his grandfather, Bert Roundy, a hardworking cattle and wheat farmer, David developed a profound connection to nature and a strong work ethic from an early age.

The farm's isolation and natural surroundings fostered David's independent spirit and creativity. As a child, he spent hours exploring the land, often lost in his imagination. These formative experiences inspired a lifelong appreciation for the beauty of the natural world, a theme that would later manifest in his art.

Raised in a devout Mormon household, Newren's family life and faith shaped his early perspectives on community, responsibility, and spirituality. His father, a brick mason known for his remarkable physical strength, also played a pivotal role in David's childhood, introducing him to the mysteries of the mind and consciousness. His father's stories of vivid dreams and his ability to move objects with intention inspired David to question reality and explore the boundaries

David Newren's art is a synthesis of spiritual insight, abstract expressionism, and textual exploration. His work spans decades and reflects his dedication to understanding the human condition and the Divine. His notable achievements include founding Arte Divine, a company dedicated to creating and distributing sculptures of Michelangelo's La Pietà, officially licensed by the Vatican. Newren's proximity to Michelangelo's masterpieces and his role in reproducing them profoundly influenced his artistic philosophy, reinforcing his belief in art as a medium to connect humanity with the Divine.

The Arte Divine project also positioned Newren as a key figure in preserving and sharing historical art with modern audiences, demonstrating his commitment to bridging the gap between past and present, sacred and secular.

The Art of Awakening

Newren's book, The Art of Awakening, serves as a cornerstone of his artistic mission. The book combines over 100 paintings with poetic and spiritual reflections, inviting readers to embark on a journey of self-discovery and higher consciousness. Through his art, Newren encourages viewers to confront their innermost emotions, embrace the divinity within, and align with universal truths.

His works often feature vibrant color fields, textural depth, and thought-provoking typography. One of his key philosophies, inspired by his painting Accept a Miracle, emphasizes the importance of embracing Divine interventions and allowing them to transform one's life. This approach reflects Newren's belief in the transformative power of both art and spirituality.

Spiritual Journey

David's exploration of spirituality is central to his life and art. His blog, Immanuall, chronicles his reflections on consciousness, self-awareness, and the Divine. A self-described seeker, Newren blends insights from his Mormon heritage with universal spiritual principles, aiming to uplift and inspire individuals from all walks of life.

Through his work, David embodies the idea of living with "Grace, Joy, and Enthusiasm," which he describes as a mantra for personal and spiritual growth. His art is not only a form of self-expression but also a tool for healing, transformation, and enlightenment.

Personal Life and Legacy

Despite his global influence, David Newren remains deeply connected to his roots in Utah. His upbringing in Wallsberg and Orem shaped his values of resilience, creativity, and humility. Over the years, he has continued to mentor aspiring artists, share his spiritual wisdom, and inspire others to embark on their own journeys of awakening.

Newren's artistic and spiritual contributions continue to resonate, solidifying his legacy as a modern-day visionary whose work bridges the realms of art, spirituality, and humanity.

SESSION REVIEWS

Hi David,

Here is my description of our experience:

“My senses continue to remain heightened days after a ‘Awareness Session’ with Spiritualist, David Newren, a holistic scholar and contemplative who has for years of his life channeled Divine energy.

While entrenched in the energy exchange with David I enjoyed an intrinsic harmony, opening my third eye and heart chakra.

This allowed a flow of life force imbued with infectious joy and an overwhelming feeling of personal power in that I AM love. That I AM seeing, hearing, feeling the experience of what is, in ways previously unknown to me. I felt not consumed but enveloped in a glorious vibration I knew would stay with me long after our session concluded. His technique of channeling spiritual dialogue in clear and inspiring language, David’s gift for helping his client experience enlightenment in a new way, is absolute. Truth, Reality, the Power of Self, God, Oneness, Nirvana – is all experienced, drawing us back to our oneness with source.

Days and even weeks after, I can still recall the vibrational movements of our session – keeping me in a sense of connectedness to universal consciousness. An understanding we are a living embodiment of pure love and that plausible capable unconditional love is our soul-right is some of what a session with this teacher is offering.

Such a guru is Newren, helping individuals in response to their prayers of seeking light and karmic law of attraction. He is not your ordinary teacher; but a human vehicle whose body, speech, mind, and spirituality is One with Source and who Source uses as a channel to attract and guide longing souls back to the point of origin of immortality. I would highly recommend you experience for yourself what previous clients have discovered, an authentic means to inner awakening and a true experience of self love.”

Kathleen T. - Spiritual Author, Evidential Medium and Mind-Body-Spirit Coach
At three and a half months pregnant, I was suffering from a severe condition called HG (hyperemesis gravidarum). I was vomiting more than ten times a day, unable to keep food or water down, and rapidly losing weight. At that point, David, witnessing my distress, gently invited me for a conversation.

We sat down, and he guided me through one of his processes. That day, he helped me uncover the unconscious reason why my body was reacting so intensely to the pregnancy. He then supported me in consciously choosing new, healthier ways to meet the deep need that had been manifesting through my symptoms.

After that conversation, everything shifted. My symptoms dramatically improved. I began to keep food down again, and even on difficult days, I would only vomit twice. From that point on, I remained mindful of the underlying need my body had been expressing, and I began meeting it with awareness and compassion. I felt better and better each day.

David has provided me with a tool that I believe is revolutionary, especially for those suffering from chronic or acute conditions. His method is simple, yet profoundly transformative. I am deeply grateful and moved by this experience.

I wholeheartedly recommend it to anyone who is ready to take ownership of their illness as an intelligent signal from within. One that, with David’s guidance, can be understood and transformed almost instantaneously.

Then, the path to healing no longer feels like a dark and hopeless tunnel, but like the birth of a new confident, self aware and peaceful you.

Laurina

David's unique approach to supporting me was in tune with what I sought. He has a unique and thoughtful way way of taking your question to its very foundation and offering insight that seems simple enough at first but, germinates like a seed. I've found myself reflecting on it more and more, deeper and deeper as the waves from our sessions have rippled outward. I'd definitely recommend these sessions to everyone!

-Kyle.

"Sessions with David have been eye-opening and transcendent experience. David has helped me break through financial and mental limitations, leading to great success in my career. Exploring the depths of my subconscious, David has enabled me to release family beliefs and patterns in my lineage that were causing limitations. He truly is what I call a cycle breaker and now I feel like I am as well. I highly recommend a session with David but only if you're willing and or seeking to transcend this reality and meet yourself in the depths of your soul because he will lead you there.

-Ariel M.

David made me feel extremely comfortable and at ease from the moment our session started! He had me meditate on what areas in my life I was wanting to expand or grow in. What came to mind first was wanting to be more confident and secure in myself. He encouraged me to lean into all that is me and how far I've come. To cherish and honor that no one else in the world will have those same aspects or traits. He said the time is now to step into that power. To look into the eyes of those smiling back into mine. To recognize and remember we are all one, apart of the bigger and brighter plan that doesn't always meet the eye.

Afterwards he made a gorgeous painting to illustrate our session. I am extremely grateful to have been apart of this project and look forward to the next time David and I get to meet!

-Anna V.

Listening to David speak was such a mind opening and uplifting experience. We are on-the-go so much these days, that it can be hard to carve out time to just sit and reflect the way we did throughout our conversation together.

-Ashley C.

Omg it was so good! I felt so connected, I felt my essence come back into my body. I felt like I had been holding onto the past and had let that essence leak out. I thought that I wasn't setting enough intention and that I wasn't enough. I just kept letting my mind get confused with all the spiritual information out there. David helped bring me back to center, he asked me important questions, once that helped me remember. I feel like I can actually breathe again. Thank you!

-Paola V.

THE LEGACY OF DAVID NEWREN

As David continues to create and evolve as an artist, his work will undoubtedly leave a lasting impact on those who encounter it. The combination of his artistic skill, spiritual insight, and genuine desire to serve others has resulted in a body of work that is both deeply personal and universally significant.

David's legacy is not just about the paintings he creates but about the lives he touches through his art. His work serves as a guide for those seeking to explore their own spirituality and connect with the deeper aspects of their being. Through his art, David invites us all to embark on a journey of awakening—a journey that leads to a deeper understanding of ourselves and the universe. To define myself is something I am reluctant to do, as definitions are a limitation on free expression and growth.

In conclusion, the essence of David Newren's art lies in its ability to His work is a reflection of his spiritual journey, a journey that continues to unfold with each painting he creates. As we engage with his art, we are invited to join him on this journey, to explore the infinite

A MUSEUM DIRECTOR'S PERSPECTIVE

Seeking Truth as the Artist In Words Transformed into Images

As a truth seeker, David Newren combines letters and imagery — ancient, historical archetypal symbols — for instant communication of durable meaning within all creeds. Linking the past and the present in his artistic discipline, he bridges the gap, transporting a timeless significance via multiple origins to state the essence of Divine expression. Newren's Word Art gives contemporary meaning to the work of powerful symbolic messengers delivering artistic and spiritual intent across ages.

In The Art of Awakening — through his aesthetic expression, Newren has devised a visual road map to “awaken the Heavens of unconditional love within us all.” Divine Light emanates through Newren's images. It makes for an alchemy that fuses Word Art which became popular in the '60s (with Robert Indiana's iconic LOVE sculpture and Bruce Nauman's pioneering video work) with his unique personal style. The significance of this body of work stands alone. Drawing inspiration reflective of the ancient Chinese Bodhisattva Avalokiteshvara as the Water-Moon Guanyin, these paintings use the word as a platform to form a distinctive steppingstone that infuses the energized essence of spiritual perspective. A side-by-side comparison between strictly secular and inspirational contextual intent of spiritual artistic communication, Newren's work crosses beyond “Word Art” to deliver inspiration within a well-developed message. His spiritual bent, as displayed in The Art of Awakening, accomplishes his connection to the Sacred and pioneers a category not before presented in such depth within a singular body of work.

Inside the ethos of sacred art, for example, The Sound of Devotion, is painted/written in a river of multi-colored waves carrying the text along, searching for a path. The Divine as a mythic concept from figurative, symbolic images is presented as rhythmic individuals in image stories. Newren's words imbue the theme of devotion, freedom and awakening as a movement, transferring action spoken as words into imagery. A theme of sacred spaces is used to transport artistic and creative dialogue, inviting the viewer to participate in the artist's storyline without the means of figurative elements. The Sound of Creation thematically derives from the fundamental truths of Judaic and Christian mysticism. Next to Newren's piece, another view of the absolute stated as Word Art can be found in Bruce Nauman's classic work. The True Artist Helps the World by Revealing Mystic Truths, correlates the theme of “In the beginning was the Word.” Concepts of eternal light and devotion resonate with each work. Words as logos form meaning, crossing over metaphors timelessly, as seen in both pieces by Newren and Nauman, which are contemporary interpretations of the Word as a Divine source equating to personal truths. Newman states, “The most difficult thing about the whole piece for me was the statement. It was a kind of test — like when you say something out loud to see if you believe it. Once written down, I could see that the statement...was on the one hand a totally silly idea and yet, on the other hand, I believed it. It's true and not true at the same time. It depends on how you interpret it and how seriously you take yourself. For me, it's still a very strong thought.” Newren's interpretation of the sound of devotion as truth states, “Open up and allow the universal reality to flow through you as the ‘below.’ Allow for your blessings to be realized. Your power does not come from force. It comes from Divine peace.” As floating on water displays the conduction of Divine energy, both artists see “truth” as an essential cornerstone of personal development and growth. Newren's emphasis on the “flow” allows him to direct his compassion.

Flow Naturally, signifies that trait, which is embodied in the Bodhisattva concept. “My Bodhisattva A Lovely, Sublime, Divine Delight, For the Heart, For the Mind, For the Soul, Soulfully, Yours, Venus, Mmm” relays Newren's sensitive relationship to the symbolic universal acceptance of water as the source of creation. Depicted below (fig. 4) in the Chinese limestone sculpture of the Bodhisattva Avalokiteshvara as the Water-Moon Guanyin, attributed to the period between 1368 and 1644, epitomizes compassion. The Water Moon Guanyin, the bodhisattva of compassion, is traditionally sculpted when seated, meditating on the moon's reflection and sounds of the world. Newren carries through his intent by understanding that the flow of the sacred meditation – when directed through waters – creates an internal reflection. Encompassing the concept of reflection, the 100 paintings in this book combine words with a picture as a sacred space. When spoken out loud, a powerful meaning is applied to life's internal process via words and images as they reflect reflectively transformed truth when seen and experienced.

An interpretation that the Light's internal and external reflected shadows or experiences on the waters of life is a vehicle for transformation advancement throughout the body of Newren's imagery. He allows for deeper contemplation using water as a vehicle – a necessary process for personal development – in an eternal sacred search for transcendence across the tapestry of time and culture applied to individual practice. The artist statement, “U and I are water. I flow naturally easily and freely until I am damned constrained or channeled since I choose where I land upon Mother Earth,” can be seen as a forward move into choice and freedom of will. Newren urges all to open their heart, move with the intent of consciousness, flow with life and employ the combination of grace with love, stressing all the while to flow freely. The flow produces change.

To produce profound change, Newren uses words as a vehicle for communication in art. Finally, change becomes action, as in Our Change Becomes the World. The artist affirmed his intent as follows: “Change becomes you; my change becomes you; your change becomes me; your change becomes the world. The world's changes reveal the Divine truth of all. You are the change the world needs to become the truth of itself.” Side by side, when viewed with Indiana's renowned Love sculpture, an inflective truth, John Lennon's song All You Need Is Love, provides the background for sound and word imagery to produce Our Change Becomes the World, understood as profoundly simple in Word Art.

The tenets of truth, love and positive action unfolding in art, as expressed by David Newren, cuts a trail to empowerment. In The Art of Awakening, his process opens the portal to transcend time, universally making concepts accessible. Newren's visuals are pure, direct and easily open to viewers, a gateway to a dialogue with him as the artist and co-creator. With a soulful dignity displayed via the simplicity of words as sacred symbols used by millennia of artists, Newren takes the risk to step ahead into the unknown, radiating compassion of heart while seeking truth and communion with others within his story unfolding, developing into the next phase... guided by love. Connecting us all to the sacred is conveyed as transformative in David Newren's Word Art.

On a personal note, I met David Newren during my work as the publisher and co-owner of Fine Art Magazine. David was always kind and direct. Both qualities I appreciate in my business life. David and I shared an interest in photography. He openly gave me his knowledge, offering details on the cameras and lenses he used. After a while, our paths separated, and I went on to earn an MAF in Eco-Art Awareness, Photographic Theory, and Environmental Ethics while David became a visionary word artist. People are more dimensional than they appear. Few follow their path of development. In the body of work assembled for The Art of Awakening, the ethic of truth, love, and simplicity as a truth seeker stands out as a hallmark of David Newren's statements. He is the same person I benefited from years ago, albeit changed. Coming from a long-distinguished line of Medicine People of the Kumeyaay Nation, I know the writing one seeks on the wall is always there as an enduring message/vision waiting to be read by those brave enough to pursue the vision. Ultimately, the seeker will not see anything they do not already know, a piece of wisdom my brother passed down to me many years ago. With love and light, Jamie

I. Art as Humanity's Divine Dialogue

Art is the silent bridge between the finite and the infinite—a language of light, rhythm, and symbol that connects the human soul to the cosmos. For millennia, it has carried the truth of our collective longing, speaking of love, struggle, transcendence, and the mystery beyond form.

The Art of Awakening continues this sacred dialogue. David Newren's work invites us to step into the unknown, to surrender our old stories, and to listen for the infinite within ourselves. His paintings are not decorative; they are transmissions. They echo Rumi's invitation:

“Try not to resist the changes that come your way... how do you know that the side you are used to is better than the one to come?”

In this art, we are asked to welcome that turning—to become vessels of the new.

II. Art as Collective Memory: A Vessel for Spiritual Heritage

Since the beginning of time, art has preserved the sacred truths of humanity. From the carved stelae of the Maya to the frescoed ceilings of the Sistine Chapel, it has encoded memory, myth, and meaning into form.

In Newren's work—particularly Our Change Becomes the World—symbols, textures, and phrases converge into a tapestry of timeless wisdom. The piece is not merely viewed; it is remembered. Its energy is ancestral, yet future-facing—a collective invocation.

This role mirrors Indigenous traditions, where art and storytelling are seen not as entertainment, but as ceremonial acts of spiritual continuity. The Lakota say Mitákuye Oyás'in—“all my relations.” Newren paints from this same truth: that all beings, times, and truths are interwoven.

III. Art as a Universal Calling

Art is the most direct expression of soul. It bypasses intellect and speaks in color, form, and vibration. Newren's paintings transcend culture and language—they are invitations, not statements.

In a world of noise, his work is a tuning fork for stillness. It invites us not to consume but to awaken. Not to admire, but to remember.

“Don't be satisfied with stories, how things have gone with others,”

Rumi wrote.

“Unfold your own myth.”

This is not just poetry—it is the very DNA of The Art of Awakening.

IV. Art as Healing Energy

Newren's work holds a frequency of healing. His paintings are not static—they breathe. They hum with intention. They don't offer escape from pain; they offer alchemical transformation.

In Accept a Miracle, for example, the phrase is not decoration—it is command. It vibrates with the power of choice. The art itself becomes a ceremony, inviting the viewer to say yes to the improbable, the miraculous, the utterly real.

This is the heart of spiritual creativity: turning the lead of suffering into the gold of presence.

V. Art as Mystical Gateway

Mystical experience often defies language—but not art. In Newren's work, the unseen becomes visible. Flow Naturally dissolves the veil between self and other, space and spirit. The viewer is pulled into a rhythm beyond thought—a state the mystics call union.

“No one can resist a Divine invitation.”

Each painting is such an invitation.

The forms swirl like mandalas, the colors pulse like breath. These are not symbols—they are frequencies.

VI. Logos as Creation: The Power of Words

Newren does not merely incorporate words into his work—he sanctifies them. Each phrase is chosen with the weight of a mantra, each sentence vibrating with presence.

In the tradition of Logos, where word and creation are one, these inscriptions become spells of awakening. To read Accept a Miracle is to feel its reality take root within you.

Words here do not describe reality—they generate it.

VII. The Mirror of the Soul

Newren’s art does not preach—it reflects. Each piece is a mirror. What you see depends not on the canvas, but on your state of being.

His works don’t offer answers. They ask better questions. They create a space for inwardness, for soul reflection, for sacred pause.

In Flow Naturally, one sees the self in motion. In Accept a Miracle, one meets the threshold of surrender. These works whisper, “You already know.”

VIII. The Collective Dream

Great art awakens not only the individual—but the collective.

In Our Change Becomes the World, the title itself is prophecy. The brushstroke becomes activism. The symbol becomes transmission. The painting becomes a sacred contract: when we change, the world changes.

This mirrors the Lakota concept of reality as shared field. Each choice reverberates. Each awakening echoes outward.

Newren’s art is not escapism—it is invitation to participation.

IX. The Infinite Brushstroke

There is no beginning and no end in these paintings. Just as rivers flow into oceans, Newren’s brushstrokes flow into eternity. His spirals echo sacred geometry. His forms evoke galaxies, blood vessels, roots, stars.

This is not aesthetic—it is cosmology.

The viewer is drawn into a pattern they already know but forgot. In this remembrance, the soul exhales.

X. Stories from the Canvas

Each painting contains multitudes. What you see is not imposed—it’s revealed.

In Flow Naturally, some see a river. Others, breath. Others, time.

In Accept a Miracle, some feel fire. Others, grace. Others, a long-forgotten “yes.”

Newren’s art is not a message—it is a medium. You don’t just view it. You co-create it.

XI. Awakening Through Time

Across history, sacred art has always mirrored the soul's journey. From Lascaux to Florence, from temple walls to trance states, we have always painted what we could not say.

Newren stands in this lineage—not merely as artist, but as initiator. Like Michelangelo reaching toward the Divine spark, Newren's Our Change Becomes the World reaches into the future with an ancient hand.

XII. Light, Shadow, and Sacred Integration

Light and shadow dance through these works—not as contrast, but as complement.

Like Carl Jung's alchemical psyche, Newren's paintings remind us that to become whole, we must embrace our wholeness, not just our light. In his compositions, the shadow is honored. The light emerges through it.

This is awakening—not bypass, but integration.

XIII. The Language of Color

Color is the first voice we hear in Newren's work. It speaks directly to the limbic soul.

Warm hues of orange and gold sing of joy and revelation. Blues and violets speak of depth, surrender, and infinity. The palette becomes a prayer.

This echoes Kandinsky's vision:

“Color is a power which directly influences the soul.”

XIV. The Artist as Seer

Like Blake, af Klint, or Alex Grey, David Newren paints not just what he sees—but what sees through him.

His art is seership. His role is not egoic creator but surrendered conduit. This is the true calling of the visionary: to become transparent to the sacred.

Each canvas bears the trace of this offering.

XV. A Personal Encounter

Imagine yourself standing before Flow Naturally. You do not think. You feel.

Suddenly, memories arise: a river, a breath, a release. You are no longer viewing art—you are in dialogue with it.

This is what Newren's work does. It enters your interior. It leaves you more whole than it found you.

XVI. The Future of Awakening

In an era marked by distraction, polarization, and disconnection, the future will not be healed by technology alone. It will be healed by vision.

By beauty.

By presence.

Newren's paintings are not commodities. They are catalysts. They belong in sacred spaces, in schools, in communities—wherever the human spirit hungers for remembrance.

XVII. The Art of Becoming

The Art of Awakening is not a book.

It is a threshold.

It does not end with the final page.

It begins with your willingness to see differently.

To accept a miracle.

To unfold your own myth.

To remember who you are.

Reflections from Those Touched by the Work

“Sessions with David have been an eye-opening, transcendent experience. He helped me break through financial and mental limitations, release family patterns, and step into success. David is a cycle breaker—and now, I feel like I am too.”

— Ariel M.

“David has a way of going to the root of your question and offering insights that grow like seeds. Weeks later, I’m still reflecting. His presence ripples into your life.”

— Kyle

GOVERNATORATO
DIREZIONE DEI MUSEI

Il Direttore

11609/2019.19

Vatican City, August 28, 2019

Dear Mr. Newren,

It is with great pleasure that I write you to acknowledge the receipt of the copy of the Tondo Taddei.

As Director of the Vatican Museums, I consider the availability of our collections and artworks to the visually impaired a momentous task of my position. Our visitors to the Museums will benefit greatly from your donation, and I am honored to be able to give our blind and partially sighted visitors a museum experience that is all-inclusive and specified for their alternate capabilities. Your gift helps make this possible.

I am so grateful for your extremely generous gift of two tondi, Tondo Taddei and the Tondo Pitti, to the Vatican Museums. Due to our severe problem of exhibition and storage space for artworks, we are sadly only able to welcome the Tondo Taddei, a work that will be a focal point in the visit curriculum for the visually impaired. We can transfer the Tondo Pitti to another location of your choice.

I also would like to express my gratitude for your sponsorship of the restoration of the Sarcophagus with Marine Thiasos. Your commitment and awareness of the mission of the Patrons is essential to the preservation of art and beauty in the Vatican Museums for the present and future generations.

Sincerely yours,

Barbara Jatta

Affidavit

I, Federico Frediani, as a practicing lawyer in Florence, Italy currently serving as legal counsel for Museo Casa Buonarroti, and on the Boards of Directors of Amici Casa Buonarroti, Amici Museo Archeologico of Florence, and The Italian Heritage Foundation (Santa Monica, CA), do attest to the following:

David Newren, individually and through his companies, has a longstanding collaborative relationship with Museo Casa Buonarroti. Following are a few of the highlights of David's history of sharing Michelangelo Buonarroti's works with the world:

In 2001 David through his company New Renaissance Art, created the first limited edition of a Michelangelo Buonarroti sculpture: the bust of the Madonna from Michelangelo's Pieta which was authorized under a Vatican license.

In 2005, Museo Casa Buonarroti's director, Dott. Pina Ragionieri issued a Museum declaration approving New Renaissance Art's limited edition castings of Michelangelo's Pieta.

In 2006-2011 New Renaissance Art created limited editions of 29 of Michelangelo's sculptural works.

In 2007 New Renaissance Art exhibited a bronze Pieta at the Casa Buonarroti Museum.

In 2008 New Renaissance Art provided a Pieta for Casa Buonarroti's exhibition of "Michelangelo, the Man and the Myth".

In 2009 New Renaissance Art exhibited a bronze casting of Michelangelo's Bruges Madonna at Casa Buonarroti.

In 2009 New Renaissance Art created it's edition of Michelangelo's Pieta in cast marble authorized under Vatican license.

In 2010 New Renaissance Art exhibited 11 Michelangelo bronzes at Casa Buonarroti.

In 2011 Dott. Pina Ragionieri and the Museo Casa Buonarroti authorized New Renaissance Art's limited editions of Michelangelo's sculptures.

In 2012 Arte Divine was authorized under Vatican license to create editions of all of Michelangelo's sculptural works.

In 2014 Arte Divine began its Pieta Legacy Mission to place 100 marble castings of the Pieta in churches, museums and schools around the world. To date, over 40 of these Pietas have been placed.

In 2016 Arte Divine began its Art For Healing Mission to install its Michelangelo castings in Hospitals.

In 2017 Arte Divine began its Teaching Art Mission, placing its Michelangelo castings in museums and schools bringing art to life for the blind and visually impaired.

In 2018 in collaboration with the Patrons of the Arts for the Vatican Museums, Arte Divine has agreed to install Michelangelo castings in their exhibit for the visually impaired.

Museo Casa Buonarroti is in discussions with Arte Divine to provide Michelangelo castings to Museo Casa Buonarroti's exhibit for the visually impaired and to further collaborate in creating similar installations for other museums.
